2 BLOWS STRUCK IN DAY AGAINST CHICAGO GOONS

Green Refuses to Pardon Sluggers.

Gov. Dwight Green.

In Springfield, Gov. Green refused to interfere with sentences of 1 to 14 years imposed on two business agents for a butchers' union convicted of assault with intent to maim a former member of their organization. The business agents gave up yesterday and were locked in Joliet penitentiary.

They had been fugitives while their plea for pardons was considered.

Quizzed in Hvid Murder.

In Chicago, State's Attorney Courtney ordered the arrest and prosecution of another business agent on charges of beating a member of a taxicab drivers' union because he was slow in paying dues. The prisoner, who has a police record, also was questioned in connection with the beating to death of Marinus Hvid, a garage owner, 18 months ago.

In refusing to pardon Joseph Kopke and Harry Hlavacek, the convicted sluggers, Gov. Green said he acted upon the unanimous recommendation of the state board of pardons and paroles, before whom the goons' lawyer had presented the pardon plea. After reviewing the evidence in the case and the sentence, upheld by the state Supreme court, Gov. Green said:

"I can find nothing in the record to justify any interference with the penalty imposed by the court."

Caught in the Act.

Kopke and Hlavacek belong to local 638 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America [AFL]. Their case was unusual in several respects. Only in a few instances have labor goons been caught in the act, convicted, and have seen their sentences upheld.

Their demand for a pardon while fugitives from justice [they laid themselves open to bond forfeiture by evading authorities since May 5, when the Supreme court decision was announced] has almost no precedent.

The goons' victim was Czeslaw Mikolajczk, 51 years old, 3035 Cullerton street, the father of six children. Testimony in the trial showed that on Jan. 6, 1940, the two sluggers attacked Mikolajczk in a meat market at 3710 26th street, where he was working as a porter. His injuries required hospital treatment.

Pleaded Self Defense.

He told the jury that he had fallen behind in dues payments because he was not working as a butcher and got only small wages for his porter job. The goons pleaded self defense.

After the Supreme court acted, Chief Justice James F. Fardy of the Criminal court ordered the $10,000 bonds of the defendants forfeited when they failed to surrender.

Yesterday this forfeiture was set aside on the recommendation of Melvin Rembie, assistant in the state's attorney's bond department, who said he had promised the bondsman to help to this end if the convicted men showed up in 10 days.

Tells of Slugging.

The goon suspect seized by state's attorney's police in Chicago is William Bibby, 39 years old, agent of the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers, and Garage Helpers union.

The victim of the alleged slugging by Bibby is Furlin Thomas, 4919 Ravenswood avenue. He weighs 140 pounds. Bibby, 6 feet tall, weighs 225. Thomas said he was at work in a garage at 1240 Morse avenue on Wednesday when Bibby entered and demanded his dues of $2 a month.

"I told him I didn't know why I should pay if the union didn't tell me what it was doing," Thomas said. "Bibby called me a smart guy and beat me on the head."

In June, 1935, Bibby was found guilty in Oak Park of slugging Gus Poulos, a florist who refused to join a floral drivers' union. At the time Hvid was slain Bibby was in charge of the pickets at the Hvid garage.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

STATE REVENUE PROGRAM HARD HIT BY FINDING

Expected Act Would Raise 10 Million.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 16.—Attorney General George F. Barrett ruled today that the one mill cigaret tax passed by the Illinois general assembly on May 8 is unconstitutional and void.

Attorney General George F. Barrett.

That was the finding he reported in a 17 page opinion delivered to Gov. Dwight H. Green. The governor said he would not discuss the document until he has had an opportunity to read it carefully. The big question before him is whether the opinion leaves the way open for the introduction and passage of a substitute bill free from constitutional flaws.

There are only six weeks left of the present regular session but that is ample time for substitute legislation if the lawyers can overcome the objections pointed out by Barrett.

Blow to Revenue Program.

Complete loss of the income estimated as forthcoming from the cigaret levy would be a heavy blow to the administration's entire revenue program. Official calculations were that this tax would produce 10 million dollars a year or 20 million of the total of $45,600,000 in replacement taxes required for the next biennium because of the reduction of the sales tax to 2 per cent on July 1.

Unless a new and constitutional cigaret bill is enacted it is conceded that the administration, now facing a loss of 65 million dollars in sales tax receipts during the biennium, would be forced to ask the legislature to continue the present 3 per cent rate or create some other new tax such as the one recently proposed on all soft drinks.

The opinion of the attorney general is not binding upon the governor, but as the attorney general is the sole representative of the state when one of its statutes is attacked in court, it always has been recognized that an adverse opinion such as this one would be fatal to the state's case. It would be made a part of the court attack.

Numerous Faults Listed.

Attorney General Barrett's criticism of the cigaret bill was so sweeping, it listed so many legal faults, that inquiry was made to determine how the measure was prepared. The Legislative Reference bureau is the official bill drafting agency of the state, but in this instance the drafting was done in the department of finance and the bureau did not pass upon it. Attorney Werner W. Schroeder, one of Green's advisers on matters of constitutionality, was asked about some sections of the bill, but not about all of them or about the bill as a whole.

Barrett found that the title of the cigaret tax bill was bad because it did not state clearly that the purpose was to impose a tax on persons en-

CAPT. JIM TELLS SERB KING HE CAN GET ALL U. S. PLANES HE WANTS

LONDON, May 17 [Saturday] (AP).—Capt. James Roosevelt of the Marine corps has been received by emigré King Peter II. of Jugo-Slavia, Reuters, British news agency, said today.

The dispatch said that during the conversation between the king [reported to be in Jerusalem] and the President's son, Peter asked if the United States could supply planes to rebuild his country's air force, and Capt. Roosevelt was understood to have replied "as many as your majesty desires."

Last Thursday Capt. Roosevelt was received by King Farouk of Egypt to whom he gave a personal message from the President.

Shut 2 Resorts; Convict 4 Night Club Gamblers

Two attacks were made late yesterday and last night on night club gambling.

The first one came when Mayor Kelly put a padlock on the Colony club, a night life spot at 744 Rush street, and its neighbor, the Club Alabam, across the street. He acted on evidence of recent police raids which showed the clubs conducted gambling games.

In his closing order Mayor Kelly instructed the city collector not to reissue tavern and restaurant licenses of the two clubs. The old licenses had expired. The mayor also explained his action to State Senator Harold G. Ward, chairman of the Chicago liquor commission.

Resort Operators Convicted.

A few hours after Mayor Kelly's action a jury in the court of Municipal Judge Michael Tremko found four employés of the Colony club guilty of operating a gambling resort. Three of the defendants also were convicted of possessing gambling paraphernalia. Thus came to an end a long and hotly contested court fight.

A third development in the drive against gambling and racketeering was the filing in the federal District court of a lien against all the properties of Murray Humphreys, notorious Capone gangster. The claim came from the office of Carter Harrison, collector of internal revenue, and alleged that Humphreys owes $72,481 in back income tax, interest, and penalties, all for the years 1930, 1931, and 1932.

Goldstone Still to Be Tried.

The convicted employés of the Colony club, which was allegedly financed at one time by Nick [Dean] Circella, an ex-convict and representative of the Theatrical Stage Hands' union, are: Michael Pontano, George O'Brien, Alfred Morrison, and George Romano. All except Pontano also were found guilty of possessing gambling devices.

Each conviction, under the law, must be punished by a fine of at least $100. No maximum is specified. Still to be tried is Henry [Sonny] Goldstone, manager of the Colony club. The same charges have been placed against him along with a third—permitting gambling in a tavern.

Recently four Club Alabam employés, including the manager, Leo Harkey, were found guilty on the three gambling charges and were fined a total of $901 by Judge George B. Weiss.

The evidence in both the cases was gathered in police raids March 5.

Humphreys' Stake Probed.

Assistant State's Attorney William B. Crawford is investigating the Humphreys stake in the linen supply business. Yesterday he questioned Sam Wolfe, an officer of the Individual Towel and Cabinet Service company.

Wolfe insisted that Humphreys had no hand in the management. Several years ago, he said, the Certified Linen Supply and the National Towel company were merged with Individual. Morris Gordon, who is a stockholder in the Klever-Shampay Cleaners, closed by the city because it allegedly is dominated by Humphreys, was represented to him as sole owner of Certified, Wolfe maintained.

'YOU BEAT US TO IT,' WINANT TELLS YANKEE IN WAR FOR 2 YEARS

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, May 16 (AP).—United States Ambassador John G. Winant reviewed a royal Canadian regiment today and stopped to chat with each of its 16 United States natives.

Of Adam Kowalski, Detroit, he inquired:

"When did you enlist?"

Kowalski answered that he had enlisted two years ago and said Winant replied:

"You beat us to it."

Fred Cooper, Little Rock, Ark., told reporters that Winant asked him if he would be interested in joining an infantry unit composed of American volunteers similar to the Eagle squadron in the royal air force.

"I told him we would all like this very much," Cooper said.

After reviewing the troops, however, when queried about this reported conversation, Winant said he would "prefer not to be asked that question."

Winant answered, "No," when some one asked if he were surprised to find 16 United States men with one Canadian regiment.

"As Americans," Winant told Lieut. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, the Canadian corps commander, "We are proud of this great American unit. It is good to come here and find Americans standing by as guardians of democracy."

No-War Group Sends F. D. R. a Bit of Verse

Los Angeles, Cal., May 16 [Special].—Warmly cheering the views expressed by Attorney Richard W. Loveland at a meeting of the America First committee in which the attorney discussed the administration and "What Is Happening to America," several hundred members tonight unanimously adopted poetical resolutions which were ordered sent to President Roosevelt and members of congress.

The poetical resolutions follow:

"Whereas,
To convoy or not the question arises,
Confronting the public in numerous guises,
Each morn we awaken to further surprises
From Pepper and Stimson and Willkie and Knox;

"And, whereas,
Who will lie in his bed so snug and so dry?
While the bed of the ocean holds some other guy?
Who will call for more men to be sunk bye and bye?
Just Pepper and Stimson and Willkie and Knox.

"And, whereas,
To pull off your sox and dive into the hay
That's Pepper and Stimson and Willkie and Knox!

"Therefore, be it resolved, that:
We favor one convoy—we certainly do!
And when it sails forth from port or bayou,
We fervently pray that it's manned by the crew
Of Pepper and Stimson and Willkie and Knox!"

At an earlier meeting, Mrs. Louise Ward Watkins told an enthusiastic group of mothers that "as a result of the enormous number of protests flooding Washington, there now appears to be a 50-50 chance to prevent convoying by the American navy." Mrs. Watkins returned this week from a three months' lecture trip in the east which included both Washington and New York.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, May 16.—A situation of vague and contradictory jurisdiction prevails from the northern boundary of "former Jugo-Slavia," as the Germans, Italians, Hungarians and Bulgarians now call it, down to a point below Salonika, Greece. Jugo-Slavia is considered a territory to be carved up and already hands have been laid on parts of Greece.

To find out exactly what is happening, I have taken a nine day automobile trip over the steep mountain passes of the Balkans. The trip began at Budapest, Hungary.

Grab What They Can.

I discovered that the various victors are grabbing what they can. They hope to make their claims stick on the old principle of possession being nine points of the law.

The situation in Greece is clear. It is a conquered country under German military law. It has its own government, but this cabinet of generals has assigned itself as the main tasks the restoration of some kind of tranquility and getting the demobilized Greek soldiers to their homes and back to work.

But the Greek government has no foreign office nor other organization of a sovereign state. Hence it leads only a provisional life pending the final settlement. As a consequence, the American and other legations expect they soon will have to close up shop. The government to which they were accredited has gone to Crete.

Italians Clamor for More.

In American and Greek circles a story persists that the Italians asked for a far greater share in the domination of Greece than has been accorded them, and that they demanded the administration of Athens, which was refused. In any case, there is no doubt about the different sentiments with which the Greeks regard the Germans and Italians.

They say they outfought the Italians all winter long—fighting on a shoestring with few arms, and often without food and proper clothes in the snow. They add that the only territory the Italians ever captured was what the Greeks had evacuated. They simply consider the Germans as a cyclone which hit them, and, therefore, to be regarded with no more personal animosity than a cyclone.

The Germans have made obvious efforts to spare the feelings of the Greeks and there are signs that the Germans' efforts are making an impression. Small gestures such as leaving the blue and white banner of Greece flying atop the Acropolis and keeping the traditional sentries in their evzone costumes of skirts and tight trousers on guard over the monument to the Unknown Soldier have touched the Greeks, who are sensitive to their historic glories. The ordinary citizen is more pleased that the Germans have taken no prisoners and that they are telling the Greeks to go home after disarming them.

A Pathetic Sight.

Hence, there are long lines of weary and footsore Greeks limping over formidable mountain passes, headed toward all points of the country. They are pathetic, but I noticed that

PRIORITY RULE, RFC EXPANSION WIN IN SENATE

1½ Billions Granted Spending Agency.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—Totalitarianism for the United States made a long advance today when the senate passed one bill giving President Roosevelt mandatory control of all the materials used by American industry and another measure expanding the Reconstruction Finance corporation to the status of a super-government.

The senate passed the bill establishing mandatory priority control of industrial materials unanimously, without a record vote, and sent it back to the house for a conference between the two bodies.

Under either version mandatory priority can be invoked to control the delivery of raw materials and finished products not only under army and navy contracts and munitions orders for Great Britain but also in civilian enterprises having no connection with the production of armaments.

Broad Grant of Power.

The priorities bill provides that, "whenever the President is satisfied that the fulfilment of requirements for the defense of the United States will result in a shortage in the supply of any material for defense or for private account or for export, the President may allocate such material in such manner and to such extent as he shall deem necessary or appropriate in the public interest and to promote national defense."

Such authority conceivably could be used to put any private enterprise out of business by shutting off supplies of materials.

The bill also authorizes the President "to obtain such information from, require such reports by, and make such inspection of the premises of, any person, firm, or corporation as may be necessary or appropriate, in his discretion, to the enforcement or administration" of the act. The only qualification on the snooping powers is that a warrant must be obtained to search a private home.

Called Super-Government.

The RFC bill, which now goes to the house of representatives, also was passed by the senate without a record vote. It increases the lending capacity of the RFC by 1½ billion dollars to about 13 billion dollars and authorizes it to take virtually any action which the President and Federal Loan Administrator Jesse H. Jones may deem "necessary to expedite the national defense program."

The RFC described as a super-government in senate debate by Senator John A. Danaher [R., Conn.] thus will have authority to engage in any conceivable activity thru subsidiary corporations which it may create up to an amount not to exceed the expenditure of 300 million dollars at any one time. The only other limitation provides that the RFC cannot authorize projects which congress has rejected.

The RFC already operates outside the budget and beyond the appropriating control of congress by selling its own obligations to the public, and these obligations, wholly guaranteed by the government, are not included in the treasury's statement of the public debt.

The Memory Lingers On

President Roosevelt, on October 30, 1940, speaking to fathers and mothers on the selective service act:

"And while I am talking to you mothers and fathers, I give you one more assurance.

"I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.

"They are going into training to form a force so strong that, by its very existence, it will keep the threat of war far away from our shores.

EXPENSE OF COOK COUNTY 5 MILLION MORE THAN IN '33

Lund Finds Increase Is Largely for Pay Roll.

Springfield, Ill., May 16 [Special].—An analysis of expenditures and appropriations in the local government of Cook county, showing an increase of $5,015,858 in operating costs for 1941 as compared to 1933, was made public here today by Arnold L. Lund, former Republican state representative from Riverside. Lund made his analysis after a three month independent survey and said he has submitted a copy to Gov. Dwight H. Green.

The county board now has a bill pending in the legislature to peg its annual tax levy at $10,000,000, with an additional $1,000,000 for added expense in election years. The county's tax revenue is now about $8,000,000 a year, the remainder of its expenditures being financed thru fee offices and other receipts from services.

Opponents of the pegged levy contend it would increase the county tax rate 15 cents per each $100 of assessed valuation, imposing an added burden on taxpayers. The county contends the increase would be only 1½ cents as it would decrease its rates on the bond and interest and highway fund levies.

Expenditures are $17,521,300.

Lund, in his analysis, revealed that the total county expenditures in 1933 were $17,521,300 whereas the appropriation for the fiscal year 1941—from Dec. 2, 1940 to Nov. 30, 1941—is $20,828,282, an increase of $3,306,982. In addition there has been a decrease since 1933 of $1,708,876 in fixed costs—such as juror fees and interest on tax anticipation warrants and deficiencies. Adding the latter figure to $3,306,982, shows a total operating cost increase of $5,015,858.

The increase, Lund said, has been due to adding employés to the county payroll, and to raises in wages for employés. Exclusive of the forest preserve and the highway department there are now 5,664 regular employés compared with 3,940 in 1933.

"Taking in consideration the forest preserve, highway department, old age assistance, graduate nurses at county hospital and the regular and extra employés of the county, it is safe to estimate the actual number of employés no fewer than 9,500," he said.

Listed as Justifiable Expenses.

Lund gave the following as justifiable expense increases in the eight year period.

County hosp. (including nurses)	$1,704,680
Oak Forest infirmary	236,655
Juvenile court	185,484
Children's service	19,512
Land-lot-ledger sys. (tax indexing)	400,000
Women juror system	50,000
Total	$2,596,331

Subtracting this total from $5,015,858 leaves $2,419,527 which Lund classified as "unexplained increases." The explanation, he said, lies in the pay roll additions.

"At this particular time," he said, "when our nation faces a national crisis and billions must be spent for its defense—billions that someday must be paid by its people—it is well that every state, county, and community formulate a plan of readjusting and reducing its costs of local government.

"It is doubtful that it has ever occurred to any local government, the county included, that it has sufficient revenue for operation purposes. It is equally obvious that the officials of these local governments do not realize the time has come when the taxing power has reached a limit as far as the taxpayers are concerned. Yet, practically all of these bodies are constantly striving to increase tax rates, levies, or pass new tax measures."

Dies Seizes Member List Of Washington Bookshop

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—An investigator from the house committee on un-American activities tonight seized a list of 1,200 members of The Bookshop, a Washington coöperative library and lecture enterprise. Shortly afterward Rep. Martin Dies [D., Tex.], committee chairman, issued a statement saying the list would show "a number of government officials and employés" were active in communist front organizations.

Indian Chief's Heirs Fight for Land

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Catherine Boettcher and her son, Herbert (front), and Mrs. Frances Winters and her son, Frank, as they appeared in court yesterday to oppose forest preserve district's action to remove them from land given to women's grandfather by President Tyler in 1843.

Protest Claim

Allegations that two granddaughters of Chief Che-che-pin-qua, an Indian friendly to the whites at the time of the Fort Dearborn massacre, charge the public admission to view flowers in the forest preserve district were made yesterday by Herbert C. Paschen, attorney for the district, before Circuit Judge Denis J. Normoyle. The granddaughters also set dogs on surveyors and flower lovers who will not pay, Paschen said.

The women are Mrs. Frances Winters, 64 years old, and Mrs. Catherine Boettcher, 66. The district is asking a writ to oust them from land claimed by the preserve in Maine township. The land is part of a 1,280 acre tract given the Indian chief and his heirs in perpetuity by President Tyler in 1843.

The women live on part of the grant, which lies between Foster avenue and Addison street, partly straddling the Des Plaines river. They protested the preserve's claim to 384 acres between Foster and Montrose avenues on both sides of the river. The preserve asserts this tract was purchased for $25,000 in 1921 after condemnation proceedings. Judge Normoyle ordered the women's lawyers to file an answer and continued the hearing to June 13.

TEXAS GENERAL WARNS U. S. IS ON WAR'S BRINK

Mineral Wells, Tex., May 16 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Preston A. Weatherred, a National Guard officer, said today only the "almost inevitable sinking of one of our naval vessels" lies between the United States and a war that will "send our boys abroad to fight."

"We are on the brink of war," the 72nd Brigade commander of the 36th Division at Camp Bowie told a defense rally of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"We have set our hearts and our national policy to the defeat of the axis powers. We have committed at least two acts of war. The choice of war or peace now lies not with us but with our potential—or, I suppose I must say, our prospective enemy. If war comes, it is the sheerest poppycock to say that we shall not send our boys abroad to fight on foreign soil."

Gen. Weatherred spoke after directors of the chamber adopted a resolution urging convoy of goods for Britain and underwrote $128,000 in defense bonds.

RADIO PROGRAM FOR EUROPE PUT ON 16 HOUR BASIS

New York, May 16 [Special].—At the suggestion of the state department, the National Broadcasting company began sending short wave programs to Europe and South America today on a 24 hour basis, with most of the time—16 hours, from midnight until 4 p. m.—assigned to Europe. NBC formerly broadcast to Europe 9 hours a day and to South America 10 hours a day.

Today the new program's first object was France. The announcer read in French the message of President Roosevelt to the French people to shun the axis. He gave a comprehensive report of the day's news, not omitting to tell about how the coast guard had assumed protective custody of 13 French merchant ships in American waters.

At one time, between 3 and 3:30 a. m., the Germans tried to jam the broadcast to France, NBC officials said, but the high-powered British station, BBC, cut in and jammed the Nazi radio, leaving a clear channel for the news to get thru.

BARRETT RULES 1 MILL CIGARET TAX IS ILLEGAL

Opinion Blow to State's Revenue Program.

gaged in the occupation of selling cigarets. He said that the definition of cigarets was so vague it might include nontobacco smoking material such as cubebs and medicinal cigarets.

Objects to Credit Section.

The attorney general ruled that a provision for selling cigaret tax stamps on 30 day credit violates the state constitution and that the lack of a penalty provision in connection with a section prohibiting transferring or bartering of stamps made that part of the bill meaningless.

He further declared that a provision for refunds on unused stamps was illegal because no payment could be made without an appropriation, and that the department of finance is prohibited from withholding funds from the treasury for such a purpose.

But his severest legal condemnation came in seven typewritten pages assailing the disregard shown in the bill for the basic constitutional prohibition of illegal searches and seizures.

Makes Other Objections.

He objected to a provision that if cigarets without stamps are found in the possession of any distributor, seller, or retailer they are "contraband" and subject to seizure and forfeiture "by any officer or employé of the [finance] department authorized in writing by the director thereof."

This same section, he continued, would give officers or employés power to exercise the powers of all three branches of government—executive, legislative, and judicial.

NEW BLOOD TEST FOR PARENTAGE BACKS HUSBAND

A second pathologist testified yesterday that blood tests indicated Charles Emry, 26 years old, 4900 Princeton avenue, was not the father of his wife's child, Charles, 15 months old. Circuit Judge Robert Jerome Dunne then took the case under advisement. The wife, Elsie, 25, is suing for separate maintenance. Emry has a cross bill for annulment of the marriage, charging fraud and asserting he is not the child's father.

The pathologist who testified yesterday was Dr. Josiah J. Moore, 55 East Washington street. He confirmed the findings of Dr. Israel Davidsohn, who said on May 6 that Emry was of the so-called "M" blood type and that Mrs. Emry and the child were of the "N" type—a condition impossible if Emry were the father.

On examination by Attorney's Joseph H. and Norman Becker, counsel for Mrs. Emry, Dr. Moore admitted that sometimes baby's blood types are not definitly established until they are 2 years old.

In final argument the Beckers said there is no precedent in Illinois courts for accepting such blood tests and that courts are loath to declare children illegitimate. Attorney Daniel A. Covelli, representing Emry, said such tests have been accepted in eastern states and in Europe.

MOTHERS' GROUP TO CONTINUE ITS ANTI-WAR DRIVE

Members of We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America will continue to stump the state in their anti-war campaign, Mrs. Barbara Winthrop, director, said yesterday.

Scheduled on their tour is a return engagement at Champaign, where Mrs. Lyrl Clark Van Hyning will speak Wednesday evening in the county courthouse. Mrs. Winthrop and 10 other members of the group will attend the rally. With permission of the mayor, they will conduct another meeting Sunday, May 25, in Lord's park, Elgin. Meetings are tentatively scheduled to be held in Dundee, Carpentersville, and Algonquin.

More than 60,000 anti-war pleas addressed to the President have been distributed since Mother's day by members of the organizations, Mrs. Winthrop reported.

POTASH COMPANY DENIES CHARGES IN LETTER TO NYE

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] placed in the congressional record today a letter from the American Potash & Chemical corporation of Trona, Cal., denying charges he made last week that it is a "foreign colonial outpost" of Britain and is shipping large quantities of bromine to Japan for use with aviation gasoline.

The letter, written by F. C. Baker, company vice president, was described by Nye as "in direct answer" to his charges.

Baker wrote that the corporation had "never at any time made any shipment of bromine to Japan, either before or after the beginning of this war."

"In fact," he added, "the corporation has never exported even a pound of bromine."

Baker said the company had sold potash to Japan but discontinued the sales when the war started. He added, also, that borax sales had been halted several months ago.

163 OF ILLINOIS CITIES SHOW BIG BUILDING GAINS

The division of statistics and research of the state labor department reported yesterday that valuation of projects covered by April building permits for 163 Illinois cities was $17,073,634, or 75.2 per cent above the April, 1940, total of $9,744,171. April permits totaled 4,059, and covered a valuation 66.4 per cent above the March total of $10,262,406. The April total was the highest for any month since January, 1938.

ECONOMY BLOC BUCK PASSERS, PRESIDENT SAYS

Saving Congress' Job, Roosevelt Asserts.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—President Roosevelt today criticized persons who are demanding economies, but are offering no specific plans for effecting their demands. He said the problem of devising means of economizing is up to congress.

This, he said, was the old and very clever game of passing the buck. He insisted that it is up to the persons who are advocating economy to propose specific means of reducing expenditures.

Strikes at His Critics.

The President was hitting at congressional critics who have been calling for a reduction in spending on nondefense items. He also was striking at a parade of citizens who have appeared before the house ways and means committee, which is considering tax legislation for the financing of the defense program, to urge the adoption of rigid economy in civilian branches of the government.

Mr. Roosevelt took up three specific proposals which have been offered for cutting government expenditures and dismissed them as impractical. He discussed suggestions that appropriations for the National Youth administration, the Civilian Conservation corps and the farm program be trimmed.

He defended the NYA by stating that its work in training men and women for defense industry is extremely important. He questioned whether any real economy can be effected by reducing NYA appropriations by stating that funds would have to be voted to train the same men and women in other branches of the government.

Defends Need for Spending.

He acknowledged that something might be done to bring the CCC closer to the selective service program, altho most of the CCC personnel is below the draft age. Here again, he said, if the appropriation is cut, the same amount of money would have to be appropriated elsewhere for the training of the same personnel.

On the question of continuance of farm benefits, he said that he is looking critically at pending legislation which would provide 450 million dollars in soil conservation benefits. Most products have reached or are moving toward the price levels set at the outset of the New Deal.

The problem of devising means of effecting economies, he said, was one for congress.

REDS PROTEST U. S. SEIZURE OF RUSSIAN CARGO

Washington, D. C., May 16 [Special].—A strong protest over the seizure in San Francisco of a Russian cargo of wool and leather from the Swedish merchantman Columbia has been filed with Secretary of State Cordell Hull by Constantine Oumansky, the soviet ambassador, it was disclosed today. This was learned after the protest had been announced in Moscow.

The cargo was taken under the executive order extending export licensing regulations to foreign goods moving thru the United States. The wool and leather had been sent from Uruguay to San Francisco, which terminated its voyage there. The cargo remained unloaded for some time, then early this month was taken on the Columbia.

No reply has been made to the protest.

MOTHER GIVES BIRTH TO QUADS, BUT THREE DIE

All Are Girls; Father Is Lunchroom Cook.

Three of quadruplet girls born prematurely last night in Mercy hospital to Mrs. Frances Adams, 20 years old, died at 2:45 a. m. today. The remaining baby was kept in an artificial respiratory for some time, but later was removed to an incubator. Physicians said she was "fairly healthy." The mother's condition was good.

The babies, weighing less than 1½ pounds each, were born at 8:26, 8:28, 8:30, and 8:31 p. m., half an hour after Mrs. Adams had entered the hospital. All were placed in incubators immediately. Later three respirators [iron lungs] were obtained, and the babies were placed in them alternately until three died.

Second in City's History.

The mother was not informed immediately of the deaths of the three quadruplets. They weighed 1 pound 6 ounces, 1 pound 5 ounces, and 1 pound 5¾ ounces, in the order of their arrival. The babies were named in the order of their birth Margaret, Marie, Frances, and Charlene. Marie is the survivor. Her weight was not announced.

The birth of the quadruplets was believed to be the second such case in Chicago's history. In 1901 Mrs. Josephine Ormsby, wife of a Chicago plumber, gave birth to quadruplets, three boys and a girl. All lived to maturity. Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, said only three sets of quadruplets occur in every 2,000,000 births.

Father Is Lunchroom Cook.

The Adams quadruplets were born 2½ months prematurely. The mother married Edward H. Adams, 22, cook in a lunchroom at 2407 Division street, last Nov. 30. She weighs slightly more than 100 pounds and is 5 feet 2 inches tall.

The young couple live in a three room apartment on the second floor at 221 Eugenie street. Adams works at night. Shortly before 8 o'clock last night Mrs. Adams went down to the first floor apartment of Francis Kissane, 29, and asked for aid. Kissane, aided by Miss Margaret Campbell of 217 Eugenie street, a former nurse, and by a cab driver, carried Mrs. Adams to a taxicab in which she was taken to the hospital.

"No Kidding!" Says Father.

Hospital attendants notified Adams, whose only comment was "No kidding!" He hurried from work to the hospital.

"I feel weak," Adams said when he had recovered his speech.

Drs. Janet Towne and William J. McCraley delivered the babies. Later Dr. Robert A. Black, head pediatrician at the hospital, was called in for consultation.

BRITISH HIT NO BERLIN DEPOTS, SAYS AMERICAN

New York, May 16 (AP).—Lois Scheel, general manager of the Otis Elevator company in Italy, Russia, and Germany, said today on his arrival from Lisbon by Clipper that the only bomb damage he saw in Berlin was in residential sections.

"If the British claim that they struck a railroad station in Berlin, it must have been an error, or it was made up for propaganda purposes, because I never saw it," he said, adding that he told British censors and authorities so during a "friendly third degree" in Bermuda.

Scheel, an American citizen from St. Louis, Mo., returned to Europe in January, 1940, after a two month visit here and left Berlin last April 29. Berlin friends urged him to remain, he said, because they feel that the war has been won. He added that "Germany is wonderfully organized, and every man, woman, and child is working. The morale of the people is high."

RECOVER $7,000 SILK TABLECLOTH TAKEN FROM CAR

A silk tablecloth valued at $7,000, which was stolen May 10 from an automobile parked in front of 2626 Van Buren street, has been recovered thru an advertisment in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Warren avenue police learned last night.

The tablecloth was owned by Mrs. Lora Stern, wife of Dr. Walter Stern of Cleveland, O. It was stolen while the Sterns were visiting Walter S. Baer, head of the Universal Wheel and Abrasive corporation at the Van Buren street address. Last Tuesday Mrs. Hannah Katus, 4720 Harrison street, and Mrs. Edith Clamage, 1659 South Ridgeway avenue, found the cloth in a suitcase on the sidewalk at 18th street and Pulaski road.

They returned it to Baer after reading his advertisment, and received a $50 reward. Mrs. Stern had used $1,800 worth of silk yarn in crocheting the tablecloth during the last five years.

25,000 EXPECTED TODAY AT NORSE PATRIOTIC FETE

About 25,000 Chicago Norwegians are expected to attend the annual Norwegian Independence day celebration sponsored by the Norwegian National league of Chicago in Humboldt park today. The celebration will begin with a parade from North and Artesian avenues to the park. Among the estimated 10,000 marchers will be children carrying Norwegian and American flags, and persons dressed in Norwegian peasant costumes.

The Rev. Alvin A. Snesrud of the Moreland Lutheran church and Maj. Ole Reistad, in charge of Norwegian air corps training in Canada, will speak at Humboldt park. At 5 p. m. the celebration will move to Kolze's grove, at Irving Park road and Narragansett avenue, where group singing, sports, and dancing will provide entertainment. At Kolze's grove Maj. Reistad will speak on "Norway's War Efforts."

Italian King Visits Native Land of Queen, Montenegro

ROME, May 16 (AP).—King Victor Emmanuel today visited Montenegro, which, as the birthplace of his queen, is a prospective province of Italy in the partition of Jugo-Slavia. He went to Cetinje on a side trip from his tour of the now peaceful Albanian battlefronts. He had visited the city in 1896 when he and Queen Elena were betrothed, and a second time in 1910 for the coronation of her father, King Nicholas.

HOUSE TOLD TAX LOAD WILL DOOM SMALLER TOWNS

Congresswoman Warns of Effect on Finances.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—In a speech that some Republicans labeled political suicide, Congresswoman Jessie Sumner [R., Ill.] today told the house ways and means committee that the proposed 3 billion 600 million dollar defense tax bill will mean the end of the little business man in the little towns in America.

Jessie Sumner.

Miss Sumner advanced the theory that the proposed bill inevitably will drive the capital of the small business man, which the government seeks to tax, into nontaxable coverts. Little business then will die, she predicted, leaving nothing for the tax gatherer from this source. Thus, she said, some program must be devised to augment the national income if it is to be a source of income taxes.

As a solution she offered a rather ironic amendment to the bill, one setting up a government agency to teach the people how to make money. She added caustically that she thinks it foredoomed, as "no rabbit will come out of the government hat unless it is hatched at the White House."

All Like to Make Money.

"Most Americans," she added in explanation of her amendment, "naturally love the fun of making money. There are few people, rich or poor, who will not be delighted to make all the money the government feels like spending—and more—if only the government will show them how."

Miss Sumner predicted that as soon as the tax bill becomes law and its provisions are known, the owners of small town businesses will seek to liquidate them. Their capital then will scuttle out of the small towns and into large industries, trusts, or nontaxable government bonds.

The reason for such action, she said, is simple: the usual incentive for accumulating property will be gone.

Thinks Mainly of Security.

"People in small towns do not act exactly like people in cities," she explained. "The man in a small town knows that just because he accumulates property he will not of necessity be admired any more than, if as much as, the man who runs the popcorn stand on the corner.

"The only motive he has is the desire to furnish an enduring security and a career for himself, his children, and his neighbors."

If the emergency taxes cause such a drouth of existing investment capital, she said, a drive excelling in vigor that of the Liberty loan bonds will be necessary to encourage investment in small towns, a hard job even in normal times.

Many small business men, still saddled with debts from the last depression, fear its recurrence, she said. Few men have made successful efforts to acquire new property. All view with anxiety the proposed estate taxes [$15,000 on an $100,000 estate].

"They regard them as a warning from the government," she said, "that they are not going to be allowed to provide properly for their wives and children and that they will, in effect, be penalized for not squandering their money as many who made the same income have done."

Miss Sumner suggested that a federal "How to Make Money" agency, operating out of the Department of Commerce, be established. It will tell people how to hold jobs, how to make more money than at present and how to invest correctly and profitably the money they save.

Don't Realize Possibilities.

"Vast numbers of people are prevented from trying as hard as they might at present," she continued, "by the widely held superstition that the total national capital is static like a piece of pie that is divided among the citizens—so that you don't get any unless you first take part of another citizen's piece.

"I believe they would work much harder," she concluded, "if they could be taught the simple principles which will enable each of us to acquire more pie than he now has."

Miss Sumner said that both Republican and Democratic congressmen warned her in advance that her speech was political death. They cited the old adage of "fools rush in where angels fear to tread." To this she replied that she thought the time soon would come when angels rush in where fools already have trod.

BILL TO CREATE NEW PUBLIC SAFETY BODY IS SIGNED BY GREEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 16.—Gov. Dwight Green tonight established a new branch of the state government by signing the bill creating the department of public safety, in which he will combine the prison and parole systems and all state crime and fire fighting agencies.

For months it has been reported the governor plans to appoint his highway police chief, T. P. Sullivan, first director of public safety.

The new department will be set up on July 1. Among other changes, it will result in abolition of the present parole board of seven members and the substitution of five experts in the department's division of corrections who, it is planned, will be in more immediate touch with convicts than their predecessors.

After July 1, the parole board will be composed of the superintendents of prisons, parole, parole supervision, and crime prevention, plus the state criminologist.

Six operators and 92 patrons, including a number of women, were taken to the Central station and questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Clem Dernbach.

BRITISH BOMBERS RAID NAZI PLANES ON SYRIAN FIELDS

Take Offensive to Smash German Aid to Iraq.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 16 (AP).—Britain's forces took the offensive aground and in the skies today both west and east of the Suez canal—in Egypt and Libya, Iraq and Syria—against coordinated axis thrusts aimed at that vital waterway.

These were the far scattered operations that heralded a new struggle:

In Egypt, the key town of Sollum—lying just within the frontier from Italian Libya—was stormed and retaken by British troops, along with Halfaya [Hellfire] pass and Musaid. There were some indications that a second offensive into Libya was in the making—an offensive to reoccupy territory taken in the first British successes in Africa and subsequently lost to an axis counterattack.

Air Offensive in Syria.

In French mandated Syria, thru which Nazi panzer forces supported by warplanes were reported moving toward Iraq to support that government in its war with Britain, British pilots opened an aerial offensive.

German planes were bombed Thursday at Rayak, at Palmyra, and at Damascus, the world's oldest still inhabited city, where St. Paul lived.

All the eastern Mediterranean except the territorial waters of Turkey were declared by the British to be dangerous to shipping. This meant the British have acted to obstruct axis seaborne military traffic to Syria by mines and other means.

The Nazi movement across French Syria into Iraq apparently was developing into a major action. Whole fleets of Nazi long range bombers and troop carriers were said to be descending on Syrian airfields.

Nazi Panzer Movement.

The report of the panzer movement came from the British news service Reuters, which attributed its information to an independent French agency. The British officially said they could not confirm it. From Turkey, however, there also were reports that German tanks had arrived in Syria.

[Germany has occupied the positions from which she will strike the next blow at Britain, said the commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland in Berlin last night.

German activity in Syria was termed "an occupation" by some British informants. Informed persons here expressed the belief that the Germans had introduced their mechanized equipment into Syria by air and boat from the Italian Dodecanese Islands in the Mediterranean.

[There was a strong possibility that the Germans in turn reached the Dodecanese via the Black sea and the Dardanelles with Turkish acquiescence. Dispatches during the Greek campaign reported the transit of German ships thru the Dardanelles. Beirut and Tripoli are the chief ports at which the Germans might land in Syria.]

Iraqi Government Protests.

In Trans-Jordan, which borders Syria and Iraq, British forces under command of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson appeared to be stirring. The Iraqi government announced that it had protested to Emir Abdullah of Trans-Jordan against "hostile activities."

"Swift and severe measures" were threatened by Bagdad.

[British reënforcements, said the British wireless in a broadcast heard in the United States, have arrived in both Iraq and Palestine. Authoritative informants in London declared the Syrian situation "will be handled all right." A Reuters dispatch from Vichy, France, to London quoted Premier Rashid Ali Al Gailiani of Iraq as claiming his troops are attacking the British positions at Basra, Iraq, and a big battle is developing.]

Inflict Heavy Casualties.

In capturing Sollum, the British inflicted several hundred casualties on German forces, which fought without their Italian allies. The British also launched a fierce attack on Fort Capuzzo, just across the border in Libya.

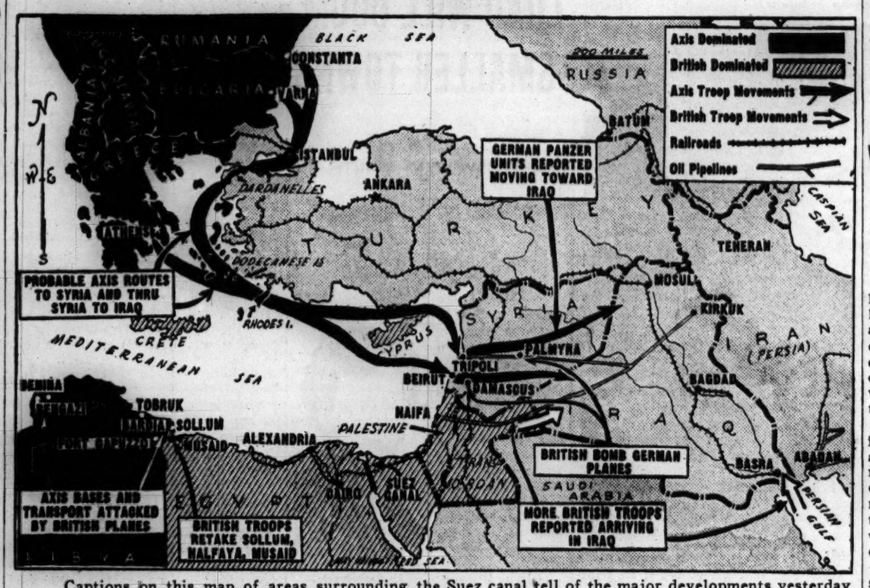
In Ethiopia, the British made further progress in their advance against the Italian fortress of Amba Alaji, 280 miles northeast of Addis Ababa. Some 38,000 Fascist troops are surrounded at Amba Alaji.

Rhodes and Cyprus Bombed.

ROME, May 16 (AP).—The British island of Cyprus and the Italian island of Rhodes, both directly in the Mediterranean route to the rich Mosul oil fields, were reported bombed heavily today. The Italian airmen rained bombs on Cyprus, off the coast of Syria at the eastern end of the Mediterranean, while the British were bombing Rhodes, off the southeastern tip of Turkey.

British Take Offensive in Middle East

(Story in adjoining column.)



Captions on this map of areas surrounding the Suez canal tell of the major developments yesterday as the British land and air forces started offensives to drive out axis invaders. On the other hand, the German movement across French Syria into Iraq appeared to be developing into a major action.

BRITAIN ESTIMATES FRANCE HAS 20,000 SOLDIERS IN SYRIA

Altho no definite figures are available, it is believed France now has some 20,000 soldiers in Syria. This estimate was made by the British less than a month ago as they expressed concern over the number of German "tourists" filtering into Syria. When France collapsed in June, 1940, it was estimated she had from 200,000 to 250,000 troops in Syria and the rest of the middle east. A month later, however, this total had been reduced to approximately 120,000 by demobilization and the flight of some French troops to join the British or "Free French" forces. Now the British have reported the further shrinkage to 20,000.

ADMIRAL ASKS CENSORSHIP OF ALL WARSHIPS

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn asked today for a voluntary censorship on the arrival of warships of friendly foreign neutrals in American waters as well as on movements of American and British vessels.

Rear Admiral Hepburn.

Taking charge of the navy's expanded public relations office, Admiral Hepburn said the request applied to such cases as the arrival this week in Philadelphia, Pa., of a Colombian warship, and to all Latin-American vessels which might come to the United States for repairs. Explaining he had just started a study of what information the navy might release or withhold, Hepburn said it was "too early" to decide whether publicity policies would be relaxed or tightened.

"The navy is under obligation to give the public all news possible," he said, "but it must be realized information cannot be supplied to the public generally without informing subversive elements and potential enemies. I don't see any adequate solution of the problem."

PLAN TO DIVERT MORE WATER AT NIAGARA FALLS

OTTAWA, Ont., May 16 (AP).—Further extensive diversions of water at Niagara Falls so that all idle power producing machinery on both sides of the Niagara river may be put into operation is being considered by the Canadian and United States governments.

"The demand for more power is so pressing in the war effort it seems likely that further diversions at Niagara will be allowed," a government official said.

"With the big reserves of water in the upper lakes it would be possible to take the water required to set all the machines along Niagara moving without affecting the scenic beauty of the falls for a year at least," he said.

JAPANESE AGREE TO LET CHINESE OPERATE CHINA

Nanking Puppet Rule Gets More Power.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, May 16.—Complete understanding was reached in all quarters today on a proposal brought back by Kumataro Honda, Japanese ambassador to the Wang Ching-wei [puppet] régime at Nanking, China. The proposal calls for a slackening of Japanese regulations and allowing the Chinese puppet régime to control trade and finance in that territory.

This, however, does not mean any letdown in the military campaign against the Chungking government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, it was explained. Japan considers that it is in a position to crush Chiang despite recent American efforts to rush all possible aid to Chungking. Military observers here believe that Chiang's only hope is continued assistance from Moscow. It is believed this aid will be cut as a result of the Russian-Japanese neutrality pact.

Discuss Routine Matters.

A spokesman attached no importance to the calls of American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, and German Ambassador Maj. Gen. Eugene Ott on Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka. He explained that they merely discussed routine matters.

Reports continued to circulate, however, that Japan is making a strong effort to settle its conflict with China and reach an understanding, not only with the axis powers, but also with the United States and Britain, regarding its rôle in Asia. Japan's effort, it is stressed, will be entirely economic. The spokesman said that Japan is negotiating with Germany and Italy on the question of recognition of the Nanking regime.

50 Planes Raid Chungking.

CHUNGKING, China, May 16 (AP).—More than 50 Japanese planes attacked this Chinese capital today, inflicting approximately 100 Chinese casualties and causing widespread damage. All press offices, including that of the Associated Press, were damaged.

Japanese Make Claim.

TOKIO, May 17 [Saturday] (AP).—Japanese troops have occupied all important military, political and economic points in China where the fighting line now extends 2,500 miles, a board of information summary reported today.

U. S. AIR LINES BRING EXPRESS FROM SINGAPORE

The first mail and express to come directly from Singapore to Chicago by American air service arrived at Chicago airport yesterday aboard a United Air Lines passenger plane. The mail was flown from Singapore to San Francisco via Manila and Hawaii aboard Pan-American Airways' new service. It was put aboard United's ship at San Francisco and required only seven days for the entire journey as against 30 by boat and train.

Pan-American has just launched the service from Manila to Singapore—a 1,400 mile over-water flight. This is made in the same Boeing and Martin four engined flying boats that hitherto were used on the 8,400 mile flight from the United States to Hongkong.

NAZIS RAID MIDLANDS TOWN IN 1ST BIG BLOW SINCE FLIGHT OF HESS

LONDON, Saturday, May 17 (AP).—German raiders struck the Midlands area early today with hundreds of fire and high explosive bombs in the first big attack on Britain since the mysterious parachute arrival of Rudolf Hess on British soil a week ago became known.

A large number of casualties and heavy property damage were reported as waves of German planes pounded the area. An undetermined number of persons were killed by a direct hit on an air raid shelter. Others were buried in their homes.

London also was under an alarm and anti-aircraft batteries fired on the raiders roaring across the city shortly after midnight, but there were no bombs reported here. Two raiders were reported downed, bringing the day and night bag to nine planes. One of the raiders crashed with a full load of bombs, setting off a terrific explosion.

British Raid Acknowledged.

BERLIN [Saturday], May 17 (AP).—British air raiders damaged several apartment houses and an "unimportant" industrial plant in western Germany during the night, informed sources said today.

CHAIRMAN FLY GIVES REPLY TO CRITICS OF FCC

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—Chairman James Lawrence Fly of the Federal Communications commission, in an apparent reply to a recent demand that a new three-man commission be named, asserted tonight that "it is of no great concern to our democracy whether any one particular man or group of men shall occupy public office."

"It is of real concern to the nation, however," Fly said in a statement, "that official positions be held by men of sufficient strength of character to do their duty in the face of the strongest pressures which can be turned upon them."

Fly's brief statement contained no reference to what prompted it. It was recalled, however, that Mark Ethridge, Louisville, Ky., radio and newspaper executive, on Wednesday told a convention of the National Association of Broadcasters that President Roosevelt "was deceived" by a recent report of the FCC on a monopoly investigation of the radio industry.

CHAOS AND PANIC PAVED WAY FOR FALL OF GREECE

Writer Tells How Nation Lost Its Stoicism.

BY J. WES GALLAGHER.

ATHENS, May 13 [Via Berlin, Delayed] (AP).—It is possible now to tell how the Greek government gradually disintegrated under the impact of the German invasion and how, during Athens' last days of freedom, chaos and panic replaced the stoicism with which the populace had borne the hardships of six months of war.

During those last days, Athens and its suburbs, normally containing about 1,000,000 people, had about as many extra refugees. Despite frequent air raid alarms [as the German bombers swept over to attack the port of Piraeus] the sidewalks were black with people every hour of the day.

Runs were in progress on foodshops, clothing stores, shops of all kinds. There was a rush for small boats in which to flee to the islands—a flight in which many lost their lives. The police struggled to maintain order. A stern disciplinarian was named to take charge of the troubled capital.

Tanks Roam Thru City.

Companies of motorcycle gendarmes carrying submachine guns patroled the streets and baby tanks manned by police roamed the city. Patrols of bayonet carrying soldiers, 20 in each, were assigned to keep order among other soldiers returning from the front.

As is not unusual in the case of a régime facing apparently inevitable disaster, stresses and strains set in as much as two weeks before the Nazi invasion actually began.

Some indication of this was given in the announcement that Premier Alexandros Korizis had killed himself—10 days before the Germans entered Athens. Public morale slumped badly at the spectacle of the lack of unity in official quarters.

Officials First to Flee.

I watched the process, illustrated in the following incidents:

1. Officials in Thrace and Macedonia, largely appointed by the dead dictator, Gen. John Metaxas, used police powers to order the populace to remain in the towns and cities. But at the same time it was noted that wealthy persons and others with friends in office managed to leave, even taking their furniture with them. It is charged that 90 per cent of the officials left Thrace three days before the invasion began.

2. Sixty thousand Spanish Jews had to remain in Salonika. But with shipping space at a premium some friends of high officials obtained small sailing ships for departure while one large steamer which had been waiting to load military supplies was put at the disposal of a big tobacco grower.

3. As Nazi bombers began to circle daily over Athens, officials began to dribble away from their posts at night, taking small boats to the islands.

Chaos in Cabinet.

4. The night of April 17—10 days before Athens fell—the undersecretary for war issued a statement declaring that the government had left the country and that he was leaving to join it. He urged the populace to "resist to the last." Thirty minutes after issuance the statement was withdrawn—it developed the government had not left.

5. That same night the press minister called in the editors of the government controled press and told them to report that "a great battle is going on now which Greece is winning." Two hours later he called the same editors and told them to say that "the situation is very grave and Greek resistance is near an end." Also the same night the military governor of Greece issued a decree providing court martial for any one "spreading rumors."

6. The following day, after a cabinet meeting, Premier Korizis, apparently driven to a despair that was not helped by the chaos in his cabinet, shot himself thru the heart.

7. King George II., sorely tried, then sought to form a new military coalition cabinet, but was blocked for two days by officials of the Metaxas clique, who feared loss of power.

Metaxas Clique Wins.

8. Fearful of anarchy if the political crisis were prolonged, the king finally agreed to the Metaxas clique's demands and set up a cabinet of 10 men, eight of them Metaxas followers.

These developments reduced public morale to a new low. So great was the general unrest that in Athens, British and allied soldiers carried rifles into restaurants and movie theaters.

One of the saddest chapters of the last days in Athens was the lot of the exiled king and government of Jugo-Slavia, one of Greece's allies. Puzzled and drawn, the 16 year old King Peter and the tall, military Premier Dusan Simovitch arrived April 16.

Peter, thru the Jugo-Slav legation, issued a statement to his people announcing the flight of his government but declaring its determination to continue resistance from exile. The king asked that it be broadcast.

Greeks Prevent Broadcast.

Greek authorities not only refused permission for the broadcast but refused to let the story be printed or be sent abroad on the grounds that such a proclamation would be "disturbing." All Greece knew already that Jugo-Slavia had collapsed. King Peter and his government later fled to Palestine.

The next day Simovitch issued a statement to the Jugo-Slavs telling how their armies had been defeated and outlining the situation. Again the Greeks refused to let the statement be broadcast or sent out of the country.

However, a little later, during the cabinet crisis, the Simovitch statement was permitted publication on the personal order of Gen. Codzias, then temporary premier trying to form a cabinet.

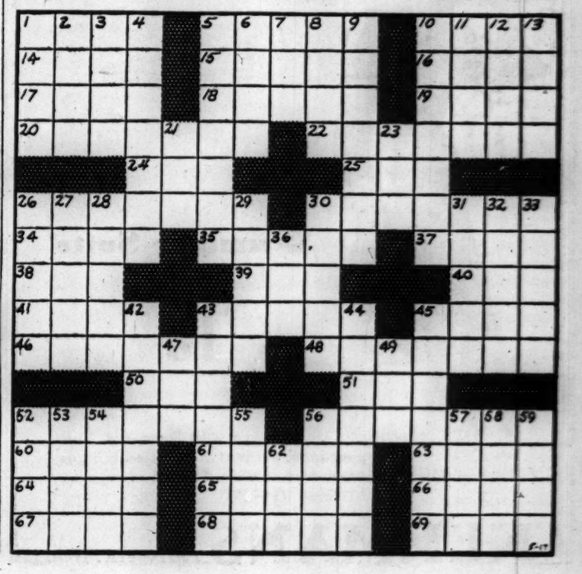
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, MAY 16, SOLVED



BRITISH WARNED FLIGHT BY HESS SPURS NAZI WAR

Henderson Says Leader Is No Super-Spy.

LONDON, May 16 (AP).—Sir Nevile Henderson, Britain's last ambassador to Germany before the war, tonight declared he did not believe that Rudolf Hess had come to this country either as a Nazi spy or to give away German secrets. He warned that the deputy fuehrer's flight would "accelerate Germany's war efforts."

Sir Nevile Henderson.

As a result of the shock of the Hess case, Henderson said, "they will try to force the issue before next winter."

Hess was "an absolutely fanatical supporter of the Nazi system, who was honest and sincere," the former ambassador told an audience at Stamford in his first public comment on the curious affair.

Devoted to Hitler.

"In my opinion," he said, "Hess has become convinced in the last two years that Naziism, as it has developed, is on the wrong track and that it is being used to serve the private ends of the thorogoing scoundrels of Germany, such as Himmler, Ribbentrop, Ley, and the general party bosses who act solely for themselves."

Henderson said further, "I regarded Hess as the adopted son of Hitler, a man to whom Hitler was devoted and who was devoted to Hitler."

Thus, he declared, the momentous step Hess took, knowing it would infuriate Hitler, indicated how deep the feeling must be in Germany.

Altho he said he was expressing his own opinions, Henderson reassured his hearers that the government will not treat Hess as "anything but a Nazi."

Hint He Feared Death.

This tended to correspond with the assertion of other highly informed British sources that it was "entirely plausible" Hess fled to Britain in fear of assassination by his fellow Nazis.

The British foreign office, intelligence service, ministry of information, and other official quarters meanwhile worked diligently on the Hess affair, but kept mum as to whether they had cleared up the mystery surrounding his flight to Scotland on May 10.

The duke of Hamilton, the Scottish nobleman Hess flew to see, was detached from active duty with the RAF in order to help work on the case.

FRANCE SLASHES TOBACCO SALES BY 30 PER CENT

VICHY, France, May 16.—Restrictions on sales of tobacco in France were announced today. Prices had been raised in an earlier effort to avoid rationing, but supplies still are insufficient because of lack of imports.

The new ruling provides that tobacco stores will supply no one under 18 years old, but that they will remain open to women. All stores will receive 30 per cent less tobacco from government factories, and will divide this supply into seven parts, one for each day of the week. When its day's supply is exhausted the store will be compelled to post a notice, "no more sales today." In addition, no customer may be sold more than one packet of tobacco or cigarets.

Vatican Puts Censorship on Phones and Telegraph

VATICAN CITY, May 16 (AP).—An unofficial source said tonight that Vatican authorities had extended their censorship on communications to telephones and telegraph as well as the mails to prevent any violation of the papal state's attitude of strict neutrality in the war.

few looked downhearted. They have the German assurance that they fought a good battle—better than any other adversary of the Germans—and they are proud of it.

More especially, they are elated at the contrast between their showing and that of the Serbians—always boasting how tough they are—but who, in reality, put up practically no struggle at all.

The German army makes some effort to lighten the misery of these disbanded and hopeless Greek soldiers. At German army kitchens Greeks can get a handout of stew and a military drink called "tea with rum." In the town of Lamia, which is a concentration point for German military transport, I saw the public square filled with exhausted Greeks sleeping on the ground.

Give Greeks a Lift.

Whenever a German truck with empty space was ready to start out, all Greeks going the same way were given a lift.

Despite these amiable gestures, it appears hardly likely that Greece—unless the axis powers are defeated—will have the same boundaries as before April 6 of this year [when the German Balkan blitz began]. The Greeks noticed with dismay that the Italians have occupied their western islands, especially the large ones of Corfu, Zante, and Cephalonia, and talk about having won the mastery of the gates of the Adriatic sea.

Italians also are occupying the province of Epirus in northwest Greece.

Bulgaria also is taking possession of part of Greece. On my way down from Belgrade I took a road thru the center of Jugo-Slavia and noted that the Bulgarian forces did not seem to go beyond the former frontier between Greece and Jugo-Slavia. I found them at Bitolj in Jugo-Slavia, but not at Florina in Greece.

Germans Hold Salonika.

On my return by a road thru Salonika to Sofia, Bulgaria, it was different. Salonika is entirely in German hands. Beyond the Struma river in the vicinity of the town of Serrai—52 miles from Salonika—I saw Bulgarian military police. Thereafter houses in all towns displayed Bulgarian flags and there were clear signs of Bulgarian possession.

It appears as if the Bulgarians are occupying all Greek territory east of the Struma river and down to the Aegean coast. Thus they will get their outlet to southern waters at the ports of Kavalla and Alexandropolis.

Since no grabbing government seems to have a brigand's simplicity or logic, the press of Sofia is justifying the Bulgarian occupation with propaganda.

SENATE PASSES 2 DICTATORSHIP FOUNDING BILLS

Priority Control Voted; RFC Power Boosted.

day, to be exercised by the priorities division of the Office of Production management, will supplement the totalitarian controls already exercised by the New Deal thru the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply.

This agency chiefly has been engaged in controlling prices in business and industry, while the administration's solicitude for union labor and the farmers, both powerful voting groups, has resulted in a vicious circle of upward spiraling prices.

The National Mediation board has settled virtually all its strikes by granting wage increases to labor, which results in increased costs and higher prices for the things the farmer must buy. Congress in turn has voted to boost the price of farm products drastically by increasing the government loan rate of 85 per cent of parity.

Points to Confusion.

"This is a totalitarian age," said Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.], "this method of merely allotting to the President, whenever we create a new power, the power to give it to any agency he chooses, has worked out in complete confusion. The situation which exists today is exceedingly complicated, almost impossible to understand. The President is creating a whole series of bureaus in his own executive office, a kind of super bureaucracy over and above and separate from all the departments of the government which congress has established."

Senator Lister Hill [D., Ala.], manager of the priorities bill, explained that the house version vested the control of priorities in a director to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the senate, but subject to the approval of the Joint Army and Navy Munitions board. The senate military affairs committee eliminated this restriction, he added, because the administration wanted to retain control of priorities in the OPM.

As drafted by the RFC and reported by the senate banking and currency committee, the RFC bill simply authorized RFC subsidiaries which it may create in any number under existing law to exercise "such powers as they [the President and Jesse Jones] may deem necessary in order to expedite the national defense program."

Senators Are Appalled.

Senators professed to be appalled by what they termed the most amazing blank check ever presented to congress. As a result of the protests, Senator Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.], manager of the bill, joined Senator Taft in sponsoring an amendment specifying that the RFC creature corporations may make loans to foreign governments, deal in critical materials, engage in the production or manufacture of munitions, build and equip railroads, and acquire and operate facilities for the training of aviators.

There also is a catchall clause authorizing the RFC to "take such other action as the President and the federal loan administrator may deem necessary to expedite the national defense program."

The blank check clause has two limitations: [1] Amounts outstanding under it at any one time may not exceed 300 million dollars and it cannot be construed to authorize projects which congress has rejected by treaty or otherwise.

The second limitation was put in to prevent use of the RFC's authority to construct the St. Lawrence waterway and power project, the Florida ship canal, and the Passamaquoddy tide harnessing scheme.

Except for the 300 million dollar limitation, there is nothing to prevent the President from using the blank check clause to duplicate the TVA with an Arkansas Valley authority, a Columbia Valley authority, and other government power schemes thruout the country.

"We are extending a principle here contrary to anything that this government has ever known, far away and beyond anything the congress has hitherto authorized," Senator Danaher told the senate. "I submit that when the money of the American people to the tune and the aggregate of about 13 billion dollars is used to create a supergovernment it is time that we took some steps to inquire into the ultimate purposes and the motivating forces back of this demand."

Sees Bombers at Soo.

Senator Brown explained the purpose of the proposed authority for the RFC to build and equip railroads. He asserted that 85 per cent of the iron ore produced in this country goes thru the "Soo" canal in northeastern Michigan.

"It being but 600 miles from there to Hudson bay, there is no question that it is entirely possible that if an aircraft carrier under the control of an enemy government should get into the south end of Hudson bay those locks might be destroyed by one or two fortunate shots," Brown said. "If so, the situation with respect to getting ore from the Mesaba range in Minnesota to Marquette, and from ranges in Michigan, would be very difficult."

Brown said the railroad from Duluth to the northwest corner of Michigan has only a single track and is in a bad state of repair. A double track line can be constructed there and the short haul would enable the use of ore carriers on the Great Lakes even if the canal were wrecked, he explained.

F. D. R. REVEALS BROAD CIVILIAN DEFENSE SETUP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—President Roosevelt announced at his press conference today that a new civilian defense program, which will profoundly affect every man, woman, and child in America, is about ready for his final approval. He said the plan may be launched by Monday.

Details of the proposed program were not revealed, but there have been indications it will be as far reaching as the outlawed NRA of the early days of the New Deal administration.

The President repeatedly has insisted that every person in the country should make a substantial contribution of time and effort to preparedness.

ROOSEVELT SET TO DEFY NAZIS' BAN ON RED SEA

Reveals Cargo Ships Will Enter Combat Zone.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—The administration is preparing to send 27 cargo ships, loaded with munitions for the British forces, to the Red sea despite Germany's designation of those waters as a combat area.

This was learned today as President Roosevelt, at his first press conference in two weeks, declared that the international situation is too grave to permit him to answer any questions on the future of French-American relations.

Mr. Roosevelt brushed aside Germany's proclamation concerning the Red sea, which he recently opened to American shipping. He questioned the Nazi's ability to make a blockade effective there.

Cites Two Undeclared Wars.

An indication that the President is prepared to use the United States navy to keep the Red sea open to American shipping was seen in his observation that this country twice has fought undeclared wars to maintain freedom of the seas in the face of similar blockades.

In deriding German proclamation of the Red sea as a combat zone, he recalled the attempt of the Barbary coast pirates to impose a blockade against this country in the early years of the 19th century. He said the young American republic first paid tribute to the Pirates, even to making them a gift of a fully armed frigate, but at last dispatched a fleet which smashed the power of the Barbary beys. No war was declared.

A short time later the young republic sent its fleet into the Carribean to protect its commerce against raids of the British and French. Without a declaration of war, the President said, the fledgling navy fought 101 engagements to make the area safe for American shipping.

Brushes Questions Aside.

He was asked whether he believed there are modern counterparts of the Barbary pirates.

Use your heads, was his answer.

In response to questions about the status of French-American relations, which appeared to be near the breaking point as a result of the President's rebuke of the Vichy régime and seizure of French merchantmen in American ports, he explained that he is operating on a day to day basis and no human being can predict what is going to happen tomorrow.

He dismissed other questions as too hypothetical or too general.

In administration circles no secret was made of the fact that the statement of French Chief of State Marshal Petain announcing collaboration of the Vichy government with Germany is a serious blow to New Deal foreign policy. Other setbacks were the conclusion of the Russo-German alliance which paved the way for the war, the fall of France, and the conclusion of the Russo-Japanese nonaggression pact which came as this country again was wooing Russia.

Miss Sylvia Wright of Austin, Minn., was revealed as May queen of the National College of Education, Evanston, in the final scene of the May festival last night. She was selected by the student body as the girl "most representative of the ideals of the college."

Miss Wright is vice president of the college council. During her college years she has served as a member of the dormitory board, treasurer of the student branch of the Association for Childhood Education, president of her sophomore class and vice president of her freshman class.

Seven seniors chosen for their "outstanding contributions to college life" composed the court of beauty and honor. They were Miss Virginia Lecey, Miss Josephine Reeves, and Miss Mary Robinson, all of Evanston; Miss Florence Peach, Wilmette; Miss Betty Sullivan, Barrington; Miss Lenore Boyd, St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Marjorie Lunoe, Pelham Manor, N. Y.

FOUR ARE KILLED IN CRASHES OF 2 PLANES IN OHIO

Columbus, O., May 16 (AP).—Four men were killed in separate army plane crashes in southern Ohio tonight, the state highway patrol reported.

Patrolmen said three bodies were found in the wreckage of a ship which plowed into a wooded hillside near Nelsonville, 50 miles southeast of here, during a thunderstorm. None was identified.

The Wilmington patrol station reported finding the wreckage of another plane with the pilot dead on a farm about the same distance southwest of here. The identity of the pilot had not been established.

BRITAIN LOSES 11,285 SEAMEN IN NAVAL WAR

LONDON, May 16 (AP).—The British navy lost 11,285 officers and men killed and missing since the war began, the admiralty announced today. Of the number, 4,260 were listed as killed in action and 6,944 missing and presumably dead.

Another 3,352 have been wounded fighting against the axis powers, while 513 were taken prisoner and 81 died of natural causes, according to the official compilation.

President Asks 60 Million for 13 Coast Guard Boats

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked congress today for 60 million dollars for the construction of new vessels and shore facilities for the Coast Guard. This amount, the President said in a letter to Speaker Sam Rayburn, would provide for the construction and equipment of three new heavy duty cutters and 10 replacement vessels. The new cutters will be designed for ice breaking in the Arctic regions. The other 10 vessels would replace cutters transferred to Breat Britain.

VICHY SURPRISED BY F. D. R. BLAST AT GERMAN DEAL

Co-Operation Necessary to Live, They Explain.

VICHY, France, May 16 (AP).—French government circles tonight expressed the greatest surprise that President Roosevelt's declaration on French relations with Germany "interpreted Marshal Petain's broadcast as putting French colonies at the disposition of Germany."

Following hard on these expressions, however, a French official statement acknowledged for the first time the British bombing of Syrian airports used by German planes en route to Iraq, but said this was not considered here to be aggression.

Frenchmen close to Marshal Petain's government said President Roosevelt had, as they put it, misunderstood the French necessity of entering into coöperation with Germany for the establishment of a new European political and economic order.

Fears Occupation of Martinique.

The latest of semiofficial French statements which had grown progressively stronger thruout the day said the American interpretation concerning France's colonies "appears even more astonishing since it is accompanied by semiofficial declarations which consider the occupation of French Guiana and Martinique."

A strong statement distributed by the French information office inquired about the "character" of taking over the Normandie and other French merchant ships by armed American guards.

President Roosevelt's statement has not yet been published in the French press but many Frenchmen heard it by radio. Mimeograph machines at the American embassy were busy turning out copies in both English and French which were distributed in official circles.

The semiofficial French statement also had this to say:

"In May, 1940, [during the German attack] when France had been abandoned by England, America didn't think it her duty to reply to her appeal. Today, France, careful of guarding her position as a great power and the integrity of her territory as an empire, has definitely the right to consider with the conqueror the conditions of common reorganization of the continent of Europe.

"That in no way signifies she has the intention of attacking England, even less the United States."

So That France May Live.

Informed Frenchmen said the French move toward coöperation with Germany was completely voluntary, insofar as it was free from German pressure. But . . . it was brought about by force of circumstances.

France, these persons assert flatly, has to negotiate with Germany and enter into the Nazis' new order for Europe in order that France may live.

For example, one commentator said that the United States has given France little more than words when France appealed, first for arms, later for bread.

It was explained that France is grateful for such aid in food as has been given by Red Cross ships from America but, so far as French needs go, this aid is infinitesimal.

Germans Are Confident.

BERLIN, May 16 (AP).—German spokesmen tonight reflected confidence that satisfactory arrangements with France either had been made or were about to be concluded.

If France permits German military passage thru Syria to Iraq or elsewhere, the Germans said, she merely would be applying the American "lend-lease" principle in favor of the axis. Commentators said the average German saw the Syrian-Iraqi case this way:

France is accused by the United States and Great Britain of permitting passage thru French territory of war material destined for another country. But, who took the initiative in getting away from the old conception of neutrality? The answer, for these Germans, is President Roosevelt, who is permitting British warships to be repaired in American harbors.

How Can They Object?

The average German also holds that Britain and the United States never have been excited when war material moved thru neutral countries to Britain. Hence, how can they object if France gives similar permission for the passage of war potentials intended to help the axis?

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung charged that President Roosevelt is trying to keep France on Britain's side by threatening to withhold shipments of relief supplies.

Order 7 London Workers to Trial for Illegal Strike

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 16.—Six men belonging to the Amalgamated Engineering union, and a woman member of the Transport General Workers' union were ordered to trial today on a charge of unlawfully taking part in a strike. They were accused of striking after a colleague had been dismissed for being 2 hours and 8 minutes late for work.

ENGLAND ELATED OVER U. S. SEIZURE OF FRENCH SHIPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 16.—Considerable satisfaction was expressed today over President Roosevelt's seizure of French ships in American ports and his warning to the Vichy government that connivance with German military operations is incompatible with the status of a neutral.

Even more interesting seemed to be the news that the United States is seriously considering "protecting the straits of Dakar"—described in official circles as the body of water between that city in French West Africa and Brazil. Nazi domination of Dakar, it was said, "would represent a grave danger to the United States."

The United States and Britain are acting in close collaboration on the French question, diplomatic writers said. President Roosevelt's warning to Vichy, it was noted, followed by a few hours British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's blunt statements about the French in the house of commons.

WOODRING ASKS NATION TO WAR ONLY IN DEFENSE

Urges 2 Ocean Navy and Speedy Armament.

Lecompton, Kas., May 16 (AP).—Harry H. Woodring, former secretary of war in President Roosevelt's cabinet, said tonight "time is America's bulwark for freedom—time to arm, to build, and to make the western hemisphere impregnable."

"Time is the best antiseptic against the speeches of some of the excited gentlemen of Washington.

"Americans of the middle west are not afraid of war, but they want to be convinced that American defenses are adequate for war, that the war is a defensive war, and that a war is necessary to protect the principles and the rights of freedom for Americans."

Forced Out of Cabinet.

Woodring, who was forced out of the cabinet to make room for Secretary Henry L. Stimson and who blamed his ouster on "a small clique of international financiers who want the United States to declare war," spoke at high school commencement exercises.

"Some of us feel," he said, "that America is being geared to wartime production as fast as the transition period from peace to war in a democracy will permit and do not feel that further participation in war would deliver any faster the materials of war to aid Britain."

The former Kansas governor said the policy of the Monroe Doctrine is one "that certainly requires our defenses be adequate."

"America must not have any fallen Jugo-Slavias or Greeces strewn along the path of promises in the western hemisphere.

Time Needed to Prepare.

"Only a two-ocean navy, the most powerful air force in the world, backed by an enlarged army, can back up America's guarantees to the western hemisphere. Only time can furnish these necessary defenses."

The nation's leadership must insist on loyal, patriotic sacrifices from labor and industry—"the same that leadership has demanded and drafted from the youth of America," he asserted.

"That means sacrifices in profits and wages as they patriotically serve their country without guarantees of profits and without strikes to validate their patriotism.

"The middle west is as patriotic as any section of the nation but their experience of the last world war has taught them that patriotism will not be tolerated which is predicated on huge profits for industry, exorbitant wages for labor, at the same time giving only 85 per cent of parity for agriculture as it patriotically serves.

"Time will enable our great humane, class equality, individual welfare conscious President to adequately appraise each group's claims and interests and see to it that there is no price on patriotism."

77 W. Washington St., Chicago, Ill.

Form letter being distributed by the Citizens Keep America Out of War committee to be signed and mailed to the President at the White House.

Earl Southard, secretary of the Citizens Keep America Out of War committee, said yesterday the campaign of distributing form letters to be sent to the President asking that he keep the United States out of European politics and the present war has met with unusually heavy response.

"Thus far we have mailed out 1,350,000 of the letters to 8,722 towns and cities thruout the country," he said. "We have every reason to believe that at least a million of the letters have been sent to the President."

Southard said the committee hopes to have at least 5 million of the letters reach the President by the end of the month. He said 72 organizations thruout the country are cooperating with the committee in distributing the letters.

Senate Accepts Reynolds as Military Affairs Head

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—The senate approved today the assignment of Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] as chairman of the military affairs committee.

ILLINOIS LEGION POSTS PROTEST CONVOY PLANS

Criticize Resolution of the National Group.

Illinois American Legion posts have started a campaign to prevent the use of navy vessels to convoy war materials to Europe. Their campaign is a reply to a resolution adopted by the executive committee of the legion in Indianapolis recently.

This resolution urged "delivery" of all aid to Great Britain and her allies. It did not use the word convoys, but such an interpretation has been given the resolution by legion members.

Protest Sent to Officials.

The Fox River post, No. 75, of the legion in Geneva yesterday sent copies of a resolution protesting convoys to the President, senators, representatives and officials of the legion. The resolution stated that a ban on convoys would best preserve the principles of freedom. F. L. Davis of Geneva is the post commander.

The Mel Tierney post in Park Ridge sent a resolution to the executive board declaring that the executive committee exceeded its authority in recommending the use of convoys. "The executive committee had no right to commit the legion to such a policy, without first polling the posts thruout the country," the resolution asserted. C. O. Michaelson of Park Ridge is the post commander.

The Square post, No. 232, on the south side, with a membership of more than 800, has addressed a protest to the national commander on his actions and public utterances. The members instructed Henry G. Beckman, post commander, to send copies of the protest to other legion officials.

Legion Bears Criticism.

"The national commander should relinquish his right to speak as a private citizen during his tenure in office because he is at all times referred to as the national commander and the Legion must bear the criticism," said the resolution.

"The matter of entering war is a controversial subject and, we believe, against the wishes of the membership. We ask that the national commander discontinue his present course, at least until such time as adequate steps have been taken to determine the rank and file sentiment of our organization."

Another post protesting against convoys was the Walter R. Craig post of Rockford.

IT TAKES A LOT OF DOING, BUT MA SEES ARMY SON

Private Jack Corcoran of Fort Riley, Kas., helped his mother, Mrs. Anna M. Corcoran, celebrate her 63d birthday in Chicago yesterday. But it took the help of the Army, the TWA airline and his banker to do it.

Yesterday afternoon over W-G-N, Jack told how he left his home in Ridley township, Pa., on March 12, to take the physical examination required by his draft board. He did not tell his mother for fear of worrying her. He did not return home that night because he was inducted immediately into the army and sent to Camp Lee, Va. Five days later he was ordered to Fort Riley, Kas.

Anxious to make amends for not saying good-bye to his mother, he obtained a furlough to come here, wired his home town bank to use most of his $71 savings to purchase her an airline ticket to Chicago, and then borrowed $18 from a Kansas City airline clerk to fly here himself. Jack and his mother both arrived yesterday.

STORM DAMAGES 2 AIRPORTS; SET LOSS AT $250,000

The 77 mile an hour winds Thursday destroyed 40 airplanes, blew down four hangars on Chicagoland airports, wrecked hundreds of chimneys, smashed windows and left many outlying highways blocked by fallen trees, a survey showed yesterday. The city's loss was estimated at $250,000.

Of this amount, $150,000 damage was done at Rubinkam airport, 167th street and Western avenue, and at Lewis airport, just outside Lockport. Three new hangars and 33 airplanes were destroyed or damaged at Rubinkam field and another hangar and seven ships at Lewis field.

The lightning and wind wrecked a 12 story construction elevator alongside the United States customs house at Harrison and Canal streets. Canal street was shut off to traffic yesterday while the upper part of the elevator was being dismantled.

The same storm struck Columbus, O., late yesterday, repeating the destruction wrought here. It was reported that trees were uprooted and small farm buildings ripped from their foundations in a region of 200 square miles near Columbus.

'I'M AN AMERICAN' TO BE MORE THAN SONG TOMORROW

Chicago Patriots to Live Role at Big Rally.

"I Am An American" day will be celebrated tomorrow afternoon in Soldier's field with entertainment and speeches. The event is designed as a patriotic festival which does not take sides in the peace versus war issue. The program will begin at 1 p. m. Admission is free.

William S. Knudsen, co-director of the defense super-agency, the Office of Production Management [OPM], is scheduled to speak. His speech will be broadcast exclusively by Mutual stations at 3 p. m. At 7 p. m. a recording of the address will be heard over W-G-N.

Other speakers will include Gov. Green, Mayor Kelly, and representatives of several religious denominations.

Citizenship Group Aiding.

One of the organizations cooperating in "I Am An American" day is the Illinois Citizenship conference, which includes representatives of many civic groups interested in improving citizenship standards. Attorney Charles B. Elder, the chairman, said the organization had sponsored an amendment transferring Citizenship day from October to the third Sunday in May.

"Hundreds of new voters who have within the last year reached the age of 21 or been naturalized will attend Sunday's program," Elder said. "We had intended to give them our pledge for new voters, but we have been told that it will be impossible to do this because of the multiplicity of other ceremonies. Originally our organization alone had the permit to use Soldiers' field on May 18, but we canceled it when we decided we lacked time for adequate preparations."

Famous Stars to Appear.

Entertainment features will be contributed by Helen Hayes, starring here in "Twelfth Night"; Pat O'Brien, motion picture actor; Ethel Waters, appearing in "Cabin in the Sky"; Jan Kiepura, opera singer; John Boles and his Sixteen Commanders, a male chorus, and other stars.

Also engaged for the event are Paul Whiteman and his orchestra and a Chicago Federation of Musicians' band of 40 men. Drum and bugle corps and drill teams of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars are scheduled to perform, as are national groups in native costume.

Choirs on the program include the Bohemian singing society "Lyra," the Ukranian combined choirs of 100 voices, the Lithuanian Pirmyn chorus of 100, and the 50 singers in the Chicago Urban league's "Sharps and Flats" section.

Sunday night after the program Gov. Green and members of the Illinois legislature will depart for Camp Forrest, Tullahoma, Tenn., where a review will be staged in their honor by the federalized 33d division, Illinois National Guard.

GREEN ATTACKS VINSON BILL TO FORBID STRIKES

A warning that American labor will not stand for the "no strike" Vinson bill was delivered yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a speech before the Executives Club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman.

"This bill [the Vinson measure] would deprive workingmen of their fundamental rights to strike," he declared. "Read your own minds. If you are asked to help your government—you'll do it willingly. If you're made to do it—and punished if you don't—

"If this legislation is passed they'll have to build more and bigger prisons to hold the workingmen who don't believe in that kind of thing."

Green declared the united front of labor and capital can be achieved thru a two-point program: [1] Recognition of mutual dependence and respect and recognition of each other's rights; and, [2] Institution of the peaceful processes of collective bargaining as the permanent method of stabilizing industrial relations.

U. S. IS IN DANGER, NAVAL COLLEGE IS TOLD BY KNOX

Newport, R. I., May 16 (AP).—Declaring that "new factors" have arisen in recent hours, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox asserted today that "it is utterly impossible to exaggerate the moral danger of our country in this moment of history."

Knox made these statements to the graduating class of the naval war college, after finishing his prepared address. Apparently pointing to France, he said that "what seems to be the subjugation of a once great nation appears to be accomplished," but that "new factors have entered into this subjugation."

"In Washington," he continued, "our commander in chief has on his shoulders a frightful burden, probably heavier than ever has been carried before. Regardless of our feelings or political affiliations, we owe that man every measure of support possible.

"Ours is not to count the cost. Ours is to remember that freedom was given us as a previous heritage."

Father Makes Claim

Capt. Hugh A. McKinley, a surgeon in the medical corps at Fort Sheridan, yesterday became the legal father of his two nieces, Nancy Evans, 9 years old, and Virginia, 8. He is unmarried. Judge William L. Pierce of Belvidere, sitting in Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan, entered an adoption decree in Capt. McKinley's favor over the protests of the children's real father, Andrew J. Evans, an attorney of Hammond, Ind.

Evans won a divorce in January, 1936, from the children's mother, Mrs. Adelaide McKinley Evans. He has since remarried and has two children, Andrew Jr., 18 months old, and Daniel Stephen, 6 months, by his second wife. The first Mrs. Evans lives with her daughters, her mother, Mrs. Hanna McKinley, and her brothers, Capt. Hugh and Frank A., a lawyer, at 597 Glenview avenue, Highland Park.

Judge Pierce found that Capt. McKinley has been the sole support of the children since June, 1935. He decided that by adoption the children will be made secure in the only home they have known. The McKinley family was represented by Attorney William T. Kirby.

SOME QUESTIONS ON SOLDIER QUIZ LIST ARE BARRED

Memphis, Tenn., May 16 [Special].—Officers of the 2d army, headquarters here, said today they had eliminated as leading certain questions in a questionnaire circulated among soldiers at Camp Forrest, Tenn., by a fact finding organization.

The survey was being conducted for a magazine by a Princeton, N. J., organization. The omission of some questions was ordered when the questionnaire was submitted for official approval, which was required before permission was granted to make the survey.

The army high command in Washington, D. C., previously was reported to have given orders that interviewers be prohibited from asking soldiers what they think about their prospects of fighting a war in Europe.

INVESTIGATE MYSTERY SHOOTING.

Police yesterday were investigating the shooting of Michael Scaramuzzi, 25 years old, 314 South Spaulding avenue, who was found in the passageway next to the building at 1908 Bissell street earlier in the day with a bullet wound in his left leg.

DOCTOR DISSECTS WAR PROPAGANDA AND FINDS A CURE

Free Discussion Called Antidote of Poison.

Despite the fact that the majority of the American people oppose United States entry into the war, the nation today is "on the very verge of war—the victim of the sharpest, slickest confidence racket the world has ever witnessed," Dr. Linn F. Cooper asserted last night. Dr. Cooper, who took a vacation from his medical practice in Washington, D. C., to conduct a "one man crusade against war mongers," spoke in the North Side auditorium under the sponsorship of the Lincoln park chapter of the America First committee. About 1,000 persons jammed the auditorium.

Dr. Linn F. Cooper.

The "confidence racket" to which Dr. Cooper referred is run, he said, by foreign propagandists who deal in "slick, fancy, phony words and evasive answers—whose stock in trade is that of the old time confidence man."

Old Tricks Get New Suckers.

"They are members of the same old gang of foreign bunko-steerers that was there [in Washington] 25 years ago," Dr. Cooper said, "and they are playing the same old game with the same old bag of tricks. It worked before. Why shouldn't it now?"

Calling upon the American people to demand to know the truth from their employés who hold government office, Dr. Cooper cited—and answered—six examples of propaganda slogans which have proved effective:

1. "Britain is our first line of defense." Dr. Cooper termed this the "bogey man" type of propaganda in reminding his audience that the German army has not been able to cross the English channel, let alone the Atlantic ocean.

2. "Make the world safe for democracy." The bungling of our last attempt to do that should make Americans wary, Dr. Cooper said.

Raps Fatalistic Psychology.

3. "We can't stay out." This slogan is an application of the psychological principle that a statement, repeated often enough, becomes reality in the minds of the listeners. Already it has made many Americans apathetic in their opposition to war, the speaker said.

4. The use of the term "Nazi" for all who honestly oppose war, believing America's welfare to be most important. "Honest opposition is not treason," Dr. Cooper said.

5. "The American people will not stand for seeing their arms shipments sunk." Dr. Cooper reminded his audience that the lend-lease bill provides that Britain shall "come and get it," and that President Roosevelt himself has said that convoys mean war, to which the people are opposed.

Calls Free Discussion Vital.

6. "To discuss this question is to split the nation." Not to discuss it, the speaker declared, would be to sound the death knell of democracy.

"The question of war must be discussed freely and openly," Dr. Cooper said. "The people must have the facts. Discussion brings understanding. This is the American way. Then, when the people have made up their minds, a policy toward this war will be adopted which represents the wishes of three out of four people, instead of one out of four. Only then shall we have effective unity of action."

MAGAZINE COMPANY PRESIDENT GIVES UP STAND AGAINST WAR

Seattle, Wash., May 16 (AP).—Walter D. Fuller, president of the National Association of Manufacturers and of the Curtis Publishing company, said today in an interview:

"I have been consistently an isolationist. So has the Saturday Evening Post—altho that policy will change next week.

"But we're in war now. We're like a man who has jumped off a springboard and hasn't yet touched the water. He isn't wet, but he hasn't a chance of getting back on the springboard again."

An open letter from Mrs. Emmons Blaine to the Citizens and to the Congress of the United States on declaring war now

My dear fellow citizens:

I am wanting to share with you a letter which I have sent to each member of the Congress of the United States for such interest as it may have for you in our common great crisis.

"To the Congress of the United States:

"On the question of the relation of the United States to the war now in the world I have been feeling the impact of opinions expressed in our country so variously from the extreme points of the isolationists to the recently formed Committee to Fight for Freedom. I feel thankful that each can freely express his thought with no let or hindrance.

"I have not seen clearly what our ultimate course should be. The all-aid to Britain has been so sure as to be almost satisfying.

"I feel horror in the facts of war. I feel greater horror that war can still be the process for decisions between men.

"Out of the welter of facts and of thoughts there now comes to me clearly the conviction that the United States should now declare war against what is being done and attempted by the forces of aggression in the world.

"This to array the United States in the struggle on the side where the United States belongs; and to add the full force of the United States to help those free peoples who are now holding the line of freedom.

"There are two fundamental principles at issue today. One is freedom; or prevention of the domination of men by men. The other is truth; or the prevention of the triumph of falsehood.

"These two principles constitute the foundation on which human society can be built. Their loss would undermine the possibility of the continuation and construction of the human society we have seen and worked for.

"In the efforts of the aggressors many units of free society have been undermined. They are proceeding to carry on their process as far as possible on the earth.

"We are the heirs of these qualities: initiative, independence, determination, courage. Our institutions are the outgrowth of these qualities.

"We are the heirs of these objectives:

Freedom for all;
Opportunity for all;
Education for all;
Protection for all.

These qualities and these objectives are being attacked.

"It is not the land we live on; it is the life we live on it that matters. This life and the similar life of others is being attacked. We are being attacked.

"We are an able people. We can accomplish great things. When we put our hands to a plow we do not turn back. We should now take our full responsibility.

"For the instantaneous, beneficial effect for the world, in this course, I would rather risk the present effects of our former delays than the future effect of longer waiting for our complete action.

"It has become clear to me that we should wait no longer but should declare war at once against those countries who have followed their rulers in the subjugation of free countries by force; and against those rulers who have betrayed the world by their falsehoods.

"And that it should be stated that it is against the extension of these practices that we are declaring war.

"And that it should be understood with the other democracies that in the arrangements after the war the United States has a part.

"I put this conviction which has come to me before everyone freely for whatever it may mean to each one and for such action in our nation, for our nation and for the world as may be the judgment of the majority of our people.

"In the high purpose of defending freedom and truth on this earth, and in the faith that light will be given for the steps to take, we should now declare war on those who are attacking our principles and let come what must.

"In the wealth of our heritage of principle may our contribution in this generation be worthy of our great past."

I am faithfully yours,

Anita McCormick Blaine

TWO SENTENCED IN 1938 ABORTION CASE STILL FREE

Crime Commission Bares Dilatory Record.

Nearly two and one-half years ago two north side physicians were convicted of performing a criminal abortion which almost cost a young woman her life. They were sentenced to prison terms of one to 10 years, but to date have never spent a night behind prison bars.

This record of immunity, accomplished thru various legal maneuvers, was disclosed yesterday in a bulletin of the Chicago Crime commission. The bulletin also revealed that only Thursday the Illinois Supreme court granted the doctors an additional 90 days of grace for the preparation of a new petition.

Sentenced to Prison in 1938.

The defendants were Dr. Peter B. Schyman, who has offices at 1869 North Damen avenue, and an associate, Dr. Horace B. Hannon. They were convicted by a jury on Oct. 26, 1938, and sentenced to prison on Dec. 3 of that year.

The complainants were Ernest Newton, who has since moved to New York, and a young woman friend. According to the state's attorney's records, they visited Dr. Schyman on Feb. 14, 1938, after the woman had discovered she was expecting a baby.

They were advised by Dr. Schyman that she needed "home treatment," that he never treated such patients at home, but that his associate, Dr. Hannon, would do so. Dr. Hannon, according to the record, was a former railroad surgeon employed by Dr. Schyman at $4 a day.

At subsequent conferences, the record relates, Newton discussed the matter of cost with Dr. Schyman, and a fee of $75 was finally agreed upon. On Feb. 18 when Newton told Dr. Schyman the young woman was "not feeling well," the physician said "everything was fixed."

Operation Performed in Home.

Dr. Hannon subsequently visited her twice in her home, performing an abortion, according to the evidence. On Feb. 26 she became ill with a high fever and was taken to St. Anne's hospital where her condition was discovered, leading to the arrest of the physicians.

Following their conviction there were eight continuances and stays until the case finally reached the Supreme court where the conviction was affirmed on April 10, 1940. On the following Oct. 14 the court denied a rehearing.

Since then there have been additional stays, a plea to the board of pardons for executive clemency, and the latest action, another 90 day stay granted by the Supreme court. Attorney William McKinley, former speaker of the Illinois house of representatives who is representing the defendants, said the last stay was granted to allow him to file any action he chose, including a petition for a writ to reopen the case on the basis of newly discovered evidence. The two defendants are free under bonds of $2,500 each.

WARD HEARINGS TO OPEN MONDAY ON ZONING LAW

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell, chairman of the council subcommittee on rezoning, announced yesterday that the proposed rezoning ordinance has been completed and public hearings will start Monday morning. The subcommittee has been working on the measure for 18 months.

Lindell said a public hearing will be held for every ward in the city, beginning Monday with the 9th ward.

Under the present zoning ordinance 5 per cent of the city area is set aside for residential use, 48 per cent for apartments, 17 per cent commercial, 24 per cent manufacturing, and 6 per cent for streets.

"Those proportions are out of line," Lindell said. "If the apartment districts were all built in apartments we would have room for 45,000,000 persons. The commercial areas allowed would provide one store for every two people in the city. Space for single family dwellings was woefully lacking."

HEART ATTACK PROVES FATAL.

Bridges Flies East

Harry Bridges, the west coast CIO labor leader who is fighting deportation because of his alleged communistic activities, passed thru Chicago last night on his trip by airplane to New York. On his arrival in the eastern city Bridges refused to explain the purpose of his trip.

In New York, however, a CIO spokesman said Bridges made the trip to confer with Philip Murray and John L. Lewis, CIO chiefs, in connection with his activities as CIO director in California. It was reported he planned to discuss the shipyards strike in San Francisco, in which CIO machinists have joined A. F. of L. workers who started it.

Examiner Charles B. Sears, who is hearing the deportation proceedings against Bridges in San Francisco, Cal., said the labor leader had been excused from yesterday's hearing on his plea of union business. Sears said he was not told of Bridges' trip and that, altho he was "surprised," he could see nothing improper in it.

QUIZ HIS LIEUTENANT.

San Francisco, Cal., May 16 [Special].—Henry Schmidt, first lieutenant of Harry Bridges, alien CIO director, denied at the latter's deportation hearing today that Pacific waterfront labor was communistically inclined. Yesterday he contradicted government testimony that he and Bridges attended communist meetings in west coast cities.

Schmidt, president of the San Francisco local of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union which Bridges heads, was under sharp cross examination as the hearing ended its sixth week.

Prosecutor Albert Del Guercio asked Schmidt whether his union had not been invited by the friends of soviet Russia to send a representative to Russia after the 1934 waterfront strike. Schmidt said he could not recall how the matter came up but expressed certainty that such a proposal had not been made by Bridges.

30 TRICKY GENTS HAVE TIME WITH A WRIST WATCH

But a Kibitzing Reporter Has Last Laugh.

BY WARD WALKER.

Self-styled "legerdemainiacs," 30 members of the Chicago branch of the Society of American Magicians, met last night in the Morrison hotel for a lot of horseplay and a little business.

There were no exhibitions scheduled; it was election night for the society and everything was to be strictly business. But—

A reporter entered and the sight of a gullible stranger was too much. The reporter had time to notice that most of the members, including manufacturers, salesmen, a chemist, and a minister, wore baggy clothes—and that there wasn't a sourpuss in the crowd.

They're a Tricky Set.

Then Eugene Bernstein, an attorney, took the reporter's arm and started introducing him. When Earl Leamon, treasurer of the Chicago Chemists' club, was reached, the reporter was startled to see his wrist watch in Leamon's hand.

The magicians made Houdini look like a piker. That watch disappeared up sleeves, passed from hand to hand, came out from behind ears, and finally ended up in the worried reporter's pocket.

The meeting was called to order. Next to the reporter sat Earl Adcock, a salesman, with a friendly, guileless face. A rope kept appearing and disappearing in his hands. Apparently annoyed at the rope, Adcock cut it and handed the reporter the two ends. Adcock touched the rope and it suddenly was one piece again.

The meeting progressed. Art Foosner, treasurer of the society, was counting $5 bills presented for dues.

"Any danger of his sense of humor starting those bills floating around the room, into pockets, etc.?" the reporter asked.

Real Money Pays Dues.

In small groups, even as the meeting continued, the magicians amused and amazed each other. Half dollars changed into Chinese coins, became 10 cent pieces, and ended up as dollars. [Note to treasury agents: apparently.]

The only embarrassing event of the evening occurred when Bernstein was caught trying to remove the reporter's ring. He blushed because he'd fumbled. He still doesn't know that, barring amputation, that ring just won't come off.

Officers finally were elected. They are: Tony Novak, president; Jim Sherman and James P. Quam, vice presidents; George Turner, secretary; Warren Smith, assistant secretary; Vic Torsberg, director, and Foosner, treasurer.

Wins Estate Reward

Curtis Ehrenstrom, 1141 North Central avenue, yesterday received a check for $100 from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE as his reward for submitting the clew which led to the settlement of the estate of Ellen Ehrenstrom, listed among the Heirs Wanted estates described in a series of articles published in the Graphic section of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. The check was presented to Ehrenstrom by Judge John F. O'Connell of the Cook county Probate court, who approved the report of David J. A. Hayes, Probate court referee, listing ten heirs to the estate who have been found.

Mrs. Ehrenstrom died in Chicago Jan. 22, 1933, and the estate was declared closed with no heirs being found on Nov. 28, 1939. The estate was described in THE TRIBUNE on Feb. 16, and Ehrenstrom immediately sent a telegram, followed by a letter, offering clews. Ehrenstrom himself is one of the heirs and will receive one thirty-second of the estate.

ABORTION CASE SLAYING TO GO TO GRAND JURY

Judge Jay A. Schiller of the Felony court yesterday dismissed a murder charge against Daniel Moriarity, suspended state's attorney's detective, when informed that his case will be presented to the grand jury on Wednesday.

Daniel Moriarity.

Moriarity shot and killed Miss Ada Jane Martin, 24 years old, while intending, he said, to slay her mother, Mrs. Ada Martin, under indictment as the alleged head of a million dollar loop abortion ring. He had previously been held to the grand jury by the coroner's jury. Moriarity confessed he was paid $100 a month by Mrs. Martin.

Charges against others accused in the abortion case were continued until June 3. They were Louis Piquett, a disbarred lawyer; Mrs. Roberta Powell, colored; Mrs. Anna Blosser, Mrs. Edna Bullock, Miss Marie Larson, and Mrs. Catherine Heideman.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR ILLINOIS AND CHICAGO

Save Our Republic

A PEOPLE DECEIVED BY THEIR GOVERNMENT.

The senate has passed Mr. Roosevelt's ship seizure bill without the amendment proposed by Senator Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, and Senator Clark, Democrat of Missouri, prohibiting the transfer of Italian and German ships to the British. The war party had a close call on that. Senator George of Georgia, the chairman of the foreign relations committee, acknowledged that the seizure of belligerent ships was the right of a belligerent and, therefore, the act of a belligerent.

Thirty-eight senators were impressed by the seriousness of the situation which the unamended bill created, and voted for the restriction, unavailingly, however, against the 43 who accepted all the consequences contained in the grant of authority for an act of war. Mr. Roosevelt will have the approval of congress to commit an act of war. His steps are no longer short of it.

When Mr. Roosevelt, on Sept. 21, 1939, three weeks after the war began in Europe, presented his demand for repeal of the neutrality law and the substitution of his program for it, he said: "To those who say that this program would involve a step toward war on our part, I reply that it offers far greater safeguards than we now possess or have ever possessed to protect American lives and property from danger. It is a positive program for giving safety. This means less likelihood of incidents and controversies which tend to draw us into conflict, as they did in the last world war. There lies the road to peace."

From that moment to the present day, everything promised by Mr. Roosevelt and his cabinet officers has been revealed as deceptive and made of bad faith. Everything said of his program by the opposition, from the first legislative act to the present, has been verified by events.

In the senate debate in October, 1939, Senator Donahey of Ohio said: "If cash and carry is adopted in 1939, we may have cash and credit in 1940, and cash and boys in 1941."

Senator Donahey was right. The cash and carry of Mr. Roosevelt's original proposal which was to keep us out of war, was changed by him in January, 1940, by the introduction in congress of the lease-lend bill giving him dictatorial powers. He was able to sign it March 11. The cash was on its way. He then passed quickly to the man power which was to supplement the mopey.

The draft bill was introduced June 21 and passed September 14. Meanwhile the National Guard had been called to service. The boys were on their way. And Mr. Roosevelt had done a thing which he had said was silly. He had taken over naval and aviation bases essential to the defense of the United States in the western hemisphere, not because these bases were essential to American security—a proposal he had rejected—but because the transaction enabled him to give 50 American destroyers to the British navy. The ships were on their way. The good he did to his own country flowed not from his intention but from his desire to put American naval forces at the disposal of the British.

Mr. Roosevelt in his first pretenses of preserving the neutrality of the United States had used his authority to define the war zones into which American ships might not enter. On April 11 of this year, after the war had been transferred to North Africa, Egypt, and the region of the Suez, he used his authority again and opened the Red sea, a combat zone, to American shipping, proclaiming that it should no longer be unlawful for any citizen of the United States, or vessel, or aircraft to proceed into that area. Ships, men, and material were on their way.

On June 24, 1940, Mr. Roosevelt was informed by his attorney general, Robert H. Jackson, that the release of 20 new torpedo boats in building for the American navy by the Electric Boat company would be illegal. He temporarily bowed to that opinion. Recently Secretary of the Navy Knox announced that the boats were on their way into British service. The record of deception covers the entire period of the war.

When the senate was debating the first war step—the repeal of the neutrality act—Senator Clark of Missouri caught the significance of what was then being done by Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson, war bird predecessor of Mr. Stimson in the war department. Senator Clark remarked that Johnson had been flying around the country seeking to inflame the people as to the safety of their own shores by comparing the United States with Poland and picturing the destruction caused by invading bombers. Later Mr. Roosevelt was to take the same line. He bombed Omaha.

A design to accomplish just what is being accomplished is plainly apparent in every part of the record. Each move of Mr. Roosevelt and his war party belied the promises which preceded it. The pretense in September, 1939, when the first disguised warlike act was committed involving a deluded people was fully exposed in June the following year when Mr. Roosevelt cabled the appealing premier of France, Reynaud, that every resource of the United States would be put at his disposal if France would keep up the fight.

The tactics by which a nation can be led into war in spite of the pledges against it and in spite of the people's will to avoid it offers a fine example of the art of deception unscrupulously applied.

In the propaganda department of the government which has so systematically deceived and deluded the people as to its purposes, the Vice President, Mr. Wallace, and Mr. Hull, Mr. Stimson, Mr. Knox, Mr. Wickard, and Mr. Roosevelt's phony campaign opponent, Mr. Willkie, have been used. They have been supported by the old men and lady emotionalists, clamoring that the nation undertake a sacrifice for which it is wholly unprepared.

Mr. Roosevelt has denounced as infamous the suggestion that he was preparing the American youth for sacrifices abroad: "I shall say it again, and again, and again, your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars. They are going into training to form a force so strong that by its very existence it will keep the threat of war far away from our shores." "The first purpose of our foreign policy is to keep our country out of war." "It is for peace that I have labored. It is for peace that I shall labor all the days of my life."

The proxy voices which are endeavoring to bring the country into a mood to hear Mr. Roosevelt's final pronouncement, betraying these and every other peaceful promise he has made to the people, say again, and again, and again that unless the United States enters into full participation in this war this country is doomed.

The first war step, taken in September, 1939, disguised as a move to protect the peace of this country, started off these alarms as a side show. Now it is all going on under the main tent and Mr. Roosevelt hesitates to make the final declaration himself. His hesitation does not conceal the record which leads up to it but it still contains encouragement for the Americans who opposed him at the beginning for the very good reasons which they see about them verified today.

BOMBING RESULTS COMPARED.

Bombing of civilian populations has become such an important part of the war technique that one important index of the tide of the war is the relative amount of damage done by each adversary in the enemy country. If accurate figures were made available by the belligerents, such a comparison could be made in terms of casualties and property destroyed. But the toll taken by enemy bombers and the money value of the wealth destroyed are regarded as military secrets. The military authorities in the warring countries measure their own bombing efforts and those of their opponents by the number of bombs dropped.

Mr. John Cowles, publisher of the Minneapolis Star and Journal, who accompanied Mr. Willkie on his visit to England earlier this year, obtained authentic information upon the extent of the bombs received and delivered by the British. Mr. Cowles made the information public in a speech in New York City a few weeks ago. He said that down to the time of his visit, the Germans had dropped 5 times as many bombs as the British had, but 4/5 of the British bombs were directed at the channel ports and only 1/5 at objectives in Germany. Thus the British have suffered 25 times as much from air attacks from the Germans as the Germans have suffered from the hands of the British. The ratio which the British have to overcome in the air, measured by bombs delivered in the home country, is 1 to 25.

It is a truism that to win the war the British must gain such supremacy in the air as to be able to deliver against the enemy in his homeland more than he can deliver against them. To do so they must overcome odds of 25 to 1. Those who propose that we make war on Germany to save England are asking that we risk all in a bet on what is by attained results a very long shot.

GOOD NEWS FROM DETROIT.

The alliance of crime and politics in Detroit is not prospering at the moment. A former prosecutor, Duncan C. McCrea, and a former sheriff, Thomas C. Wilcox, have been convicted of taking $140,000 to protect vice and gambling. They have now been sentenced to serve from 4½ to 5 years in prison and to pay fines of $2,000.

That ought to help and it will if the community will remain vigilant. Their alliance is mutually advantageous to gangsters and office holders only so long as the voters are indifferent. If the politicians have reason to expect that they will serve a long stretch in the penitentiary for befriending criminals, the protection of criminal activities will cease promptly.

What has been accomplished in Detroit can be achieved in any other city whose people are determined to protect themselves from thieves and grafters. The success with which Thomas Dewey broke up the politico-criminal ring in New York shows that even in the largest cities the problem is not insoluble. Great cities can be cleaned up and they can be kept clean if the people are so minded.

WHAT IS THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE?

[N. Y. Herald Tribune.]

The congress has legislated several times in the last year about the western hemisphere without, however, attempting to define its boundaries. The bill authorizing the summoning to active service of the National Guard and reserve units provided that the men so summoned "shall not be employed beyond the limits of the western hemisphere except in the territories and possessions of the United States." The selective-service act has a similar provision. Now a resolution, which has been before congress since last June, to reaffirm formally the Monroe Doctrine has been passed with the words "this hemisphere" very carefully substituted for "western hemisphere." The resolution says that the United States would not recognize "any transfer and would not acquiesce in any attempt to transfer any geographical region in this hemisphere from one non-American power to another non-American power." It provides further for immediate consultation with the other American republics "if such transfer or attempt to transfer should appear likely."

Representative James A. Shanley of Connecticut, gathered some illuminating data from naval and government authorities as to what acceptance of the mapmakers' boundaries of the western hemisphere might involve. The usual custom of the mapmakers is to divide the world into two hemispheres bounded by the meridians 20 degrees west of Greenwich and 160 degrees east of Greenwich. These limits would include Greenland, part of Iceland, the Azores and the Cape Verde Islands in the western hemisphere. Germany is said to look upon the Cape Verde Islands and the Azores with a covetous eye. Would we or the South American nations oppose by force their capture or expropriation by Germany? On the Pacific ocean side these meridian boundaries would include part of Siberia, all of New Zealand, many island groups in the South Pacific and even some Japanese mandates—obviously an impossible set of boundaries from a political standpoint. The international date line, which, however, has never been officially adopted, conforms better to general conceptions of the Pacific ocean boundaries of the western hemisphere. . . .

It is perhaps as well that the Monroe Doctrine is now formally applied to "this hemisphere" rather than to the western hemisphere. At least there is no mapmaker's precedent for including New Zealand and part of Siberia in it.

TWISTING THE EAGLE'S NECK.

According to a dispatch from Washington, the secretary of the navy has decreed that the eagle on navy insignia and uniform buttons has been facing the wrong way since its birth and must be changed. The eagle's attitude [head toward left of wearer, toward right of observer] is declared to be a violation of the laws of heraldry.

Pardon us while we turn as purple over this reform as any retired admiral. Wrong? Laws of heraldry? Why, the American eagle got that way by defying the laws of heraldry in the American revolution!

Furthermore, no one, not even a learned secretary of the navy fresh from a luncheon with Lord Halifax, has any business to speak glibly of "the laws" of heraldic design. Customs and lore, yes; laws, no.

It is true that almost all of the beasts, birds, and mythical creatures used in heraldry are depicted as facing to the right of the bearer of the shield, and to the left of the observer. But there are exceptions, which are "legalized" merely by proper description. Occasionally you will find a lion looking backward, and when you call him "regardant" everything is O. K. in the college of heralds.

There is consolation, however, in the thought that this incident may have the happy result of providing the personnel of the navy with an appropriate nickname for the secretary. It should, of course, be "Buttons."

AMERICA FIRST.

Let us go into the far pasture tomorrow
And drive the flocks across the farther hills;
Let us plow deep and long each yellow furrow
And leave this field for factories and mills;
Let us go into the far pasture singing
And take the moon, and stars, and sun along,
Let us set all the halls of heaven ringing
And build a mighty nation with a song.

Today, however, while there still is light,
Let us go to the smithy down the lane;
Take him our swords and guns . . . and in the night
He'll fashion plows and pruning hooks again.
This is our hope and yonder is new earth,
A challenge to our stature and our girth!

Party Girl Reports on Lecture.

"You missed a marvelous speech," she cried, "and I certainly appreciated the use of your ticket. Being a foreign correspondent must be just too thrilling, especially for a woman."

"What did she have to say?" I asked eagerly.

"O, she talked for two hours about the most interesting things. But, my dear, her hat, it resembled nothing less than an abandoned stork's nest. If you can imagine any one just coming back from Paris with a hat like that!"

"Did she say how she was able to get all those pictures out of the country?"

"Well, I just don't remember, but I imagine she sewed them into her clothes and hasn't removed some of them yet. No one could possibly have a figure like that . . . all funny bulges."

"But what did she have to say about the food situation in Europe?"

"Food? That reminds me. We had the cutest cakes with our tea afterward. I always say the only possible reason I can see for tea is to use it in telling fortunes. But the cakes really were delicious."

"But what are the chances for an early peace? Did she offer any hope?" I asked desperately.

"Peace?" she repeated vaguely. "I do remember that she mentioned something about it just as the two women in front of me began whispering scandal. I couldn't possibly listen to everything at the same time, and anyway I knew if there were peace we were bound to read about it in the papers. Well, darling, I guess that covers about everything of importance."

SEASON FOR SAILING.

This is the season for sailing—
O, this is the season for me;
Gone is the winter wind's wailing—
Hark to the song of the sea!
"Rub-a-dub-dub,
Three men in a tub"—
O, this is the life for me!

Are the sequin stars still shining
In the velvet, tropic sky?
Are hibiscus blossoms flaming
Where the azure waters lie?
Do the storms come up like lightning
And fade away as soon?
Does the Southern Cross still rival
The Caribbean moon?

O, bell out the canvas for sailing—
Let's off to the tropics to see
If the wind, and the waves, and the weather
Are just as they used to be!
"Rub-a-dub-dub,
Three men in a tub"—

TIME TO THINK ABOUT POISON IVY.

It is probably not too early to sound a warning concerning poison ivy, as even the early foliage may affect you or me. Later, symptoms may be so marked that not only will a vacation be spoiled but many weeks of suffering ensue.

No member of the genus Rhus should be handled with impunity. It is sometimes difficult to distinguish the harmless from the harmful. Most of us, however, have learned to identify the familiar culprit [with its clusters of three leaflets]. Ordinary climbers with five leaflets are harmless. Chiefly vines, some varieties of the noxious plant may take on a bushlike character. Nevertheless, the result is the same because the oleoresin [the poisonous substance] produced by every species is about equally irritating.

Unfortunately, most of us are sensitive and symptoms occur rather quickly—usually within a few days [average six]. First, the skin becomes markedly inflamed—a true dermatitis. Sometimes the cause cannot be identified from the appearance of the cuticle alone. But the victim may recall that the condition came on after pulling weeds in the garden or tramping thru the woods. The reaction does not differ essentially from that brought on by certain dyes or chemicals to which the individual may be sensitive. Thus it is that many cases go unrecognized.

Strangely enough, the toxin is extremely volatile and can be spread to all parts of the body thru contact. The very touching of shoes or gloves which have brushed the leaves may bring on symptoms. Clothing can retain enough of the pernicious element to give rise to trouble weeks afterward.

Naturally, we are interested in prevention, as well as cure. If the weed is abundant, authorities recommend covering the skin with a thin layer of ointment containing 10 per cent sodium perborate. This plan is far superior to the older type of protection—namely, employing a solution of potassium permanganate. At the end of the day, a bath will remove the chemical as well as any trace of ivy that may have been gathered.

Let us assume that, despite all precautions, including the use of gloves and high boots, the malady has been acquired. About the best local application is a weak permanganate solution [two-tenths of one per cent]. Boric acid is also effective. At any rate, a complete bath with soap and water will wash away most of the poison, altho damage that has been done will remain. Oily lotions are frowned upon, at least in the early stages, because the irritating compound is soluble in such material and may thus be spread widely. After the acute phase, however, salves may be employed.

There seems to be no unanimity of opinion in regard to the value of vaccination with ivy extract. It seems reasonable to assume, however, that following careful injections deep into the muscles, the preparation should provide immunity. There is certainly no objection to this measure and some investigators have reported favorable results.

Still others believe a tincture of Rhus can be given by mouth in gradually increasing doses, until the victim is rendered completely free from its effects. The American Indian—before the coming of the white man—is said to have chewed the leaves of the plant. Obviously, this procedure cannot be recommended.

Needless to say, hikers thru fields and brush-filled areas laden with this pest, should keep the hands away from the face whether gloves are worn or not.

ARE YOUR EARS RED?

A. A. writes: What do red ears signify?

REPLY.

Have you heard the old saying "some one somewhere is talking about you?" The chances are that the return circulation from the parts is a bit sluggish. A tight collar or neckband may be the cause.

MORE POWERFUL.

M. K. writes: What is meant by "deep X-ray therapy?"

REPLY.

X-ray applied to skin lesions is termed "superficial." The doses are usually mild. Larger quantities—from a more powerful source—are needed to reach deeper structures such as the pelvic organs, the intestines, etc.

PART OF WHOLE.

O. K. writes: How does vitamin B1 differ from B complex?

B1 [thiamin chloride] is a fraction of B complex, which is made up of many parts, including riboflavin, nicotinic acid, etc.

ANOTHER VOCAL WARRIOR.

Mason City, Ia., May 14.—Speaking in St. Louis on May 13, Vice President Henry A. Wallace shouted for war immediately. Said this great vocal warrior: "We did our duty in the first world war and we won all that any war can give." This is pure falsehood.

In 1917, at the age of 29, able-bodied Henry A. Wallace did his fighting in an armchair in the editorial rooms of his father's farm journal in Des Moines. Today he enjoys the bombproof shelter of a Washington job. W. E. W.

HOW ABOUT THE FARMER?

Monroe, Wis., May 14.—I am in favor of national defense—anxious to see all our people better nourished than, as a whole, they are right now. I wonder, however, how I can possibly work much harder than I am doing now, and, if I do, will I be compensated on a par with the city worker?—or are the farmers to be the goats again? The prices on machinery and other equipment are soaring far faster than farm commodity prices.

The question is: Can the New Deal under Mr. Roosevelt's guidance clean up the mess it has us in?

At present I estimate my husband works 14 hours a day and I about 11½. We're middle aged.

Try to get efficient farm help at a price comparable to farm income. On a small farm it's impossible.

THE PERFECT PATRIOTS.

Hammond, Ind., May 15.—Signed to many letters published in the various daily newspapers are such words as these, "A True American," "A Patriot," "A True Patriot," "A Patriotic Citizen," and so on, till one is disgusted.

It reminds one of the parable of the Pharisee and the publican, which is, of course, familiar to all this paper's readers.

It is true that freedom of speech and of the press allows our citizens to make asses of themselves but it might be wise for them not to overwork this privilege.

A NUISANCE TO HUNDREDS.

Chicago, May 15.—Can't something be done to relieve the hundreds of people who use the Crawford avenue streetcars from the inconvenience caused them by the city water force laying a pipe line in Crawford avenue south of 12th street?

Streetcar service, serving many hundreds of people along this street, is delayed sometimes as much as 15 to 20 minutes due to the stubbornness of an officious foreman who is in charge of this city work. This foreman refuses to permit the trucks, used in removing soil from the excavation, to clear car tracks until the truck is loaded. This causes delays to workbound and homebound people. W. G. Echols.

KEEP OUT BY GOING IN.

Rockford, Ill., May 14.—It was amusing to read the contribution of Clark More in the Voice of the People today. He wants to put our big navy in action to provide safe and speedy delivery of war machines and insure the defeat of Hitler. "The way to keep out of war is to show our determination and power, etc." In other words, the way to keep out of war is to jump right into it! J. P. Grip.

EVERYDAY FOLKS' "RAVINIA."

Chicago, May 15.—I believe the Chicago public would gladly do without some of the so-called park necessities instead of giving up the Grant park concerts.

They are an institution. I doubt if the city can do anything more for the good of the people at so small a cost. Any one who has attended will agree on that. The concerts are "Ravinia" to the everyday people and the satisfied faces and the enthusiasm displayed speak volumes for appreciation. A campaign should be waged in favor of continuation and for years to come. Alfred Decker.

WHEN THE CANAL IS CLOSED.

Chicago, May 14.—What is being done to put the transcontinental railroads in shape to haul the load which will be thrown onto these when the Panama canal is closed?

Few knowing people believe the Panama canal can be kept open for long after we get into this war via the convoy route.

As one of the "keepers open" of the Pennsylvania railroad [Pittsburgh to Harrisburg] during the last war, I know about the tremendous load to be imposed on these run down transcontinental railroads.

Best to spend some part of these billions for defense in a well planned reconstruction program for these railroads so we can supply the wherewithal to conduct a two ocean war successfully.

GARDEN A LEVELER.

Chicago, May 15.—Did you ever notice what a great leveler gardening is? If you should meet your next door neighbor a block from home, the chances are you wouldn't know him, but over the back fence, in garden time, you are pals. He tells you where and when to plant things. He tells you your "Scarlett O'Hara" vine will look better climbing over the gate and not the door, that your "heavenly blue" morning glories would do better on a trellis. You swap seeds and bulbs, and you watch the progress of his garden with the same interest as you do your own.

Ten days ago he planted his grass plot and this morning his yard looks like green panne velvet, and you are as thrilled as if you had planted it yourself. Our gardens are small, he specializes in "four o'clocks." All winter he has kept those tubers warmly covered in his basement, now they are ready for planting. My specialty is iris and phlox. Last year, when we won a prize for the prettiest alley garden in the block, our neighbors were as pleased as we were. We call our garden "the Postage Stamp," it is so small, but you never saw as many flowers in one little spot—we plant seeds and bulbs in layers and they reward us by blooming in bouquets.

I hope when I meet my garden friend next winter and he says "Good morning," I won't think, "Where in the world have I seen that man?"

FAMILY ASSETS.

Chicago, May 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother and stepfather bought a rooming house on which they are still paying. It was a means of living comfortably for the rest of her life. But now life with her husband has become unbearable and a divorce seems to be her only solution.

1. Her signature is with his on every transaction. In paying the down payment on the building there were cash and checks [2] the checks mostly on her name.

3. If she divorced her husband would she lose her share in the rooming house?

While the divorce proceedings would be going on [4] how would she still be able to keep her hand in the management?

5. What would be your advice?

J. M.

1. She would sign the instruments creating obligations but it is not clear that she would sign the conveyances on which her interest in the property would depend.

2. It is not clear whether you mean that the purchase money was paid out of her funds.

3. No. The court would have discretionary power to divide the assets according to the equities of the parties.

1. A and b—10 years from the maturity date.

2. Yes. In the sense that it would extend the limitation period.

3. Yes.

4. Garnishment of wages requires a demand notice. In other garnishment proceedings it would be merely the service of the summons in garnishment. June 21 Is Cleared for Debut Party of Miss Leonore Cudahy

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT'S about as difficult to get a date for a June debut party these days as it is usually to find a free night during the busy two weeks of the Christmas holiday season, and there is almost as much shuffling from one night to another among those planning June parties. The William B. Cudahys and the Michael Cudahys devoted several days to clearing a June Saturday when they could have a party for their debutante sister, Miss Leonore Cudahy. Finally, June 21 was chosen, and on that night the brothers and their wives will join with the debutante's father, Edward I. Cudahy, in giving a dinner-dance at the Shoreacres club as Miss Cudahy's formal introduction to society.

Miss Cudahy is a freshman at Vassar college. She will spend the summer in Lake Forest with her father. Her plans for next fall have not been decided. She may not return to college.

Judging from the success of the two simple and informal teas the Herbert E. Hydes gave this week for their daughter, Miss Sally Hyde, to meet their friends, such parties will come more and more into favor. There was a delightful air of informality about the Hyde home where Mr. Hyde dispensed punch from the veranda and the debutantes' young friends, all in short frocks, as she was, poured tea and coffee from the dining room table. Winnetka was at its greenest and freshest, and the lilacs bloomed profusely in the Hyde garden.

The David M. Popes are planning just as simple and informal a party to introduce their daughter, Miss Mary Lew Pope, on the afternoon of June 26 at their Lake Forest home. The party will be doubly gay as Mr. and Mrs. Pope will be celebrating their 21st wedding anniversary. Miss Pope, who is finishing at the Lake Forest High school next month, will enter Northwestern university this fall. The Popes' have a son, Arthur Twaddell Pope, who is a sophomore at the University of Illinois.

Miss Pope may go east later this summer to visit her grandmother, Mrs. James Lewis Twaddell, in Devon, Pa. Mrs. Twaddell is expected at the Deerpath Inn in a week or so to be here until after her granddaughter's debut.

Betty Bennett to Make Debut Later in Year.

Miss Betty Bennett, the second daughter of the James E. Bennetts, is to have a debut party some time next fall or winter. She will be graduated in June from the Shipley school, and will spend next winter in Chicago. The Bennetts will spend most of the summer as usual at their home at the Wausaukee club, in Wisconsin.

Between 40 and 50 young folk of teen age have entered a horse show to be held today at C. Colton Daughaday's Longmeadow farm, west of Winnetka. Miss Virginia Penfield, daughter of the Samuel D. Penfields, is chairman of the show, the proceeds of which will go to the British War Relief society. Some of her school friends who are on the committee are Judy Gillfillian, Margaret Carson, Lois Hawley, Jerry Ketcham, and Dora May Law.

Maj. Newcomb Thompson, Jr., and Maj. Rob Nordheimer will be the judges. The show will start at 1 o'clock; admission 50 cents. Virginia and her elder sister "Dodo" Penfield, are students at the North Shore Country Day school. Their parents just have moved into a new house opposite the Skokie Country club.

Mr. and Mrs. Critchell II. Are Parents of Son.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Critchell II. [Nancy Grant] became the parents of a son, Robert Siderfin III., their first child, on May 10 at the Passavant hospital. Mr. and Mrs. William M. Grant of Walkerville, Ont., were expected yesterday or today to greet their grandson. Mr. Critchell is the son of Mrs. Robert M. Critchell of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Farmer announce the birth of a son, Philip, yesterday at the Presbyterian hospital. The baby is the first grandchild of M. and Mme. Georges Cauuet, well-known in French speaking circles of the city. M. Cauuet is the head of the International theater.

Little Peter Meyer, who is four, has a three months old baby sister, who arrived from the Cradle last week at the Lake Forest home of her new parents, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Meyers. The baby has been named Pauline, after her mother.

Mrs. Harold M. Pulsifer to Head College Club.

Mrs. Harold M. Pulsifer will succeed Mrs. Charles E. Peace as president of the Chicago College club at its annual meeting today in the rooms the club has been occupying for the last two years. More than three hundred members have been added during that time.

The Polish Opera society will present the opera "Halka" by Moniuszko tomorrow night at the Civic Opera house with Jan Kiepura, George Czaplicki, and Maria Sokil heading the cast. Brig. Gen. Joseph E. Barzynski, Mrs. Barzynski, and their daughter, will be especial guests at the performance. They will sit with the Adam H. Kulikowskis. Mr. Kulikowski is vice president of the society which was formed to present Polish operas to American music lovers and keep the traditions of Polish art alive.

Among those who have taken boxes are Mrs. Charles S. Clark, Mrs. Henry B. Babsan, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Miss Anita Blair, Mrs. Donald Boynton, and Mrs. Daniel Burnham.

Authors at a Party.

Maybe there's a literary renaissance in Chicago and maybe there isn't, but last night a lot of Chicago authors got together at one time in the apartment of Radio Book Reviewer Ethel Reid Winser at 1400 Lake Shore drive. There was Marguerite Lyon, "Marge of Sunrise Mountain Farm," whose new book, Take to the Hills, is just out, for the gathering was in honor of Marge and of Ronnie Bean, who illustrated the book. Others were Sophia Engstrandt, who has a new book, Wilma Rogers, coming out May 26; her husband, Stuart Engstrandt, whose Spring 1940, was recently published; Dr. Preston Bradley, whose latest book is New Wealth for you; Phyllis Whitney, whose book for juveniles, A Place for Ann, was reviewed last week; Louis Zara, author of This Land Is Ours, who is at work on another book; Betty Roberts, the Edith Roberts who wrote This Marriage; M. O. Fodor, author of The Revolution Is On; Otto Eisenschiml, author of In the Shadow of Lincoln; and Peter de Vries, whose But Who Wakes the Bugler was out last year and who has the manuscript of another book ready. Publisher Louis Mariano, who recently got out Paul Scott Mowrer's Poems Between Two Wars, also was present.

Add Hess Theories.

The commentators overlooked the one real possibility in the Rudolf Hess incident. Ellen Shufro's theory is that he did a Corrigan. He meant to go to Moscow.

Nurse and Patient.

A brisk young woman enters a home on Sheridan road in Evanston shortly before 10 o'clock every night, dons her white nurse's uniform with the registered nurse pin on the lapel, and speaks briskly to the occupant of an upstairs room.

"Well, how's my patient tonight?" she asks.

The patient, a handsome Dobermann named Victoria, rolls her eyes up at the nurse in answer from a mattress on the floor. Vicky has been helpless since a motorcyclist ran into her on Sheridan road several weeks ago, breaking two legs and causing concussion of the brain. She is improving steadily, however, and the doctor says she will be completely recovered when the cast comes off.

Vicky is the pet of Kenneth Horan, author and book reviewer and widow of Dr. Francis P. Horan. Because the dog must have care at night if she is to recover, the registered nurse was engaged. Among other ministrations accorded Vicky: massage and a turning of her body every two hours on her mattress.

Query.

Mrs. Noel Flint telephoned an employment agency for a new nurse for the children.

"The one I had got married," she told the employment agency head. "That's the second one we've had who has married."

"Couldn't I come and work for you?" asked the employment official. "I've been an old maid for so long."

How Meningitis Toll Was Cut Told by Expert

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

A new treatment, involving the use of the famous sulfa drugs, has been found for the cure of meningitis, one of the most dreaded of children's diseases, according to a report made by Dr. Archibald Hoyne, clinical professor of pediatrics at Rush Medical school, yesterday.

Dr. Hoyne spoke before 400 child specialists attending the regional meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics in the Palmer House. The meeting opened Thursday and will close today.

The use of the sulfanilamide group of drugs for meningitis has brought about the revival of chemotherapy, the science of the therapeutic action of a drug by its chemical reaction on bodily tissues, Dr. Hoyne stated, and has proved that chemotherapy is sufficient for any form of the disease that is amenable to treatment.

"Until shortly after the beginning of the 20th century, nearly all forms of meningitis usually meant death," he said. "In 1906 and 1907, serums were developed for the treatment of epidemic meningitis. This made it possible to save many patients who ordinarily would die. The death rate, however, often ranged from 60 to 70 per cent, and sometimes higher."

Thru nearly all the years of serum therapy, from 1906 to 1933, there were few doctors who deviated from the treatment of epidemic meningitis by injecting the serum thru a needle into the spinal canal, Dr. Hoyne explained. Nevertheless, complications were frequent among those who recovered, loss of sight and loss of hearing being not unusual.

With the development of a new kind of serum by Ferry in 1932, both intraspinal and intravenous treatments were adopted by the contagious disease department of Cook County hospital. Eventually, the intraspinal therapy was discontinued entirely and the serum was given in large doses thru the veins.

"With the institution of this exclusive intravenous method, the fatality rate, which had averaged approximately 50 per cent in the 20 preceding years, showed a sharp decline," Dr. Hoyne continued. "In one year among 43 patients who were less than 20 years old the fatality rate was only 2.3 per cent. In larger groups of patients, including those of all ages, loss of life was consistently less than 30 per cent and sometimes ranged from 9 to 15 per cent. When these figures were contrasted with mortality rates of 65 and 90 per cent which were reported but a few years earlier, the improved results seemed rather remarkable."

Ankle Flattery Found in New Summer Hose

BY REA SEEGER.

The best ankle flattery ever devised is the clock trick. Even slender ankle lines seem more sweetly curved when filmy chiffons are embroidered with decorative clox. There are some new summer shades, one a lovely pale amber tint, another slightly darker, and some rather startling affairs of ruby red. These last mentioned bright ideas are for spectator sports clothes and you do have to be adventursome to wear them the first time . . . after that it's easy, as they will highlight a snowy white or aquamarine or light beige dress with a definite authority.

All three summer shades boast the side clox, daintily embroidered in contrasting color [on the amber and dark beige] and in the same shade of the ruby red. It's the astonishing low price that will cause the shopping dither. . . . These beautiful and slenderizing finds can be yours for a single dollar bill and that's a shopping record of no low altitude.

Soot black chiffons, thinner than anything ever presented before, are the rage of the hour. These are to be worn with all the smart street sheers of black and for dress parade clothes in dull black. Thin black nylon is also a newcomer. Any good description of them needs an adjective expert, but to put it simply . . . they seem so thin on the ankle lines that any good husky shadow looks thicker.

Hosiery note for all the brides-to-be . . . there's a lovely flesh color shade in two thread chiffon called "blossom." It goes with gleaming bridal satins, with dull crêpes, with lace, net, and the high fashion summer cotton bridal gowns. When you select them be sure and buy two pairs of the exact shade and size. . . . This precludes any last minute worry and fuss if you should snag them before the march down the center aisle.

Miss Katharine Brothers Will Be Wed Today

A lace cap that is one of the treasures of the Metropolitan museum in New York has been brought west by its owner, Mrs. Robert Sanders of Highland Park, to be worn tonight by Miss Katharine Brothers, daughter of Judge and Mrs. William V. Brothers of Evanston, when she is married to Edward H. Kellogg. The wedding will take place at 7 o'clock in St. Mark's church, Evanston, the Rev. Harold L. Bowen officiating, and there will be a wedding supper and dancing following at the Glen View club.

The wedding will be all white, with the bride and her attendants, who'll carry a long garland of white lilies instead of individual bouquets, all in snowy white gowns of the same model. The receiving line will form before a silver screen garlanded with pink roses, and guarded by two pink rose trees in the living room of the club.

A great many guests have come from out of town for the ceremony and the party following, including the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Kellogg, of Peoria, formerly of Evanston, and their other sons, Howard Jr. of New York, who'll be best man, and Charles of St. Louis, who will usher.

Mrs. John A. Laing will be matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. John Rowland of Boston, Miss Mera Galloway, Mrs. David A. Metcalf of Kansas City, Mrs. Robert Terhune of Peoria, and Mrs. Charles W. Rundall. Also ushering will be the bridegroom's cousins, William S. Miles Jr. and Theodore H. Page Jr. of Peoria, Mr. Terhune, Mr. Rundall, Mr. Metcalf, and Dr. Clark Kuebler of Northwestern university.

The marriage of Miss Lucia Dixon, a daughter of the Homer L. Dixons, and Lieut. Wallace S. Wakem, son of Mrs. Charles J. Haines and the late Wallace Seldon Wakem, will take place at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the John Timothy Stone chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church. The wedding will be small and informal, with only the families and a few intimate friends present.

The Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson will officiate, and after the ceremony there will be a tea in the Walton place apartment of Mrs. Dixon's sister, Mrs. William Warren Dixon. Mrs. William Dixon will not be present at the wedding, however, for she is out of town. Immediately after a toast has been drunk to Mr. Wakem and his bride, they will depart for Camp Forrest, Tenn., where he is stationed.

No previous announcement of Miss Dixon and Mr. Wakem's engagement had been made. They decided to be married at once when Miss Dixon visited at Camp Forrest a week or two ago.

Miss Joan Dixon will be her sister's only attendant.

There are a number of other weddings on today's calendar, among them one at 8 o'clock tonight in Trinity Episcopal church, Highland Park, where Miss Katherine Lewis Vail and Raynor F. Sturgis Jr. will repeat their wedding vows. The Rev. Christoph Keller will read the service, and a reception will follow at the Highland Park home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm D. Vail.

Miss Vail will be attended by Miss Barbara White of Wauwatosa, Wis., Miss Jean McCracken, Miss Francigene Sheridan, Miss Virginia Creigh, Miss Dorothy Warner, and Miss Marjorie McDonald. Malcolm Sturgis will be his brother's best

Hard Case

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1941: By Luke Short.]

SYNOPSIS.

Carol McFee, whose father is about to lose his ranch to Tate Wallace because of a forged deed, writes Dave Coyle, notorious outlaw, asking for help. Wallace is bringing Sholto to the trial to testify that McFee signed the deed. Will Usher, Dave's enemy, proposes to Dave that they kidnap Sholto and make Wallace pay a ransom. Dave agrees, thinking it will help McFee's case, but after he kidnaps Sholto, he finds that Usher has double-crossed him and wants the ransom for himself as well as the reward that is offered for Dave's capture. Dave escapes but finds McFee has been arrested for kidnaping and possible murder. Dave discovers that Wallace has blackmailed Sholto because of a murder he knows Sholto committed and is holding Mrs. Sholto as hostage. He sets Mrs. Sholto free and aids McFee in breaking jail. Wallace refuses to pay ransom for Sholto, knowing if Sholto is killed McFee will hang for his murder and there will be no trial. McFee and Dave rescue Sholto from Usher, bringing him back to town to clear McFee and just as they arrive with him, someone shoots and kills Sholto and McFee is arrested for murder. Dave, knowing that the only persons who could have shot Sholto were Sheriff Beal, Deputy Ernie See, Lacey Thornton, McFee's disgruntled ex-partner, or Senator Maitland, McFee's lawyer, as they were the only persons who knew he and McFee were to bring Sholto into town. They were in the McFee home when a letter he had written to Carol telling of these plans, disappeared. Dave, escaping the sheriff and men, goes to the McFee ranch and he and Carol quarrel.

INSTALMENT XXX.

SURROUNDED.

Carol winced under the slow, measured whiplash of Dave's words, but she kept looking at him.

"Another thing," Dave went on, his spare, quiet words coming in a level monotone. "I'd hate to have you think I ever done anything for you. I've known honkeytonk girls I'd sooner help than you. I'd sooner help Lily Sholto than you, and I saw her just once in my life! So don't get any wrong ideas about me."

"I never have had," Carol said with quiet contempt. "You're utterly selfish, a cheap little fellow."

"That's right," Dave said levelly. "So don't expect me to make a hero out of myself, just because you spoke to me once. I want to get this thru your thick McFee skull: I'm in this because somebody is trying to make a sucker out of me, not to help you."

Carol said presently, "I don't understand that."

"That's because you've got McFee blood in you," Dave jibed. "The McFees don't understand anything. But I'll tell you. When I make plans I like to see them work. I planned to get Sholto and take him and your Dad back to Beal, so your Dad would go free. But somebody shot Sholto. My plans were spoiled. I don't like it."

"My, my," Carol said in vicious mockery. "Did some one cross our nasty little bad man?"

"They tried to," Dave said arrogantly. "They won't get away with it. Not if you tell me something, that is. Lord knows, I don't like to ask you. In the first place, you probably couldn't remember. In the second place, even if it means your Dad gets out of jail, you wouldn't tell me. You'd——"

"Will it get him out of jail?" Carol said swiftly, her anger forgotten.

"Yes."

"Then ask me."

"Who read that note your Dad sent you, besides you?"

"I didn't even have time to read it myself," Carol said quickly. "It was stolen from that table while they searched the house for you."

"Who's they?"

"Sheriff Beal, Ernie See, and Lacey Thornton. They followed me home, and came in right away. Senator Maitland and Lily and I showed them thru the house. When we came back to the door here, the note Lily gave me and I'd put on the table, was gone." She hesitated. "How will it get him out of jail?"

"Because it told you that we were bringing Sholto in tonight. Whoever stole it killed Sholto."

"Then it was Thornton!"

"If you believe that all lawmen are honest, and that all lawyers are nice old men."

Carol took a moment to understand this, and then her lip curled in contempt. "That's so typical of you that——"

Carol ceased speaking, for she had seen Dave cock his head, as if listening to something. "What is it?" she asked.

Dave didn't answer for a long moment, then he backed away from the door. "Lots of riders," he said tonelessly.

"After you?"

"I reckon."

Carol said slowly, viciously, "I won't hide you."

"Then you better get a mop and a bucket, because this'll turn into a pretty messy place."

Carol said wickedly, "Let's see how the bad man gets out of this! I'm going to tell them you're here!"

"I know you will," Dave sneered. He turned and ran up the stairs, then looked around him. He could see down the upstairs hall to a glass-paned door that let out onto the gallery. He hurried down the hall, softly opened the door, and listened. Some one was knocking below. He crawled out to the railing of the gallery, and lying on his stomach he could see a dark tangle of men below. They were splitting up to surround the house.

The knock sounded again and the door opened, and Ernie See's voice came plainly. "Where's Dave Coyle, Miss McFee?"

"Why—what are you talking about?" Carol asked calmly.

So she hadn't given him away after all! Dave didn't know why, but he was glad she hadn't. His anger with her melted away.

Ernie was saying patiently, "We found his horse out back. It's 3 o'clock in the mornin', Miss McFee. You got the lamps lit. You're out of bed. You see, it's no use makin' a bluff. And this time, I have a warrant."

Carol said nothing.

Ernie went on patiently. "The place is surrounded, so he can't get away." Suddenly, he shot at her. "Your Dad's in jail for murder!"

"He isn't!" Carol cried. It sounded as if she were really surprised.

"Yes'm," Ernie said. "And Sheriff Beal thinks if we get Coyle, we'll have the man who really did the murder. Your Dad will go free. Now, will you let us in?"

Carol said quietly, "And you, Mr. See? You believe Coyle is guilty of the murder?"

Ernie's answer was a long time in coming, and then it was spoken with an undertone of savage forebearance. "No! I don't think either of them killed this man! But I'm the sheriff's deputy, and he believes it, so I guess I got to search the house whether you like it or not. Do you aim to let us in?"

"There's not much I can do to stop you," Carol said.

Dave heard the posse tramping into the house. He inched back from the railing and lay there, his mind working quickly and futilely. He couldn't let them take him. He had to be free to work at this.

He stepped back into the hallway, and saw the moving light of a lamp somebody was bringing up the stairs. In pure desperation, he ducked into the room at his right, walked thru it to the side window and looked out. He could see the figures of men standing out there, waiting for the posse to flush him out into their guns. Now there was the sound of some one in the next room. He could hear doors being opened, wardrobes being searched. Across the stairway, other men were searching the opposite room. It was a matter of minutes before they reached here.

A slow, angry resentment burned within him, and then died. He'd have to fight his way out this time. He went swiftly to the window that opened onto the gallery, and softly opened it. He crawled thru it, and went over to the railing. Two men were in conversation there below under the big spreading cottonwood whose farthest feathery branches touched the gallery railing. Dave knew he couldn't shin down the pillars, or they would pick him off before he was halfway down. Fifteen feet was too far to jump. And he wouldn't, couldn't shoot them.

And then he heard the door open in the room beyond him, and knew he must act at once.

He climbed up on the railing, looking out into the tangle of foliage ahead of him, drew a deep breath and jumped out, his arms spread wide. Crashing into the thin branches he brought his arms together, hugging everything to him. He didn't get any big branches, but he got one reasonably thick. And as he fell, then, he hugged it tighter. His drop was checked a little, and then he heard the branch snap, followed by the crackling sound of the smaller ones.

Then he heard the sharp cry of bark peeling off, and he fell downward and outward in a pendulum swing. But the bark was peeling off more slowly than his fall, and it was checking his fall. When he felt himself at the bottom of the arc, he let go. He sailed out into space, then landed jarringly on his side. He felt his gun slide out of its holster, heard it slide off in the leaves. Then a burst of gunfire from the ground and from the gallery opened up on him.

He came to his feet, looking for his gun and not finding it and knowing bitterly that he couldn't wait to search. He ran, zig-zag fashion, toward the corrals, until he was out of the light, then paused and listened. Men were shouting all around him, and he could hear them pounding down the stairs and out the door. He lay down where he was, hoping against hope that they wouldn't find his gun. Already, men were running out toward the corral, passing him in the dark. They were shooting now, shooting at shadows and the night and everything they thought might be the $7,000 that his carcass represented.

Carol came to the door with a lamp. Ernie came out after her, took the lamp and went over to the place Dave had fallen. He stopped, picked up a gun, then turned and yelled: "Get some lamps and lanterns! He lost his gun!"

Crisp raw vegetables can't be beat as appetizers. Put a trayful on the table with your next buffet supper, or let them take the place of the salad in a dinner menu.

Crisp radishes and celery hearts or curls are only a starter. Make carrot curls by slicing crisp carrots lengthwise in razor-thin slips. A sharp knife or a gadget made for the purpose will do the job. Chill the carrot strips in ice water and they'll curl beautifully. Then cut some thin, crisp cauliflower slices, or some "chips" of turnip or celery root. Slice the turnip or celery root paper-thin and chill in ice water. Raw beet strips will add more color to the tray. Arrange the different vegetables in groups, and please do add some young green onions!

New mothers are the most easily pleased among hospital patients, says Helen Mae Bryan, dietitian at Henrotin hospital. The meals they get always seem wonderfully delicious, and they never fuss or complain about food. Hospital diet kitchens often must cater to the whims of food-finicky patients, says Miss Bryan, but a woman with a new baby hasn't any whims.

Next time you cook a pot roast, pour some horseradish over it after browning. Good flavor for the meat and good flavor for the gravy. . . . And tuck some tender, chopped beet tops into the mixed green salad. . . . Make a Swiss cheese sauce to pour over leftover diced chicken and whole kernel corn. Put the mixture in a casserole, top with buttered crumbs, and bake until brown and hot—m-m-m, good! . . . Leg of mutton is now being cured like ham. The flavor is described as "gamey."

Roll cooked, chopped spinach in thin slices of roast beef or tongue. Skewer with toothpicks. Place in a greased casserole and cover with mustard flavored white sauce (or horseradish, if you prefer). Add cheese and crumbs and bake until hot.

Nutrition studies have shown that much vitamin B-1, or thiamin, is lost from vegetables if the cooking water is discarded. Ten to fifteen per cent of the thiamin in potatoes is lost unless the cooking water is utilized. Peas, carrots, spinach, and other vegetables should be cooked in a very small amount of water, and shouldn't be drained before serving. Most vegetables lose some of this important vitamin in the cooking process. This can't be helped, but throwing more of the B-1 away in the cooking water certainly can be prevented.

Numerology
By Evelyn Holmes

May 17, 1941.

Birth year—Those born in the years 1887, 1896, 1905, 1914, 1923, and 1932 have the domestic number six as their closing years number on their birth path. This can bring a very satisfactory period of comfort and pleasure in family life, gaining much pleasure thru the children and the home. On the negative side it can mean there will be many duties connected with the family to adjust to and responsibilities to be shouldered. In either case the family will be the important issue in their lives from about 55 on. They may fill these years by giving service thru institutions and charitable organizations, and some will fulfill this service by teaching, being connected with educational work or perhaps thru politics.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, May 16.—Sonja Henie's option will not be picked up by 20th-Fox, and she has already had attractive offers from three other studios. One of these is Paramount, which first had the idea of putting Sonja in movies. She was given a test years ago and the studio decided she wasn't picture material! M-G-M also had the idea of using Sonja, but didn't want to bother making a test. It borrowed Paramount's, and all it could offer was one job in a sports short. . . . Reports around town that Mary Martin's "New York Town" has been permanently shelved without release are wrong. Preston Sturges was called in as a film doctor, reshot some of it and it's reported to be pretty good.

George Jessel is having the darndest time selling his house. He has found an eager buyer and the money has been in escrow a long time. As George says, it's no trick at all to buy a house out here, but the technical difficulties of selling one are immense because every possible heir has to give his okay. Jessel got an okay from his ex-wive, Norma Talmadge. He couldn't get one from his present wife, Lois Andrews, because she is a minor. That had to come from her parents. Several other people gave their permissions—but the person who has held up the deal is Joe Schenck, who comes into the picture as another ex-husband of Talmadge. He's been too busy with his own troubles to sign the papers.

Tuesday is the 33d birthday of Corp. James Stewart, and his pal Billy Grady, MGM talent scout, is planning to take a show to Jimmy's army camp as a party present. Not a movie, but 10 or a dozen of the best vaudeville acts available. Jimmy has already been marked okay by the 6,000 men in his camp, and a gang-up show for the men would make him even better.

It's the sort of thing Grady loves to do—put on a private party. And in the old, gay days on Broadway, when he was a booker and producer he used to do it for money. How much money? Well, in those pre-crash times people really spent, and the biggest party Billy can recall was one given by Mike Meehan. Meehan, who had a corner or something on radio, had 16 million dollars searing his kick and he wanted to give a little party. Billy thought it would be nice to give it out of town if Meehan knew some place to go. Meehan did—it was Torrington, Conn.—but he was dubious about taking all his friends away from the stock tickers. "Let's take tickers, too," said Grady, and the party was arranged.

The guests promised their wives there would be no women on this stag, and there weren't. Billy put together a dozen of the best male acts he could find. The bill for these was $16,000. Guests were taken in special Pullman trains. The New Haven built a new siding [about $10,000] so the Pullmans could be parked. There were 42 sleepers. Telegraph wires were strung and a stock ticker was hooked up in every car. The town hall was engaged for the show. The whole bill ran to about $60,000.

The show that night was a wow. So good that it was suggested that another one be staged the following night, with women. "How many women?" asked Grady. "Any number up to a thousand," said Meehan. Billy went to work on the phone. He called three Broadway dance directors, got three dancing units of two dozen girls each. He called Veronica, Ziegfeld's costumer, and she assembled costumes. Another special train was hired—three baggage cars and a diner. The next afternoon the 72 dancers boarded the train for Torrington. They rehearsed in the baggage cars until they got hungry, then ate in the diner till they were able to dance some more. By the time they arrived—and the local hotel had been set aside for them—they had worked out a completely integrated routine. This show, too, was a success—and not one girl had a pass made at her.

Mothers Find Relaxation in Evening Hours

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

In the quiet of the evening [I could tell that was when it was written] a mother sat down and wrote:

"In the stepped-up tempo of modern living the wife, mother, and homemaker, in even a small household, has to be 'on her toes' from early morning until the children are all in bed at night.

"Beginning at about 7 or 7:30 o'clock in the morning, activity is intense, breakfast to be served, father to be gotten off to catch train or bus, and the school age children hustled off in time for school, properly dressed, shoelaces tied, necktles and hair ribbons in place. Then mother turns her attention to the baby, who, fortunately, has been an interested spectator in his play pen.

"Having fed, bathed, and put him outdoors for his nap, she hurries to the waiting dishes, and from then on, until the children troop in for lunch, her time is filled with baking, with broom, mop, and dustcloth, not to mention the dozens of duties too numerous to mention.

"After lunch, with the children once more at school and the baby contentedly quiet, you might think there would be some relaxation for mother. But no, there's sewing or mending to be done, often interrupted by a visit from one of the neighbors, and before she knows it the doors open again with 'Mother, may we have something to eat?' or 'Will you help me find my skates?' 'Have you seen my football?'

"But in the evening when the supper is over, little voices stilled, and hands and feet relaxed in sleep, she is no longer a mother and housewife. She is a woman, free to pursue any pastime or relaxation her inner self seems to demand. It is this period of inner soul feeding that strengthens and sends her to bed contented and prepared to meet happiness in a more joyous spirit and tribulation with more tranquility of mind. A mother gains, in her evenings, something that we all need, whether we realize it or not."

In this letter I hope you will find encouragement to save some spot in the day for yourself.

Leo Gordon, Pianist, Makes Favorable Impression on Critic

Leo Gordon, pianist, played a program made up largely of Schumann, Chopin, and Liszt in Kimball hall last night. His great dexterity, the vigor and sincerity of his performance, and the game way in which he tackled one huge work after another made a deep impression on his audience. Besides all this, there were occasional flashes of great musical insight—where the pianist's phrasing and tone color combined naturally to make clear some more than ordinarily good idea of the composer's. Mr. Gordon will be a still better pianist when he approaches his music in a more contemplative mood, when he cultivates a more relaxed style, and when he comes to value the beauty of a smooth, easy musical line and a calm, luminous tone a little more highly than he does at present. Luncheon Doily in Two Sizes

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Two sizes of doilies complete an ideal set for an informal luncheon service. Crocheted of cord or string, these star designs work up quickly and are perfect for the bride-to-be or as a gift to any homemaker. This same star pattern is suitable for a buffet set of as many pieces as you require.

For instructions in crocheting the star doilies in two sizes, No. 942, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The expert defender cannot always describe the exact target at which he is aiming. At times he is forced to proceed along general lines, choosing plays not so much for their virtue as for the reason that these plays have nothing wrong with them. Let us sit with West, in today's hand, and share his dilemma.

East-West vulnerable.

♥ 9
♦ Q 10 9 7 6 5
♣ J 6 2

WEST

SOUTH

♦ J 8
♣ A K Q

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Double	4 spades	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

North's preëmptive raise was peculiar, to say the least, considering that he had only three trumps and that he could not possibly tell his partner held a six card suit. But he was lucky on this hand. East was frightened out of his correct bid, namely, five hearts, which would have been easy to make. [Surely, it required no great optimism or imagination on East's part to visualize extreme shortness of spades and consequent heart support in West's hand, aside from the fact that West's double of one major suit had strongly invited a response in the other major.]

West opened the diamond king and, seeing the six diamonds in dummy and partner's deuce, looked around for the proper shift. It was impossible to visualize the four tricks that would be necessary to defeat the contract. West did realize, however, that a diamond continuation was out of the question, which reduced the problem to hearts and clubs. The best defense might be to lead a heart in the hope that East had the ace and that the dummy could be ruffed down by heart continuation, thus developing trump tricks for East. There was no assurance, however, that East had the heart ace. He might have club honors and, in that case, a heart lead might be fatal. The deciding factor was that a heart lead could be made at any time so long as West retained the diamond control. The club investigation, however, required immediacy.

On this correct analysis, West shifted to the ten of clubs. East played the seven as the beginning of an echo, and declarer won. Declarer led one trump but, when he saw the break, realized that to continue would be merely to concede two heart tricks and two diamonds. He attempted to save himself by leading dummy's singleton heart, but East rose nobly to the occasion. He ducked, permitting his partner to win the trick. West then continued the excellent defense by risking the lead of the diamond ace, and on this trick East dropped his four of clubs, thus completing the echo. The defense now was clear. West led a club and East ruffed for the setting trick.

Obviously, a heart shift by West at the second trick would be fatal. East would win but, even tho he returned a club, declarer would ruff his remaining heart, cash the king and queen of spades, and then return to his own hand with a club, to draw East's trumps, thus conceding only two diamonds and one heart.

Good Morning!

I feel lukewarm about this production, which isn't nearly as good as "Tin Pan Alley" but resembles it so much—it and other shows of the sort—that you feel you're seeing over again something you've SEEN over and over again.

In "Tin Pan Alley" Messrs. Oakie and Payne were music producers. In this opus they're radio pioneers. As in the former movie both love Alice Faye and John Payne is No. 1 boy with her. Mr. Oakie, I might say, is very, very funny besides being noble and self-sacrificing. His song and dance in his long undies is really something for the much talked of and little known about "books." Cesar Romero isn't nearly as nice a guy in the sort of rôle John Loder played in "Tin Pan Alley," but he's effective—as always.

The piece has some pretty good songs and some striking ensembles. . . . It boasts the Four Ink Spots, and some clever comics, the Wiere Brothers and the Nicholas Brothers.

And that's about all.

HARRIS SETS AMERICAN DISCUS MARK IN BIG 10 MEET

INDIANA STAR'S THROW TRAVELS 174 FEET 1 INCH

Table of Qualifiers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 16. The number of qualifiers in six running events and four field events held today in the Big Ten track meet follows:

Michigan	19	Northwestern	6
Ohio State	12	Minnesota	6
Wisconsin	10	Purdue	3
Indiana	8	Iowa	3
Illinois	7	Chicago	1

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., May 16.—Archie Harris, Indiana's defending champion in the discus, put his 210 pounds into a well nigh perfect throw in the qualifying trials in this event this afternoon as the 41st Western conference track meet opened. Harris whirled and threw the discus 174 feet 1 inch to break his own Big Ten record and establish an American record. The toss failed by less than two inches of being a world mark. This record of 174 feet 2½ inches was made six years ago by Willi Schroeder of Germany.

Archie Harris.

Harris' magnificent throw, presaged by his toss of 171 feet 6¾ inches four weeks ago in the Kansas relays, highlighted the afternoon of preliminaries in six running races and four field events. Michigan's Wolverines, seeking their fifth consecutive team championship, led in number of qualifiers with 19. Michigan placed in all events, getting four of nine athletes in the half mile final.

Half Mile May Decide Title.

Warren Breidenbach, who promises to give Indiana's Campbell Kane a battle for this title, is the most important member of the Wolverine quartet. Since Paul Kendall and Wayne Tolliver also qualified for the Hoosiers in the half mile, the race may be the decisive factor in settling the team championship. However, since Indiana is numerically outpointed—only eight Indiana boys qualified in the 10 events—and more particularly because Indiana's indoor broad jump champion, Bob Burnett failed to qualify, the consensus is Michigan cannot be stopped.

Burnett not only failed to qualify but sixth and last place in the group went to Frank McCarthy of Michigan, at the mediocre distance of 22 feet 10⅞ inches. Larry Stout of Illinois led the broad jump qualifiers with 23 feet 10½ inches.

Ohio May Press Michigan.

While Indiana has strength in the mile and two miles, which do not call for preliminaries, Michigan also should place in both and minimize Indiana's scoring. Ohio State may have a better opportunity to push Michigan. Led by Bob Wright, sensational sophomore hurdler, who qualified in both the high and low hurdles, the Buckeyes can take second place in the final tabulation.

Northwestern's Myron Piker, defending champion in the 100 yard dash, took the first preliminary in this event. Piker coasted to a three yard victory over Al Thomas of Michigan. Jim Turner of Illinois won the second heat of the dash in 10 seconds, one-tenth of a second slower than Piker's time.

MONTGOMERY WHIPS JENKINS; LEW DOWN IN 9TH

New York, May 16 (AP).—Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia outpointed Lew Jenkins, recognized as world lightweight champion, in New York, in 10 rounds tonight in Madison Square Garden.

The Philadelphia Negro laughed off the skinny Texan's ripping right hand shots in the early rounds, fought a crowding, slugging fight thruout and won going away in the nontitle bout by which he earned a shot at Fritzie Zivic's welterweight crown.

Knockdown at Bell in Ninth.

The Associated Press score card gave him seven rounds, with three for Jenkins.

The knockdown came at the bell ending the ninth round, as the crowd of 14,638, sensing defeat for Jenkins, roared at the bristling action. Jenkins was backing away, as he did for most of the last five rounds, and Montgomery caught him with a short, sharp left hook that bounced off Lew's chin. Jenkin's knees hit the canvas just as the bell sounded ending the round.

Jenkins Tries for K. O.

Montgomery then tossed both hands at the body, several times making Jenkins double up. After scoring this way, he kept aiming at Jenkins' head, trying to end the fight himself, but Lew took his best and stayed.

After the third round showed Jenkins' right hand had no effect, the Texan fought a fight of desperation, trying, always trying to land with a haymaker.

Illinois Trustees Plan No Action to Oust Wilson

James M. Cleary, president of the board of trustees of the University of Illinois, said yesterday that no action has been taken by the board, its athletic committee, or the university's athletic board in connection with the reported campaign to oust Wendell S. Wilson as athletic director of the university.

"The employment of the athletic director and the football coach of the university are the province of the athletic board," Mr. Cleary said. "This is composed of three alumni and three members of the faculty, and in them I have complete confidence. Any recommendations they make thru the president, Arthur Cutts Willard, to the trustees will be given sympathetic consideration. During recent weeks, the athletic committee of the board of trustees has been in touch with all members of the athletic board. Neither has arrived at any definite conclusion or taken any action."

Champions All.

Out of the dust of the diamond, out of the gridiron's haze,
Out of the din of the prize ring, visions of other days
Rise to revive on the canvas of memory's polgnant thrills,
The sporting peaks of a lifetime—new and as old as the hills.

Here was "the Peach" in his heyday—snarling and spiking his way
Over the plate and to glory. We see him as clearly today
As when he was "king" to the millions—hated and feared by his foes,
Asking no quarter and matching blows with opponents' blows.

Forth from the huddle comes reeling one who has given his all—
Transfigured then in a moment, he feints at his foe and breaks thru

Carmined with gore is the canvas, scarlet the referee's shirt;
He charges and slays his Goliath. For only the fearless are great!

We Somehow Know.

The communists of Russia tell the world
That they have driven God out of their land,
That atheism's banner is unfurled
And that religion is forever banned;
The ruined church and desecrated shrine
They point to as their proudest monument,
And in God's temples they have quartered swine

But had they really driven out their God
And drouth, disease, and famine would abound—
While flowers bloom and sunshine fills the sky

2 TRIPLES, SINGLE WITH NONE OUT OVERTHROW SOX

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 16.—The Yankees, possibly stirred up slightly by a juggling of a lineup which had absorbed five straight trimmings, showed off with some of their one time class today and thus blotted out what easily could have been penned as more White Sox heroics. The Yanks reared back in the ninth, crushed Thornton Lee with a series of hits good for two runs and snatched a decision from the Chicagoans, 6 to 5.

Until the blow-off, unexpected in view of the manner in which the Yankees had been handcuffed since the third inning, Lee was basking peacefully in the comfort provided by his mates with a fancy assault in the sixth. Up to then they had been well nigh helpless before Marv Breuer. They rushed him out of the picture in a hurry and scored five times to offset four runs the Yanks previously had harvested off Lee by some of their power hitting. The count remained that way until the finish was reached without a Yankee being retired in the ninth.

Joe Is Just a Pest.

Lee's early troubles were caused partly by Joe DiMaggio, who was heard from again later, and partly by some other fellows. One of these was Charley Keller, who blew himself to an inside the park homer with a mate waiting in the first inning. The Yanks scored again in the second with hits of lesser length and in the third DiMaggio hit a 420 foot homer into the left field bleacher, previously out of the range of all except Hank Greenberg. But after this homer and until the same lad turned up in the ninth Lee yielded only one hit.

DiMaggio led off in the ninth and Lee couldn't get the earlier homer out of his mind. He was overcautious, got himself into a 3 and 1 jam, and when he tried to get the next one over DiMaggio picked it off for a triple to left. An instant later Joe Gordon, back at second base as the result of the shakeup that benched the famous Kansas City duo—Gerald Priddy and Phil Rizzuto—tripled to center and DiMaggio scored the tying run. Hoping to escape, Manager Jimmy Dykes ordered Bill Dickey and Frankie Crosetti walked but Charles [Red] Ruffing swung for John Sturm and singled over short to count Gordon.

Lee Starts Well, But——

Lee opened his day's work quite impressively by fanning Bordagaray, but an instant later all was different. Rolfe beat out a bunt toward third

REDS ARE TOLD TIME HAS COME TO PLAY BALL

Cincinnati, O., May 16 (AP).—Cincinnati's world champion Reds, losers of five straight games and wallowing at the moment in seventh place, were told by the management today, in effect, to "play ball or else." General Manager Warren C. Giles conferred with Manager Bill McKechnie, then issued this statement:

"There may be some rather startling changes made within the next two or three weeks. Bill McKechnie and I are going to appraise the players on their performance this year without regard to past performance or past records.

"If changes appear necessary we will make them, even tho it means letting veterans go for untried youngsters, as oftentimes a change in clubs is helpful to a player. We are not going to coast on past achievements."

W-G-N, Mutual to Air World Series Again

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Contracts for exclusive broadcasts of the world series this fall over the Mutual Broadcasting system were signed yesterday in the offices of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis. The contract was signed by Fred Weber, general manager of Mutual, and J. P. Spang Jr., president of the Gillette Safety Razor company.

This will be the third successive year for Mutual and the Gillette company to present baseball's biggest event to radio listeners. The series this season is to be broadcast over nearly 300 stations in the United States and Canada and it will be sent by short wave around the world also. Last year 285 stations carried the series. W-G-N will be the local outlet. Mutual and the razor company have taken options also for the 1942 series.

Cost Is Not Announced.

While no announcement was made of the sum paid for the exclusive broadcast rights, last year's broadcasts added $100,000 to the post-season receipts.

Details about the forthcoming exclusive series broadcast were made over W-G-N and Mutual at 9:15 last evening. Speakers from Chicago were Mr. Spang; Mr. Weber; Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary to Landis; L. C. McEvoy, radio director of the American league; Bob Elson, W-G-N-Mutual sports announcer, and Edward Burns, baseball writer of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Frick Speaks from New York.

From New York, Ford C. Frick, National league president, and Walter [Red] Barber, who collaborated as announcer with Elson on the world series last season, were heard. The names of this year's announcers will be made public later.

Spang's company has become the foremost radio sponsor of sports events. Starting in June 18, it will sponsor all the boxing bouts of the Twentieth Century Sporting club exclusively on Mutual. The first event will be the Joe Louis-Billy Conn title bout June 18.

GREAT WESTERN SKEET SHOOT TO OPEN TODAY

Skeet shooters from midwestern states will converge on the Lincoln Park Gun club this morning for the opening events of the Great Western skeet championships. More than 300 shooters have entered one or more of the eight events to be held today and tomorrow. The club is located on the shore of Lake Michigan at Diversey parkway.

First event today is the small bore championship starting at 9 o'clock and limited to guns not larger than 28 gauge. Other events today in the order scheduled are: the 20 gauge, the two man team 20 gauge, and the junior event limited to shooters under 17 years of age.

GIANTS WIN ON TWO UNEARNED RUNS IN EIGHTH

Ott Smashes Homer Off Lee in 2d.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The score of yesterday's Cub defeat, their seventh in nine tries at home, was 4 for the Giants and 2 for the Cubs. It was the fourth Giant victory in four meetings with the Chicagoans.

Bill Lee pitched well enough to win, but was obliged to accept his fourth defeat on the basis of two unearned runs accomplished by the Giants in the eighth inning after the Cubs had tied the score at 2-all with runs in the six and seventh innings. Bill Lohrman was the starting and winning pitcher, tho Carl Hubbell pitched the last two innings, which were emphatically scoreless.

It's That Man Ott Again.

After one was out in the second and until the score was tied in the seventh, Lee worked smoothly with his team struggling to catch up, which it did with one out in the seventh. After Harry Danning had been retired in the second, Mel Ott busted his eighth homer of the year, and his 396th in the National league [an awful lot of the 396 must have been socked against the Cubs, tho we don't have the total handy].

Following Mel's homer, the count remained 1 to 0 until the Giants added one in the fifth on Burgess Whitehead's single, Bill Jurges' sacrifice, and Babe Young's double.

The only considerable threat by the Cubs prior to the productive but inadequate sixth came with two out in the fifth. Lee was on third and Stan Hack, who had doubled, was on second. Lou Stringer ended the inning by executing the first of two strikeouts.

Bob Does His Stuff.

Bob Sturgeon, who, by the way, turned in another sharp performance at short, opened the seventh with his second single, moved up on Lee's sacrifice and scored the tying run on Hack's second hit, a single to right. Stan took second on the throw-in, then he watched Stringer strike out again. Six of the Giants voted with Manager Bill Terry in the center of the diamond as to what strategy should be followed at this juncture. The vote was to give Cavarretta an intentional pass and pitch to Leiber, the Cubs' cleanup hitter. This was done and Hank executed his fourth failure of the afternoon, a fly to Morris Arnovich.

Here's the way the tie was dissolved: Danning opened the eighth with a single to left. Ott scooted a double play ball at Stringer. The ball went between Lou's heels into right center, Danning reaching third and Ott first. Arnovich flied to Cavarretta, Danning scoring the winning run, and Ott taking second on the throw-in. Joe Orengo, who previously had reached first on an error by Leiber and had fanned twice, walked. Joe Moore then fanned for Lohrman but Johnny Rucker singled to center, scoring Ott with New York's superfluous run. When Cavarretta overran the ball on Rucker's hit, Orengo was tempted to try for home. He didn't make it.

Old Carl Takes Charge.

Hubbell took over at the start of the home eighth. After Nicholson had fouled to Danning, Dallessandro doubled off the right field wall. Then McCullough bounced to Orengo and Sturgeon popped to Whitehead. Both sides went out in order in the ninth.

Manager Wilson announced after the contest that he would resume his on-agin-off-agin procedure anent the case of Novikoff. In this afternoon's game he will have Dallessandro in left in the starting lineup. Stringer, the other Los Angeles rookie, will continue to play and bat second.

MIGHT STEP RUNS OFF WITH SPRINT AT SPORTSMAN'S

Illinois Tom Ends Brooks' Winning Streak.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Might Step, a son of the former turf star, Misstep, outran five rivals in a seven furlong sprint which headed yesterday's Sportsman's Park program. Over a track that was sloppy from overnight rain, the Lemar stock farm colorbearer got home a length and a half in front of Bennie Creech's Vinum Torch Stick took third place away from Chance Ray by a nose.

Vinum had been established as the favorite at 2 to 1 odds, Might Step having been held to 4 to 1. Illinois Tom, a winner the last time out, attempted to set the pace, but the footing was not to his liking, and he gave up when Vinum overhauled him after going about a half mile.

Brooks' String Broken.

Moving into the last turn, Might Step went up to challenge Vinum. Might Step, racing on the outside, was neck and neck with his rival at the head of the stretch. In the last 16th, he drew out steadily. His mutuel prices were $10.20, $4.40 and $3.40.

The failure of Illinois Tom broke a string of victories for his rider, Steve Brooks. This boy had brought in three in a row, beginning with Wild Pigeon at 8 to 1 in the second. He followed up with Brown Blizzard and Ebon Flag, both of them 5 to 2 shots.

It seemed for a time as tho Brooks, who had brought in four winners on Tuesday, was out to try for the mark of five which Jimmy Berger had set on Thursday. Ebon Flag was one of his winners on Tuesday and so was Illinois Tom. The former ran right back for him yesterday. Then came Illinois Tom's failure in the mud.

Double Pays $210.

The daily double, which paid $1,338.20 on Thursday, returned to more normal proportions yesterday, but it still was pretty substantial. The combination of Falsweep in the first race and Wild Pigeon in the second was worth $210.40.

Falsweep, a 4 year old filly, let Bookman go out into a long lead in the five furlong first race while she was running in the second flight, Bookman was five lengths in front of his nearest rival as he went into the last turn. Then Falsweep took after him. Gradually she gained in the stretch, but it wasn't until the last few strides that she got up to win by a nose. Her mutuel prices were $31.20, $13.40 and $7.40.

Wild Pigeon was scoring his first victory since the Narragansett meeting last fall. This 9 year old son of Whichone outclassed his field in the five furlong second race, getting home more than three lengths ahead of Peggin Pete.

Auto Drivers Vie Today for Pole Position

Indianapolis, Ind., May 16 (AP).—Gasoline alley, bustling with activity on the eve of opening qualifications for the annual 500 mile Memorial day race at the Indianapolis motor speedway, figured tonight that a speed of 130 miles an hour would be necessary to win the pole position in the starting lineup of 33 cars.

The fastest driver in tomorrow's 10 mile qualifying test will win the pole, or inside spot in the front row of starters, on May 30.

Later Qualifiers Go Behind.

Thirteen drivers pronounced themselves ready to go. Tomorrow's trials will be conducted between 10 a. m. and 7 p. m., central standard time.

There will be other days for qualifying, but drivers making the grade on them must line up behind tomorrow's qualifiers regardless of their speed. A speed of 115 miles an hour for 10 miles is necessary to gain a place in the starting field. If more than 33 cars qualify the slowest ones are eliminated.

Shaw Has Same Car.

Rex Mays, the Glendale, Cal., driver, who finished second to Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis in the 1940 race, already has said he intends to set a speed of 130 tomorrow.

Railbirds generally consider Mays the man to beat for the pole position.

Shaw, driving the same Italian Maserati in which he won the 1939 and 1940 races, also will be ready tomorrow as will his two partners on the Mike Boyle team—Chet Miller of Detroit and George Connors of Los Angeles.

If there is a dark horse in the battle for the pole spot the name must be pinned on two rear motored cars which have been completely rebuilt after two disappointing years.

Illinois Anglers Invade Wisconsin.

BY BOB BECKER.

The wall-eyed pike and trout fishermen who started their spring offensives on Thursday morning, the opening day of the Wisconsin season, are doing all right, according to reports received yesterday from various parts of the state. Hundreds of Illinois anglers moved into Wisconsin resorts yesterday to have some fun with these popular game fish.

The walleyes in the Eagle river chain, the Cisco chain along the Wisconsin-Michigan boundary, the Lac du Flambeau country and in other lake areas of Wisconsin were striking hard both opening day and yesterday.

Take Dozen Rainbows.

Bruce Allen, Clinton Rood, and Philip Crippen of Chicago, and Samuel Shirley, motion picture executive of California, combined rainbow trout fishing in the Ontonogan river and wall-eyed pike fishing in Catfish lake [in the Eagle river chain] yesterday and got fish on both expeditions. This party reported a dozen nice rainbows after spending a short time on the stream. There was a cool north wind blowing in Wisconsin yesterday, but that didn't keep the walleyes in the Eagle river waters and other lake areas from swatting lures.

James E. Coston, 4950 South Chicago Beach, reports that some members of his fishing party who were working their lures in front of his home on Catfish lake were able to cast and catch wall-eyes by simply standing on his boat dock. As is usually the case early in the season, wall-eyes are in fairly shallow water, hungry and eager to hit an artificial lure or a minnow.

Muskies Crash the Party.

William Stimpson, a resident on Gunlock lake near Minocqua, reported yesterday that he tried to catch nothing but wall-eyes when he went fishing on Gunlock, but the muskies wouldn't let him go about his business. Using live minnows for bait for the pike, he hooked five muskies in Gunlock lake in a little more than an hour and a half.

All were returned to the water but the largest of the fish

Indian Hurler Yields 7 Hits—3 to Cronin.

Boston, Mass., May 16 (AP).—Jim Bagby came back to town to defeat his old Boston Red Sox teammates today, 9 to 3, as the Cleveland Indians made it two straight in their three game Boston series. Manager Joe Cronin got three of the seven hits off Bagby.

It was a tight game until the seventh inning when Hal Trosky doubled into center. Then Walker hit his second home run of the season into the left field screen, making the score 5 to 1.

The Indians added four more in the eighth. Bagby singled, Boudreau walked and Campbell got an infield single to fill the bases. Ken Keltner's double to right scored two runs. Campbell came in on an outfield fly by Trosky and a double by Walker scored the fourth run. Score:

Pirates Snap Dodger Streak at Seven, 3-2

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 16 (AP).—Mace Brown, whom the Brooklyn Dodgers bought a couple of weeks ago from the Pirates, faced his old teammates today just long enough to make one pitch—it was a home run ball for Elbie Fletcher, first man up in the 11th inning—and Pittsburgh snapped the seven-game winning streak of the Dodgers, 3 to 2.

Kirby Higbe hurled the first ten innings for the National league leaders and in the first six gave up only two hits—a triple by Arky Vaughan and a single by Fletcher which produced a Pirate run in the second inning. Score:

IF THE CUBS DON'T WANT NOVIKOFF, THOSE CARDS DO

Manager Jimmy Wilson, who benched Lou Novikoff again yesterday, isn't stuck with the Russian strong boy unless he wants to be. According to reports emanating from St. Louis yesterday, the Cardinals would go high in player chattels to get Lou. It was even hinted the Cards would let loose of some cash in a transaction for Novikoff, but, it was pointed out, this isn't the Cardinal way of life. It long has been a Cardinal axiom that it is more blessed to receive than give when it comes to currency.

But the Cards have an over abundance of good pitchers and other players under their control and doubtless could fill some pretty grievous Cub gaps were a deal worked out.

It is believed the Cards are interested in acquiring a musician on the team, what with the transfer of Pepper Martin, Fiddler McGee, Stanley Bordagaray and other erstwhile members of Martin's and Frankie Frisch's Mudcat band. Novikoff is a polished harmonica player and a sweet singer.

General Manager James T. Gallagher, when questioned yesterday about the reported willingness of General Manager Branch Rickey of the Cards to deal for Novikoff, said all news of the projected transaction would have to come from Rickey. Mr. Gallagher added that he personally hadn't given up on Novikoff as a future star.

Springtime Memories.

I came from the land of flowers
Down dear old Dixie way,
And my poetic soul is homesick
When springtime holds full sway.

The azaleas are in bloom
And a mocking bird is chanting
Beneath a silver moon.

I can hear those darkies singing,
It brings back happy memories

Well, Look Who's Here.

It has come to my attention that the Wake stated in its column from Louisville that the filly which ran away in one of the early races on Derby day and paused a couple of times to look into the stands was hired by me to count the house. That, sir, is a canard. This filly had heard that Lana Turner was in the stands and she was looking for Lana, hoping to ask Lana if Lana would give her the sweaters Lana doesn't wear any more, owing to the rule of Will Hays.

A's Home Lot Is Mack Stadium from Today On

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16 [Special].—Connie Mack, 79 year old manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, tomorrow will find his name physically inscribed in baseball when Shibe park passes out of existence and Connie Mack stadium takes its place.

Baseball notables and just ordinary fans will gather tomorrow at the Athletics' field to honor one of the noted figures in baseball at a ceremony marking the change in the name of the park. A crowd of 30,000 is expected to witness the program and a game between the Athletics and the Detroit Tigers.

Mack today disclosed a move for more night games to meet the demand of fans, a demand emphasized by a drop in baseball attendance due to stepped up defense work. He predicted the major leagues would get together in joint session within two weeks and lift a rule prohibiting more than seven home night games a season.

Any movement to increase the number of night games, however, is expected to meet opposition from the New York Yankees of the American league and the Cardinals, Dodgers, and Reds of the National league.

Yanks Rear Up in Ninth to Beat White Sox, 6-5 and Keller crashed his sixth homer, a tall fly which rolled to the fence in left center. The next dent in Lee's armor was made by Rosar's double at the start of the second. Buddy went to third on Crosetti's single and home on Sturm's tap which Kuhel juggled just long enough to lose his chance to cut down the run at the plate. Then DiMaggio came up in the third with his super homer into the bleachers.

RELIEF OFFICIAL SENTENCED TO 6 MONTHS IN JAIL

Otto Ziebell, supervisor of Bremen township for 25 years, was sentenced yesterday in Criminal court to six months in the county jail and fined $200 for conspiring to plunder the township relief funds of a sum estimated by the state at $25,000.

Otto Ziebell.

Judge Walter J. La Buy imposed sentence in accord with a jury verdict returned April 22. In view of the jury's recommendation for leniency, Judge La Buy said, he sentenced Ziebell to half the maximum punishment. Ziebell was found guilty on a misdemeanor count in the indictment which charged conspiracy to defraud.

He was granted his freedom on bond until June 16 and his attorney announced an appeal would be taken. Julius Sherwin, an assistant state's attorney, then obtained a 30 day continuance of two forgery indictments, to await the result of a new audit.

A similar continuance was granted James F. Bennette, the township bookkeeper and co-defendant with Ziebell, who pleaded guilty and testified as a state's witness. A third defendant, Thomas Gregory Herndon, a Midlothian grocer, obtained a separate trial.

HEINEGABUBELER, FAMED BARROOM PRANKSTER, DEAD

Thomas Collier Saloon a Jokers' Paradise.

Thomas Collier, the man who originated a highly copied "patron-beware" type of barroom humor, is dead. He ran the saloon to which Chicagoans of an earlier era took their country cousins for entertainment and surprises. As Heinegabubeler, a name he coined for himself, he won fame by dispensing practical jokes along with refreshments.

Thomas Collier as he appeared in 1902

Collier opened his first Heinegabubeler's saloon at 10 Quincy street during the Columbian exposition in 1893. In 1910 he moved his saloon and its trick equipment to South State street near Harrison street. When prohibition came Collier closed his place and retired. He lived with a daughter, Mrs. Ruby Zeman, at 904 Park View avenue, Joliet.

Boob-Traps Snared Unwary.

A tireless practical jokester, Collier fitted out his saloon with all types of mantraps, boob baits, and trick furniture to catch the unwary patron. Collier's fame spread and he had many imitators.

There were all sorts of funny things at Heinegabubeler's. There were the stairs to the "museum" that collapsed and slid the patron to the floor when he reached the last step. There were trick glasses and collapsible chairs. The brassy looking bar rail was rubber. When a patron picked up his change from the bar he got an electric shock.

An old style barroom stove, bottom up, hung down from the ceiling. A sprinkling can at the end of the bar was labeled "Chemical company No. 1." Many of the fancy sounding drinks such as "Kill Me Quick" or "Jersey Lightning" turned out to be tea.

Free Lunch Defied Digestion.

"A ring with every drink" read the sign over the dust pan "cash register" and when a patron dropped his money there was the clanking of cowbells. Such "edibles" as hard and soft coal, cheese that turned out to be soap, rubber beets, chopped hay, and oats were on the free lunch counter.

Mr. Collier died Thursday in Silver Cross hospital in Joliet. He was 80 years old. Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 508 Cass street, Joliet, with burial in Oak Woods cemetery there.

3 TELL OF SEEING ST. CHARLES BOY BEATEN TO DEATH

Three inmates of the St. Charles School for Boys testified yesterday at Geneva in the murder trial of Robert Adams, former school guard, that they witnessed the fatal beating last Feb. 13 of James Williams, 16 years old, colored, an inmate, by Adams and another former guard, William Laird, 27. Laird was indicted with Adams for murder, but was granted a separate trial.

The inmates said that Adams, using a club, and Laird, a fire hose nozzle, continued to beat Williams as he lay unconscious on the floor of a school cottage.

G-MEN TO BACK UP HENDERSON PRICE ORDERS

Jackson Promises Anti-Trust Action.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—The department of justice anti-trust division and the Federal Bureau of Investigation [G-men] will back up any price fixing orders issued by Price Czar Leon Henderson, Attorney General Robert H. Jackson disclosed today.

Robert H. Jackson [top] and Leon Henderson.

Henderson, who is trying to perform as a one-man job a task which the whole NRA setup failed to do prior to its demise by Supreme court order, has previously been granted wide latitude in his authority from President Roosevelt.

The peculiar position of Henderson usurping single authority to dictate against price increases in industry, altho urging price boosts on agricultural items, has been assailed by Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] as without constitutional authority. There has been considerable question about means of enforcing the Henderson orders. Jackson today supplied the answer.

Will Put Teeth in Orders.

Jackson admitted to reporters that there is no statute for criminal enforcement of the orders. But, he said, the coöperation of the justice department and the FBI will "put teeth into them." These proposals are sanctioned by the President, Jackson added.

The procedure will be, Jackson explained, for the G-men to act as investigating agents, and the anti-trust division will give priority in attention to the possibility of anti-trust act prosecutions against companies refusing to obey price control orders. Jackson released the following letter to Henderson:

"While anti-trust law enforcement in many instance can prevent and has prevented unjustifiable price increases and in some instances has resulted in price reductions, these laws are not primarily price regulating statutes. Their greatest economic effect in preventing price inflation is in striking down private price fixing devices and arrangements which influence prices to the detriment of the consuming public.

Functions Called Supplementary.

"In this way the function of the department of justice and that of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply [headed by Henderson] will supplement each other.

"To accomplish this and to equip your price control administration in appropriate cases with the enforcement machinery of the department of justice, we have arrived at the following arrangement, which has the approval of the President."

The program is as follows:

1. Henderson will report any instances where prices are being increased and maintained by any method which is a probable violation of the anti-trust laws. The department will give such cases priority.

2. Proposals for civil or criminal proceedings under the anti-trust laws may, before authorization by the attorney general, be submitted to Henderson.

3. Proposals for price action by Henderson may be submitted to the justice department for advice as to their effect on any contemplated proceedings.

Cost of Living Up More.

Meanwhile, the cost of living to Americans continued to soar despite Henderson's price-fixing orders. According to the bureau of labor statistics, in the month between March 15 and April 15, food costs rose 2.2 per cent and were 4½ per cent above April of last year. Retail sugar prices were 7 per cent above last April, and prices of certain cuts of meats, eggs, butter, lard and some fresh fruits and vegetables ranged from 10 to 20 per cent above a year ago.

There was an average rent rise of 0.3 per cent between March and April. Clothing costs rose 0.2 per cent; fuel, electricity and ice, 0.2 per cent; house furnishings 0.6 per cent, and miscellaneous requirements, 0.3 per cent; this brought the over-all cost of living 1 per cent higher in just one month, and 2.2 per cent higher than the 1935-'39 average.

UNION AND SHIP OWNERS AGREE ON WAR ZONE PAY

New York, May 16 (AP).—The National Maritime union [CIO] and the American Merchant Marine institute, an organization of ship owners, today concluded three weeks of negotiations with an agreement providing extra compensation and insurance to American seamen traveling in zones outside the western hemisphere.

Among the provisions, affecting about 30,000 seamen, were:

A bonus of $35 for each port to seamen voyaging to the Red sea and Persian gulf; $50 for each port of call in the Suez canal; $2 a day extra compensation in far eastern waters, and $5,000 individual insurance for each member of the unlicensed personnel.

U.S. to Finance Four Synthetic Rubber Plants

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—The government has agreed to finance the construction of four synthetic rubber plants for operation by large rubber companies, Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones announced today.

At the same time, Jones disclosed other large scale lending activities by agencies under his control on behalf of the rearmament program.

The Defense Plant corporation, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, will finance the rubber factories, including construction and equipment, and in addition will purchase 200 million dollars' worth of machine tools for use in the armament program, Jones said.

Knudsen Asks Tool Purchase.

The director general of the Office of Production Management, William S. Knudsen, had requested the DPC to acquire the tools, to be leased or sold to armament production concerns, Jones said. Both rubber and tools are on the list of materials subject to government rationing.

Jones said that the DPC has authorized lease agreements for the four rubber plants with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, United States Rubber company, Firestone Tire and Rubber company, and the Hydro-Carbon Chemical and Rubber company, a subsidiary of the B. F. Goodrich company.

The four plants will each have an initial annual capacity of 2,500 tons but could be expanded to 10,000 tons annually, Jones explained. In normal times the United States consumes 600,000 tons of rubber a year, virtually all of which is supplied by British and Dutch colonies in the far east. Current consumption is running close to 800,000 tons annually.

Used in Self-Sealing Tanks.

Synthetic rubber is principally used in the military program for self-sealing gasoline tanks for airplanes, a development of the current war which antiquated the American air forces and required replacement of all old tanks. Planes ordered by the British also require self-sealing tanks. Synthetic rubber also has many civilian uses, but has been more costly to produce than natural rubber, averaging 60 cents a pound, against about 24 cents for the natural product.

As part of the armament financing program, Jones also announced that the RFC has advanced 25 million dollars to the Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd., against 63 million dollars in aluminum ordered from the company. The advance will be used for expansion purposes.

The following commitments by the DPC were anounced: Lease agreement with the Brewster Aeronautical corporation, Long Island City, N. Y., for an additional commitment of $350,000, making a total of $2,350,000 for manufacture of naval aircraft.

Fisher to Build Planes.

A lease agreement with the Fisher Body division of General Motors corporation, Detroit, for construction costing $3,957,029 on a plant in Memphis, Tenn., to make airplane parts.

A lease agreement with Packard Motor Car company, Detroit, for additional commitment of $1,150,000 to previously authorized facilities of $9,183,333. The new commitment is a naval request for marine engines and spare parts.

STATE ST. BRIDGE CONTRACT LET; TO BE OPENED IN '44

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, announced yesterday that a contract for the superstructure of the new State street bridge had been awarded to the Overland Construction company on a bid of $1,276,848.

Work on the substructure of the bridge, 100 feet wide, is already in progress. Still to be let are contracts for approaches to the structure. Work on the superstructure will not start for some months, it was said, but the contract was let so the bidder could order the needed steel. The bridge, Hewitt said, is scheduled for opening in 1944.

Strike at Allis-Chalmers Plant in Laporte, Ind., Ends

Laporte, Ind., May 16 [Special].—Nearly 1,000 employés of the Laporte works of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company paraded back to the plant today after a nine-day strike over wages and contract regulations. Representatives of the union and the company are in Washington, where negotiations before the defense mediation board were scheduled to get under way.

CITYWIDE OBSERVANCE OF BUILDING INDUSTRY WEEK ASKED BY MAYOR

Mayor Edward J. Kelly yesterday proclaimed the period from next Monday to Saturday, May 19 to 24, Building Industry week. He urged all Chicagoans to coöperate in its observance, terming the construction industry one of the chief wealth producing agencies.

"Chicago in recent years has resumed its rightful place among the outstanding building centers of the country by making definite progress in providing homes, shops, and factories, in addition to handling its share of the national defense assignment," the mayor said.

Ten thousand posters and placards bearing the slogan "Build Today for Security Tomorrow," are being distributed thru the building industry and allied trades.

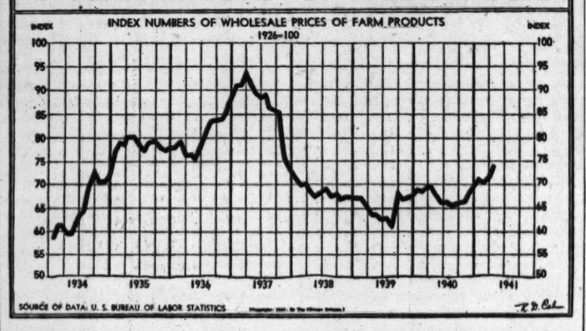
8 YEAR RECORD OF FARM PRICES



RAIL UNIONS END FIRST DAY'S DISCUSSION OF PAY BOOST DEMANDS

General chairmen and other representatives of the "Big Five" railway operating brotherhoods last night ended their first day's sessions over proposed wage increases with the announcement that nothing had "crystalized" on any joint demands to be presented to railway operators.

Indications were that the meetings would continue thru the week-end, and into the early part of next week before drafting of final proposals is completed. The demands would affect approximately 350,000 train workers thruout the country. At a joint meeting in the Morrison hotel, union leaders stressed the need for agreement on a program so that the brotherhoods can present a united front in their wage demands. The five unions then held individual and subcommittee meetings, with another joint session set for this morning.

The five unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Order of Railway Conductors and the Switchmen's Union of North America. More than 600 union representatives are attending the meetings.

North Western Creditors Vote to Accept Plan

Creditor approval of the Chicago and North Western railway reorganization plan yesterday left only the pending appeal of stockholders and the dissenting vote of one small group of bondholders separating the road from emergence from bankruptcy. Attorneys for the road, however, said the line still has another year in the courts.

The Interstate Commerce commission notified Federal Judge John P. Barnes that creditors had approved the plan by an overwhelming majority. The ICC had completed its referendum of the creditors on April 5.

Only the holders of the $2,500,000 in Milwaukee and State Line railway first mortgage 3½ per cent bonds maturing Jan. 1, 1941, rejected the plan.

New Hearing Forecast.

Attorneys said that because this group did not accept the plan, the court must hold a hearing on its objections. Since interested parties have been ordered to appear before Judge Barnes Monday on another matter in connection with the reorganization, the attorneys said it is likely that the court will set a date for the hearing at that time.

After the hearing for these bondholders, Judge Barnes can confirm the reorganization plan and make it operative. However, since the appeal of the plan by the bankrupt company is pending in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and probably will not be ruled on before October, railroad attorneys said the plan likely would not be put into effect before that time. The company's appeal was made on behalf of stockholders.

To High Court Eventually.

Those opposing the reorganization plan and those supporting it have agreed that regardless of the outcome of the appeal, the case will be taken before the United States Supreme court for final ruling.

The North Western filed a petition in bankruptcy in 1935 and its affairs have been dragging thru the courts since then. On Sept. 11, 1940, a plan of reorganization that wiped out all equity of the present stockholders was approved in Federal court.

BUDD DENIES HE WILL QUIT POST ON ARMS BOARD

Washington, D. C., May 16 [Special].—Ralph Budd, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad and now the last member of the original National Defense Advisory commission who has not been specifically assigned elsewhere, today denied reports current in Washington that he plans to resign from the NDAC.

Budd indicated that he was cognizant of the reports that he might leave the administration group. He said he did not feel at liberty to comment on these, but added:

"I am perfectly willing to accept any decision the President may make about my position in the defense program. I hope to continue to be of service."

Study Planned of Investments in War Areas

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—The department of commerce, thru a questionnaire to American corporations, is planning an exhaustive survey of direct investments in foreign countries, particularly the effect of the war on them, it was learned today.

As defined by department experts, direct investments are "the international extensions of American business enterprise." They include branch plants, mining enterprises, chain stores, retail establishments, and other enterprises controled by a person or small group of persons domiciled in the United States. They also cover holdings of the securities of American controled foreign companies by investors who do not themselves participate in the control or the management of the business.

Study Possible Seizures.

Questionnaires will be sent the early part of next week to approximately 2,000 corporations, it was learned. In addition, a check will be made on the few individuals in this country known to control corporations abroad.

The extent of American investments abroad is particularly important now because of possible confiscation in Germany, Italy, and other axis controled countries if the United States issues a general freezing order tying up all foreign funds in the United States. The commerce department is making a continuous study of such funds in the United States to keep figures up to date. Previous studies were made of investments abroad in 1936 and 1929.

7 Billions Invested in 1936.

On the basis of its 1936 survey, the department estimated that Americans had nearly $7,000,000,000 invested in foreign enterprises and properties. European investments totaled $1,245,000,000, including nearly $500,000,000 in the United Kingdom.

The 1936 survey showed that investments in Germany, totaling $228,000,000, were second in value among European countries. The commerce department report showed that 151 enterprises in Germany were controled by Americans or American corporations.

Reports reaching officials here show that American branch factories and plants on the continent have been forced to gear their production to the requirements of the axis. Automobile plants, for example, are turning out trucks instead of passenger cars. Altho the American companies technically retain title, the operations of American controled enterprises on the continent are being fitted into the pattern of the totalitarian economy.

Negotiations for 150,000 GM Shares Under Way

New York, May 16 [Special].—A syndicate of brokerage firms was reported today to be negotiating with representatives of a large estate in Flint, Mich., for the sale of 150,000 shares of General Motors corporation common stock, currently valued around $5,550,000. It is expected to be offered in a secondary distribution next week, probably in the form of two blocks of 75,000 shares each.

HINT ROOSEVELT VETO OF BOOST IN FARM LOANS

Senators Sure They Can Override It.

Washington, May 16 (AP).—A warning from President Roosevelt that he must consider carefully before approving higher price pegging loans on crops failed to discourage members of congress from the farm states today.

Without exception senators who won a 75 to 2 vote in favor of government loans at 85 per cent of parity expressed confidence that the President would eventually sign the legislation. Even if he should veto it, senators said privately that they had enough votes to override the veto. The house passed the loan measure by a margin of 275 to 63.

The President discussed parity prices, loans, and government payments at his press conference after reporters asked where he might save a billion dollars in nonmilitary spending.

Close to Parity Goal.

He noted that a parity price was one set up years ago as a goal to give farm products the same relative purchasing power they had from 1909 to 1913. He indicated that his administration had come nearer this goal than others, and said that benefit payments under the farm program must be a prime factor in considering the mandatory 85 per cent of parity loans approved by congress.

Taking cotton as an example, the President said that present benefit payments amounted to about 2¾ cents a pound and when added to a market price of more than 10 cents assured cotton growers a return of 13 cents. He said that this was the highest since 1924, and near the parity level of 15 or 15½ cents.

In weighing the 85 per cent loan rates, the President said one must consider whether present benefit payments might push returns to the farmer above the parity level.

Senator John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.], sponsor of the 85 per cent loans, said he was "quite confident that the President, when fully informed and in possession of all facts, will without hesitation approve the loans."

Aim Not to Exceed Parity.

"I don't think his statement indicates any other line of thought," Bankhead added. "He wants to make certain that the loan plus benefit payments will not exceed parity prices."

Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Or.], minority senate leader who supported the measure, said that even with the proposed 85 per cent loans "plus all benefits, the farmer will be way below parity income on these products."

The question of the billion dollar cut in federal spending arose when reporters recalled that Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. had suggested farm payments, the National Youth administration and the Civilian Conservation corps as possible means of economies. The President indicated a belief that economy might best be achieved thru the farm program.

In addition to cotton, the boost from the present 75 per cent loan rates would include wheat, corn, rice, and possibly tobacco.

Great Lakes Ore Fleet Operates at 100 Per Cent

Cleveland, O., May 16 (AP).—The American iron ore fleet on the Great Lakes operated at 100 per cent today, against 90½ per cent on the corresponding date last year, the M. A. Hanna company reported. The fleet numbers 292 ships, with a per trip capacity of 2,688,040 tons.

Curb Pay Pleas, Jones Hints; Parley on Coal Near Collapse

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

What many in Washington considered an appeal to workers not to take advantage of the present emergency to force unwarranted wage increases by strike threats came yesterday from Jesse H. Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator.

Jesse H. Jones.

At a press conference, Jones volunteered the comment that "I don't think every threatened strike should be settled by an increase in wages."

He turned aside questions seeking an elaboration of this statement, but observed: "The law of supply and demand comes in when you have one of a thing and two bids for it. There is plenty of demand for labor."

Jones said, too, that his comment did not apply to settlement of the threatened General Motors corporation strike or other settlements made before this.

"The wage increases given so far seem to be reasonable," he said.

Concerned Over Ship Strike.

As he spoke, concern increased in the capital over the continued shutdown of 11 San Francisco shipyards and drydocks and the senate committee investigating armament activities stepped into the situation with a demand for resumption of work.

In telegrams to union leaders, Chairman Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], advised that unless the strike was settled by Tuesday the committee would open hearings Thursday "for the purpose of ascertaining why we can't have ships and who is responsible for failure to reopen the yards."

The strike threatened against General Motors by the United Automobile Workers [CIO] was averted when the corporation early yesterday accepted a mediation board proposal for a settlement. This provided for 10 cents increase in hourly wages of employés, as demanded by the union, but not the UAW's requested closed shop.

Pay Boosted 35 Millions.

B. D. Kunkle, G. M. vice president in charge of personnel, said the agreement covered about 165,000 workers and would mean a 35 million dollar addition to the corporation's annual pay roll. He said that the corporation was prepared to negotiate on wages with other unions holding collective bargaining rights. The company has about 250,000 employés in 89 plants. G. M.'s scale was said to average $1 an hour before the increase.

[Despite the settlement wildcat strikes continued at four General Motors plants in Flint, Mich., and one in Saginaw, Mich. The strikes began Thursday in violation of President Roosevelt's truce. The plants are expected to reopen Monday morning.]

Strike Closes Shipyards.

The San Francisco shipyards shutdown, affecting between 15,000 and 20,000 workmen, is the result of a strike of about 1,700 AFL and CIO machinists who demand an increase from $1 to $1.15 an hour with double time for overtime. The companies offered $1.12 with time and one-half for overtime.

The war department said its orders were being delayed by 33 strikes. Among them was a truck drivers' strike at Detroit, which was delaying work on the new tank arsenal and department orders at the Packard, Briggs, and Ford plants.

Knudsen Hits Labor Leaders.

Baltimore, Md., May 16 (AP).—William S. Knudsen, director general of the Office of Production Management, said tonight that labor leaders should be "man enough to realize the job in this emergency . . . and not think of it as a conflict between labor and industry." Knudsen, addressing the National Associated Harvard clubs' convention, said labor was entitled to its share, but that its leader should "do something to prevent these [work] stoppages."

New York, May 16 (AP).—Another tieup of the nation's bituminous coal industry appeared likely tonight as contract negotiations between southern soft coal operators and the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] approached a state of collapse.

After a fruitless session today, both sides acknowledged that no progress had been made and that tomorrow's sessions offered virtually no hope of settlement.

John L. Lewis, UMWA president, announced Tuesday that unless a pact was made this week the union might call the 330,000 miners from their jobs in the eight state Appalachian fields which produce 70 per cent of the nation's soft coal. He set next Wednesday as a possible stoppage date.

Says Union Won't Yield.

L. T. Putman, southern operator negotiator, said the operators had yielded or modified positions on several disputed points but inasmuch as the union was "absolutely unwilling to make any change whatever in their position" he did not believe "there is a possibility of an agreement here at this time."

Lewis said the southerners had dissented from the union's agreement with northern Appalachian operators on "anywhere from a half dozen to a dozen items."

Contract Still Unsigned.

Northern operators have agreed to terms of a contract, yet unsigned, providing a $7 a day wage, an increase of $1. Southern mines are operating under a tentative agreement providing $6.60 a day—a $1 increase—but operators balked at the $7 figure, saying elimination of the 40-cent north-south differential as demanded by Lewis was unbearable.

Today Lewis contended that southern operators had raised prices of coal more than enough to pay the wage increase, had advanced merchandise prices in company stores and had increased miners' house rest.

AIR MECHANICS' TRAINING VIEWED BY A. OF C. GROUP

Members of the Illinois committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce went to Rantoul yesterday to see how the army is applying mass production methods in the training of mechanics at Chanute field for its fast expanding air force.

The trip was one of a series of good will visits the committee makes each year to points in Chicagoland. The party traveled on the Illinois Central railroad's new coach car which is powered by a Diesel engine using a liquid coupling drive similar to that of automobiles.

The group, headed by its chairman, Stewart Cushman, saw thousands of young soldiers in training for positions which will give them the responsibility of keeping engines and planes of the air force in first class condition. About 17,000 men are at Chanute field.

DENIES INSULL SUIT WAS ENDED BY BANK CASES

Counsel for Sam Howard, trustee of the defunct Corporation Securities company, argued yesterday before Judge Peter H. Schwaba in Superior court that a settlement with Chicago and New York banks in 1938 did not discharge the suit seeking $12,877,000 from officers and directors of the bankrupt Insull investment trust and from Halsey, Stuart & Co. The case was continued to May 27.

Carroll J. Lord, representing Howard, contended that the two cases are entirely separate suits, and that recovery is sought for different wrongs. Attorney Floyd E. Thompson, representing the defendants, had sought dismissal of this and a similar suit earlier in the week on the grounds that the bank settlement released other parties.

FORD DISCLOSES PAY INCREASES OF 13 MILLIONS

CIO Disputes Rival's Part in Boosts.

Detroit, Mich., May 16 [Special].—Wage increases totaling $13,682,432 have been made to 53,024 workers at Ford Motor company plants since Jan. 1, Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, announced tonight. Half of the increases have been made in the last three weeks. Rate increases ranged from 5 to 15 cents an hour, Bennett said.

"The wages of the Ford workers have been made the highest in the automobile industry," he said, "despite the 10 cents and hour increase to be paid to General Motors workers as the result of negotiations concluded last night."

Bennett credited John Murphy and West King, representatives of the United Automobile Workers [AFL] with having been instrumental in obtaining many of the pay raises. They were said to have obtained 1,000 increases in two departments in the last two days.

Both Factions on Ballot.

Both AFL and CIO factions of the United Automobile Workers will appear on ballots to be voted next Wednesday at the Ford plants in a national labor relations board election. The vote is on petition of the CIO branch, which claims a majority of the 85,000 workers in the Ford Rouge plant.

Michael F. Widman, director of the UAW [CIO] Ford organizing campaign said in commenting on Bennett's announcement:

"Thousands of workers in the Rouge plant received wage increases in their pay envelopes this week as the result of UAW [CIO] negotiations with the Ford Motor Company on wiping out wage differentials among men doing the same work. The increases ranged from 5 to 30 cents an hour.

Basic Union Demand.

"This has been a UAW [CIO] demand since the beginning of the campaign. In a discussion [at a conference following the strike called by the union which closed the Ford plant from April 1 to April 11] the company agreed with union officials that it would make such wage adjustments where the union could show that unjustified differentials existed. Subsequent negotiations resulted in the wage increases this week.

"Bennett's statement that the increases are the result of negotiations with the AFL is a futile attempt by the company to throw votes to the AFL in the plant election next Wednesday. The Ford workers themselves know that the union which won 50 million dollars in wage increases for General Motors workers is the union that won increases for them. That union is the UAW [CIO]."

Below G. M., Claim.

Widman claimed that Ford wages are still substantially below General Motors [as increased] and Chrysler, and said the union would ask a general increase of 10 cents an hour at Ford plants "as soon as it has been certified as sole collective bargaining agent."

Bennett said that no one individual or group was responsible for the wage increases.

"Individuals, speaking for themselves have been albe to negotiate increases if they were justified," he said. "Regardless of who may have brought it to my attention, wherever we were shown there were men not receiving as high pay as they should be, the increases were granted."

SMITTY—THE PAYOFF

STOCK LEADERS GAIN SLIGHTLY; CLOSE IS MIXED

Steels and Motors Make Best Showings.

New York, May 16 (AP).—Despite continued apprehension over the war and labor rifts, numerous stock market leaders emerged with fractional gains today.

The comeback lacked stamina, however, and declines outnumbered advances. The principal reason given for the half-hearted rally was that yesterday's selling may have been overdone, even with all the depressing news taken into account.

Steels, rails, motors, coppers, oils, and industrial specialties displayed mild rising inclinations at the start. Few, tho, ever got up as much as a point.

Index Rises Slightly.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks edged forward .1 of a point to 39.5 after Thursday's relapse of .5. Transfers of 287,060 shares compared with 495,990 the day before and were the lowest for a 5 hour session since March 5.

Restraining factors persisted in the apparent move of France for "collaboration" with the Germans, and union deadlocks in coal, shipping, and other fields.

General Motors was up ⅜ at 37¾ on the settlement of this company's labor dispute. Chrysler was up ½.

Good business items, including another jump in retail and department store spending, seemingly had scant effect on trends.

MIDLAND STILL RISING.

In the face of a declining market, the 7 and 6 per cent prior lien stocks of the Midland Utilities company rose to new 1941 highs for the fourth consecutive day on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. They both touched 12, but the 6 per cent closed at 11, off ffi, and the 7 per cent at 11½, up ¼. The 7 and 6 per cent A also advanced, finishing at ⅝, up ¼, and ½, up ffi, respectively.

Miller and Hart convertible preferred also set a high at 15, up ¾. Total transfers on the exchange were 16,000 shares. Commonwealth Edison gained ¼ and Consolidated Oil ffi to 25⅝ and 6, respectively, from the New York close during the trading from 2 to 2:30 o'clock.

STORAGE OF OIL UNDERGROUND IN EAST ADVOCATED

Boston, Mass., May 16 (AP).—Underground storage of fuel oil and aviation gasoline along the Atlantic coast was urged today by Dr. Edward Ray Weidlein, director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research at Pittsburgh, Pa., and chief of the chemical section of the Office of Production Management.

Addressing a chamber of commerce luncheon, Dr. Weidlein said that the army and navy had been advised to build up substantial reserve stocks, particularly on the east coast, "where there is much less fuel oil available for emergency demand than on the Pacific coast."

Dr. Weidlein said the government was considering the establishment of a commercial plant to produce one-tenth to one-fifth of the nation's rubber requirements, with the cost of production probably not much above the present crude rubber price.

Middle West Corp. Seeks to Buy Stock from British

The Middle West corporation has asked the Securities and Exchange commission for authority to purchase from T. J. Carlyle Gifford, agent for the British treasury, about 5,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock of American Public Service company and 7,000 shares of the $6 preferred of Central Illinois Public Service company, officials said yesterday.

HILLMAN TERMS CHICAGO LABOR SUPPLIES AMPLE

Talks to Representatives of Industrial Firms.

Chicago has no real labor shortages, Sidney Hillman, associate director general of the Office of Production Management, declared yesterday after conferences with heads of various federal and local agencies and with fifty representatives of industry. The meetings were held in the Merchandise Mart.

"We are sufficiently well organized in this vicinity to supply labor if additional contracts are awarded to Chicago companies," he asserted. "However, we must be prepared to supply men for such large operations as the new Buick and Studebaker plants and the ordnance works at Wilmington."

Meets Labor Leaders Today.

Hillman spent his second day in Chicago conducting a personal survey of production facilities and the training of skilled labor. This morning he will meet with officials of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations in the OPM offices in the Merchandise Mart. He and his staff will fly back to Washington in the afternoon.

Hillman said that the National Youth administration, the board of vocational education, the Chicago board of education, and other agencies are engaged in training men for the armament industries and are coöperating with the placement division of the Illinois state employment office.

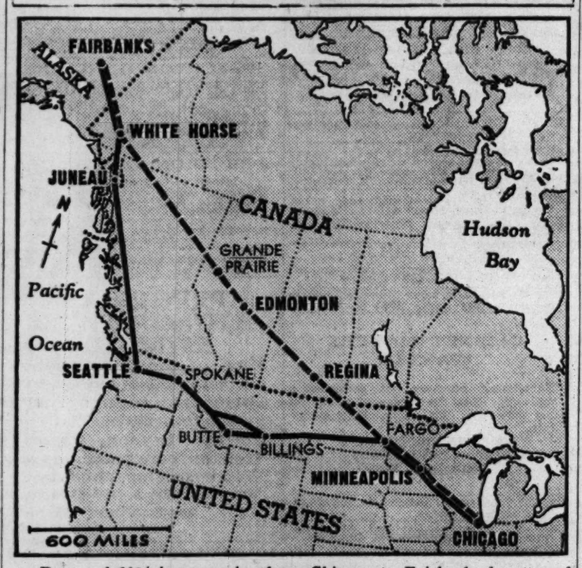
He said skilled workers will be moved to places in industry where they are needed and newly trained workers will replace them. He emphasized, however, that the OPM desires to reduce the geographical shifting of labor to a minimum.

Seek to Avoid Labor Shifts.

"We are trying to spread contracts thruout the country so that there need not be a large movement of labor to any one point," he said. "If too many contracts are let in one area, obviously there will have to be a mass movement of skilled labor to that area, which is what we aim to prevent."

In describing the accomplishments of the state placement service, Martin Durkin, Illinois labor director, who attended the conferences, said that more than one-half of the building construction workers in Chicago have been found jobs in other parts of the country, where they were needed.

Air Lines Speed Chicago-Alaska Service



Route of 23½ hour service from Chicago to Fairbanks by way of Seattle (solid line) and proposed shorter connection (dotted line). The service, thru Seattle, has just gone into effect. The trip formerly required nearly 56 hours.

Faster and Oftener

Faster and more frequent air line service from Chicago to Fairbanks, Alaska, enabling passengers to make the 3,518 mile trip in 23½ hours, is available four days a week under a new schedule announced yesterday by Northwest Airlines, Inc., and Pan American Airways corporation.

The fastest service previously available for passengers [temporarily discontinued last October] was 55 hours and 45 minutes, and connections from Seattle, Wash., on to Fairbanks had been available only twice a week.

Northwest Airlines flights connecting with Pan American at Seattle leave Chicago at 10:25 p. m. daylight time each Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

Adoption of land planes for the Seattle-Fairbanks route facilitates coördination of the schedules of the two airlines, Northwest officials said. The planes now connect at the same Seattle airport. Pan American formerly used flying boats. Return service from Fairbanks to Seattle and Chicago is available each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Northwest Airlines has pending before the Civil Aeronautics board a proposal to establish a shorter route from Chicago to Fairbanks. The planned route would be 2,900 miles long.

CHICAGO'S FALL MARKET OPENER SET FOR JULY 28

The two week period July 28 to August 9, was designated yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce as the time for Chicago's annual fall market opening. The Interstate Merchants Council will hold its 40th annual convention during the second week.

The association said approximately 20 trade shows and merchandise exhibits will be held during the event. More than 3,000 manufacturers and wholesale distributors are expected to participate.

"What this means to Chicago may be found in the experience of the fall market opening a year ago," Lawrence H. Whiting, chairman of the Association's domestic commerce committee observed. "Well over a thousand Loop hotel rooms were used for display purposes and more than 18,000 buyers from all sections of the country came to Chicago to purchase their fall and winter merchandise."

N. Y. Exchange Considers Increase in Broker Fees

CARRIER LOANS RALLY, BUT MOST BONDS STILL LAG

New York, May 16 (AP).—Independent rallying tendencies were shown by rail loans and a scattering of miscellaneous issues today but the general bond list continued to lag.

Carrier liens swung out of the reactionary course followed in recent sessions as new buying assumed fair breadth. Worries over demands by railroad labor receded and the encouraging prospects for further expansion in rail revenues again held major interest.

For the unresponsive action of the market as a whole the gloomy foreign news seemed to offer the most logical explanation. This was cited particularly in connection with a moderate selloff in United States government issues in the over the counter market. The long term treasuries dipped around ¼ of a point.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .98⅝	$ .98⅛	$ .84⅛
Corn	.73	.72⅛	.61
Oats	.36⅛	.36	.34
Rye	.88⅛	.88¾	.48¾
Soy beans	1.33¼	1.30¾	.93⅛

Bearish influences attracted little attention from grain traders yesterday and, altho pit operations were somewhat restricted, the markets showed a firm undertone on the Chicago Board of Trade.

A general belief that President Roosevelt will sign the 85 per cent of parity loan bill maintained support in the wheat market. Prices held within a range of about 1¼ cents and closed ¾ to ⅞ cent higher. Mills bought actively.

No Cash Corn Offered.

Corn finished ⅝ to ½ cent higher. There were no offers of cash grain for deferred shipment from the country for the first time in several weeks. Oats closed ¼ cent lower to ⅝ cent higher and rye was ¼ to ½ cent higher.

Announcement of increased margin requirements for soy beans had no effect on that commodity. Closing trades showed gains of 1⅛ to 2½ cents, the latter on July. A canvass of commission houses showed that they had been demanding margins of 15 to 22 cents a bushel on speculative trades in soy beans for some days past, so that the official action in establishing a minimum of 15 cents fell flat as a market factor.

Lard showed a firm undertone and active deliveries closed 2½ to 5 cents higher. Firmness in hogs and cotton seed oil were the main influences.

Farmers Selling Wheat.

Large quantities of farmer owned wheat have come to the market in the last few days as the result of the rapid upturn in the price of futures. Crop reports from the southwest continue very favorable, altho harvesting is not expected to start in southeastern Kansas until about the middle of June.

Delivery notices on 290,000 bushels of corn; 148,000 bushels of rye, and 185,000 bushels of soy beans were made on May contracts on the Board of Trade yesterday. It was the first tender of corn so far this month.

URGES SMALLER MILLS TO ADOPT ENRICHED FLOUR

Evansville Man Calls It Big Opportunity.

Making enriched flour available to consumers by the family miller is the only phase remaining to make complete the enrichment program, Ralph Missman, president of the Sunnyside Milling company, Evansville, Ind., said yesterday. He spoke at the closing session of the 39th annual convention of the Millers' National federation in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

He said that the government has set up standards for flour carrying added vitamins and minerals, that the commercial baker is offering enriched bread, and that the export and bakery mills several weeks ago started enriching all their flour.

Warns Millers to Act.

Explaining that concentrates of vitamins and minerals are now available to the miller which he can add to his white flour in easily weighed proportions, Missman warned that the small family miller must make this enriched flour available quickly or he may lose the biggest opportunity in history to help his business.

"If this program with the help of the government agencies, the medical associations, and the food nutritionists increases the consumption of flour only 15 per cent [and I believe that most conservative] think what it will do to this industry, to say nothing of benefits to the wheat farmer, the elevator man, and to the public generally," he said.

Herman Fakler, vice president of the federation in charge of the Washington office, told the millers that because of the overwhelming vote by which the crop loan bill setting loans at 85 per cent of parity was just passed by congress, a presidential veto probably would be futile.

Explains Quota Program.

He explained the rôle of the millers in purchasing wheat, in the event that the marketing quota program is accepted by the farmers in the national referendum on May 31. It would be the millers' task he said, to see that the penalties are paid by noncoöperating farmers and turned over to the secretary of agriculture.

COUNTY DEALERS REPORT SMALLER USED CAR SUPPLY

Cook county dealers in used automobiles had a 35.7 day supply on hand May 1, the Chicago Automobile Trade association reported yesterday. A month earlier the supply was larger, being estimated at 41 days' requirements. On May 1, 1940, a 38.6 day supply was reported.

Dealers reporting to the Chicago association sold 11,319 used automobiles in April, and still had 13,470 on hand May 1. Late model cars were in the largest supply, dealers having enough one year old machines to fill an estimated 44 days' needs, the association said.

April Rubber Use Sets New Peak of 71,374 Tons

New York, May 16 [Special].—Manufacturers consumed a new record of 71,374 tons of crude rubber during April, the Rubber Manufacturers association reported today. The figures compared with 69,024 tons consumed in March or an increase of 3.4 per cent. Compared with April, 1940, the increase was 36.3 per cent. Imports in April amounted to 63,305 tons, a decrease of 23,818 tons or 27.3 per cent compared with March, the report said.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The hog market maintained recent price gains yesterday, despite larger receipts and a break of 50 cents in the price of top lights and loins. Both the top and average prices, at $9.20 and $9 a hundred pounds, were unchanged at the highest level since July, 1938.

REVOKE BOOST IN DRAM SHOP INSURANCE RATE

Underwriters handling dram shop insurance at Lloyd's of London announced yesterday thru their Chicago attorneys, Lord, Bissell and Kadyk, that a 25 per cent increase in basic rates in effect since Jan. 20 on policies written in Illinois has been revoked.

The English underwriters are represented in the state by more than 20 agents. The increased rates had been adopted because claims under dram shop policies had exceeded the amount expected when the rates were first set after repeal of prohibition. The revocation was caused by a decline in the writing of dram shop policies, it was explained.

Dram shop insurance covers the risks of tavernkeepers and those who lease property to them. The Illinois dram shop act makes the property owners as well as tavernkeepers liable for injuries or deaths resulting from effects of intoxicating liquors sold on the premises.

NEW FIRM BUYS PUMICE MILL AND LEASES DEPOSITS

The Pumice Corporation of America has purchased from the Barnsdall Oil company a pumice mill at Grants, N. M., and has leased from the company nearby pumice deposits which will supply the mill with raw materials, it was announced yesterday by Carlton M. Higbie, president of the McAleer Manufacturing company, at Detroit.

The new pumice company is owned jointly by McAleer, maker of polishing and cleaning materials, and Whittaker, Clark & Daniels, Inc., New York City, manufacturer of minerals, colors and pigments. The announcement stated that most fine pumice had been obtained previously from Lipari, an Italian island, but this supply has been cut off by the war.

The American company will attempt to supply domestic requirements of pumice. Higbie said pumice is used in the soap, automobile, oil, and aviation fuel industries.
